Comet...World's 100,000-Mile Durability Champion
At Daytona, a team of four specially equipped '64 Comets each traveled day and night 100,000 miles at over 105 miles per hour—an unequaled feat of stamina and durability.
In Africa, Comet showed its stamina again in "the wildest ride on earth"—the monsoon-swept East African Safari Rally. 94 cars started. Only 21 finished the run—two of them were Comets.
Route of the "wildest ride on earth"—3,188 miles through the heart of Africa.
Leads the sales success parade!
Is it any surprise that Comet sales are up to almost double last year's? Comet proves what it can do. After 100,000 miles at Daytona, one of these special Comets has traveled another 31,000 and is still going strong. Then rally-equipped Comets slogged through 3,188 miles of African mud, rocks and jungle—the first to carry America's colors in the world's toughest car event. Want more reasons? Just take a look at this new Comet. Husky, racy, beautiful, and built, really built. Make tracks for a Comet at your Mercury dealer's.

THIEF RIVER FALLS TIMES

Volume Fifty-three | Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota | Wednesday, April 22, 1964 | Number Thirty-three

1963 Traffic Mishaps in State Are Analyzed

During the calendar year 1963, there were 73,567 motor vehicle accidents reported to Minnesota's commissioner of highways. While this shows an apparent decrease of five per cent from the previous year, "it ain't necessarily so." Prior to April 1, 1963, Minnesota drivers were required to report all motor vehicle accidents which had a total property damage of $50 or over, a personal injury or a fatality. However, the 1963 legislature amended the act to require reporting only those property damage accidents with a total of $100 or more.

The highway department points out that the five per cent reduction in the total probably applies only to reportable property damage accidents, since other categories showed sizable increases.

The number of fatal accidents increased from 579 in 1962 to 653 in 1963, a 13 per cent increase. There was an increase of ten per cent in personal injury accidents, an increase from 22,505 the previous year to 24,864 during 1963. In these, 41,127 persons suffered injuries ranging from minor to very severe.

In one out of every three motor vehicle accidents last year one or more persons was injured. For every 92 accidents there was a fatality in 1963, compared to one in every 112 in 1962.

Minnesota traffic laws require every driver who is involved in an accident resulting in $100 total property damage, personal injury or fatality to file a report with the Commissioner of Highways. These reports are used for statistical purposes within the department for engineering, enforcement and education purposes. In addition, police officers also file reports on those accidents they attend. Forms for reporting are available from any Highway Patrol Officer, highway department office or licensing station.

Regional Funeral Directors Group Meets at Fertile

Glenn Houske of Crookston president of District Ten of the Minnesota Funeral Directors Assn., presided at a semiannual district meeting Tuesday night at the Top Notch of Fertile.

Principal speakers were F. Philip Iacovina, executive secretary of the state association, and Eugene Larson, from the Minnesota department of health, supervisor of mortuary science and secretary of the examining committee.

Representing Thief River Falls at the meeting were Sig Sinding and Orin Green.

Public Opinion

Editor
Thief River Falls Times
Thief River Falls, Minnesota
Dear Mr. Editor:

Your April 15th editorial first commends and then condemns REA financed rural electrification. I do not know the source of your information on this issue, but I suspect that it originates in the canned press releases periodically distributed to the nation's editors by the big city power companies. I am just sorry you did not have an opportunity to view the other side of the coin before forming your opinion. However, I am afraid the rural electric cooperatives have only themselves to blame for this. In our complacency we have assumed that the worth of our work speaks for itself. In any event, I would very much appreciate the opportunity to present our side of the story to your readers by means of this letter.

Taking your points up one by one, you first state that the task of REA, the lending agency of the federal government that loans funds at 2 per cent to utilities engaged in rural electrification, is "virtually completed," and that it has "liberalized its lending policies and is expanding into urban areas." What you say about the task being completed is partially true at this stage of history. That you apparently are not aware of is that at this moment the lending program of REA and indeed the entire question of future capital sources for cooperative electrification is under intensive study by both REA and the cooperatives themselves.

We are, as I see it, in a period of transition that will eventually result in a combination of government backed credit at a higher interest rate and direct private financing. However, you should understand that this must be a gradual change since not all REA borrowers are equal in financial strength and potential. In some of our western states where farmers are over a mile apart, 2 per cent REA loans will be needed longer. In some of our eastern states where farms are close together, cooperatives are already financing themselves without resort to REA loan funds.

As to the statement that REA has "liberalized its lending policies and is expanding into urban areas," this is simply not true. I can assure you from personal experience that getting an REA loan today is not the automatic thing it was a few years ago. A loan is forthcoming now only if a cooperative fails to meet certain tests of financial strength. Also, cooperatives are not expanding into urban areas. Rather, the reverse is true. Power companies are expanding into rural areas traditionally served by the cooperatives. This, of course, is the result of expanding urbanization.

Your implication is that in this situation the cooperatives should, like the proberbial Arab, silently fold up their tents and melt away so that the power companies can take over that portion of their territories that have now become financially succulent. We refuse to go on this diet of death. One must recognize that the rendering of electric, gas and telephone service is a natural monopoly type of operation and is not the free swinging, good old American competitive enterprise that you picture it to be.

This being the case, it seems to me the proper approach to this matter of territorial conflict is for both the power companies and the cooperatives to recognize their mutual need for the right to grow by establishing reasonable boundaries that will permit this. We have been successful in this in our own area and it is working out well. Unfortunately, in the nation as a whole this is largely not true.

I would also like to correct your impression that REA loan funds are being used to finance cooperative expansion into urban areas. Since its very inception back in 1935, the REA Loan Act specifically prohibits this.

Turning now to your statement that most REA customers are now nonfarm and that, "This expansion is being done to the detriment of tax-paying private power companies business firms which operate at top efficiency and contribute much to local, state and federal governments through the taxes they pay." Just how big are rural electric cooperatives? On a national basis they generate only 1 per cent of the power—serve only 8 per cent of the consumers—sell only 4 per cent of the power. But these same rural electric systems have built and operate 54 per cent of all the distribution lines in the nation. Stated another way, the urban electric systems sell 96 per cent of the nation's power, but to do this have only been required to build and operate 44 per cent of its distribution lines. These statistics provide an indication of why state legislatures and the U. S. Congress have granted interest and tax concessions to the rural electric systems. It is just simply a matter of providing equalizers so that rural consumers can have abundant power at reasonable rates on the same basis as their city cousins.

In connection with that portion of the quoted statement that deals with taxes, I am somewhat mystified by a logic that thinks it is wrong for sparsely populated, farmer-owned electric systems to pay less taxes than city power companies, and yet somehow through omission of the telling thinks it right that thickly populated, citizen-owned municipal electric systems should pay no taxes at all.

I refer to the fact that the people of your town own and operate their own electric system, liquor system, and I understand a projected gas system. The truth is municipally owned utilities contribute not one dime's worth of taxes in support of local school districts, counties, states or the federal government. Also, although it is true that farmer-owned electric systems enjoy the privilege of borrowing money at 2 per cent, municipally owned electric systems also have available to them loan funds at below market cost since the interest return of those who invest in municipal utility revenue bonds is tax exempt.

This is not intended as an indictment of the municipal type of operation. In fact, I think in many cases it is the only sensible approach. However, in order that your readers may form their opinion on a somewhat broader basis, I believe it important that they be reminded of these facts.

In conclusion, I wish to thank you for offering me the privilege to express my opinions.

Yours Sincerely,
Robert Graham, Manager

WORKING

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Every gardener knows human ingenuity cannot be substituted for the miracle of growth. God's secret is God's!

But he knows, too, that wild growth means wilderness. Only cultivation makes a garden.

So he works with God. And the result is beauty, fruitfulness, abundance.

What the man with the green thumb practices in his back yard, the Church inspires across the whole expanse of human effort . . . the cultivation of souls . . . the realization of our spiritual potential. Working with God!

What do YOU think life is meant to be?

Buick has a great transmission.

An automobile transmission, we grant you, isn't the most soul-stirring subject on earth. Nothing to look at either.

But if you'd like for your next new car to give you a better break on performance and gasoline mileage, something happened last week to be your guide.

The Los Angeles to New York Mobil Economy Run proved one thing for sure. There's quite a difference in the transmissions of new cars.

Three out of four for Buick

The long-time champion in the transmission league—Buick—walked off with the 1964 economy pennant. No other single make of car won as many events as Buick. Four entries, three winners.

The winning Special carried the new Super Turbine 300 automatic transmission; the LeSabre was equipped with the Super Turbine 400 (both optional at extra cost). They're the latest in a long line of Buick transmissions well known for their smoothness and absence of "shift feel". The Super Turbine is a refined and improved torque converter type to help you safely pass cars and trucks as well as gas stations.

You'll hear a lot about it in the next couple of years as this modern kind of transmission is adopted by more and more car builders.

What about engines?

Of course, an efficient transmission gets more efficient when teamed up with a lean, agile engine. The winning Buick power plants were our new V-6 and V-8. The 300 cubic inch V-8 in the winning Buick Special (the lowest priced of all Buicks) and the Buick LeSabre (the lowest priced big Buick) is like a well-conditioned fighter. All muscle, no fat. Weighs in at far less than other V-8's of similar punch. It took every other V-8 in the Economy Run.

Your type of driving—regular gas

The Run was through cities and towns, across super highways, in traffic, out of traffic. This was not race track driving or proving ground driving. This was your kind of driving—even though you can't expect to get as good mileage as these expert drivers in their finely tuned production cars. The distance was 3,243 miles, about what most families log in four months. All three Buicks used regular gas.

So the Economy Run is not just a cross country tour for the Mobil people and a few car buffs. It's a reliable test of a car's power team and what it's able to squeeze out of its fuel.

We don't expect everybody to rush out this week-end to buy a new Buick just because we won a few economy trophies. There are so many other good reasons for leaning to Buick that economy usually gets second billing. There's styling, naturally. An unusually great ride. Extraordinary engineering and workmanship. And very young performance. Small wonder Buick sales are running at 11.5% over last year.

But it's nice to get economy as a plus in a Buick. Beyond the dollars saved on gasoline, there's a certain pride in knowing you have a car that's built to get the most out of every tank of gasoline.

Five Injured In 2 Mishaps Sunday, Today

All Hospitalized at Local Hospital; Two Others Are Released

Five Thief River Falls area residents are hospitalized today as a result of traffic accidents early Sunday and Monday mornings. Two cars were involved in the Sunday morning accident about 4½ miles south of Thief River Falls on highway 32. A single car was involved in the second mishap early this morning just north of the city near the Soo Line roundhouse.

In the first accident, which occurred about 3:30 a. m. Sunday, a car owned by Stuart Sweet and driven by Gloria Haugen, both of St. Hilaire, was traveling south on highway 32 when struck from the rear by a car driven by Richard Hawk, rt. 4, Thief River Falls. The Sweet car rolled in the west ditch, coming to rest on its wheels and facing in a northerly direction. The Hawk car left the highway on the east side, coming to rest on its left side facing northeast.

According to the Pennington county sheriff's department, passengers in the Sweet car were Mrs. Ward Brink, St. Hilaire, and Joyce and Emily Lokken of rural Thief River Falls. Emily Lokken, who was pinned beneath the car in which she was riding, received a fractured clavacle. Joyce Lokken received possible fractured vertobrae, Mrs. Brink suffered a concussion and Hawk suffered a fractured jaw. All are listed in good condition. Gloria Haugen was treated and released.

LuAnn Strandberg Bride of Charles Chaplinski

Married here at St. Bernard's Catholic church on April 4 were LuAnn Strandberg and Charles Chaplinski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albin Chaplinski of Middle River. Miss Strandberg is the daughter of Mrs. Anna Strandberg of Newfolden and the late Charles Strandberg.

Easter lilies, pink potted flowers, and floor baskets of white and pink mums provided the setting.

Given in marriage by her brother, Midell Strandberg, the bride appeared in a white floor-length gown of Chantilly lace over taffeta. The bouffant skirt featured three layers of lace, and the fitted, sequin-studded lace bodice was designed with sweetheart neckline and tapered long sleeves. The finertip veil of illusion was held by a pearl crown. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and pink sweetheart roses with trailing ivy. Her white rosary was a gift from the groom.

Mary Eggert of St. Paul was matron of honor and Audrey Leader of Minneapolis served as bridesmaid. Their identical gowns were fashioned with street-length skirts of pink chiffon over taffeta, and lace jackets laced with metallic thread. Pink roses secured their scalloped veils of pink net. They wore pearl earrings, a gift from the birde, and each carried pink carnations, sweetheart roses and ivy.

Attending the groom as best man was Albin Chaplinski Jr. and Mike Chaplinski, his brother, of Middle River. Bob Johnson of Minneapolis and Jerry Babcock of Osseo ushered the guests. The men of the party wore black tuxedos with black bow ties and boutonnieres of white carnations.

Rita Rantenan, a niece of the bride, was the flower girl. Her dress was like those worn by the bridesmaids. The white lace basket which she carried held pink rose petals which she dropped in the aisle. LeMae Rantanen, the bride's nephew, carried the rings. He wore a black tuxedo, and a white carnation boutonniere.

The bride's mother wore a black and white print dress with white accessories and the groom's mother accessorized her aqua brocade suit with white also. Both wore corsages of pink carnations and white mums.

A reception held in the church parlors following the ceremony was catered by the St. Joseph Guild of Middle River and attended by 120 guests. Topping the three-tiered wedding cake was a large wedding bell on a heart shaped base, and with a pearl heart-shaped background. The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Allen Tjolson of Roseau, while Mrs. Frank Stanina of Pengilly, aunt of the groom, and Mrs. Edwin Engen, sister of the bride, poured.

Guests were registered by Opal Magner of Newfolden, and the gifts arranged by Mrs. Bernard Tobery of Minneapolis and Mrs. Martin Rantenan of Middle River, sisters of the bride. Carolyn Stanina of Osseo served the punch. Waitresses at the bridal table were Miss Janet Stanina and Miss Marie Stanina, cousins of the groom. The were given white aprons as gifts, and the others assisting received corsages.

Guests attended from Minneapolis, Osseo, Crookston, St. Paul, Isanti, Roseau, Warren, Red Lake Falls, Baudette, Pengilly, Bagley, Gatzke, Newfolden, Middle River and Thief River Falls, all in Minnesota, and from Grand Froks, N.D.

Sunderland-Kempel Vows Said at Milton, N.D., Mar. 28

Miss Kay Sunderland of this city became the bride of James Kempel, also of Thief River Falls, at a double-ring ceremony read at the Presbyterian Church in Milton, N. D. on March 28 at 2:30 p.m. before Rev. E. D. McGinnis Jr. Miss Sunderland is the daughter of the R. D. Sunderlands of Milton, N.D. and the groom is the son of the Jake Kempels of this city.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a floor-length gown of peau de soie and imported re-embroidered Chantilly lace, designed with a bell-shaped skirt sweeping into a chapel train. The bodice featured rhinestone and pearl adornment. Her veil was caught to a rhinestone-studded tiara. She carried a bouquet of white roses centered by an orchid.

Matron of honor was Mrs. George Korf, Walhalla, N.D., and the other attendant was Mrs. Don Sunderland, the bride's sister-in-law. Their bell-shaped dresses, in street length, were of pink cotton satin, and their headpieces were of pink net. They wore white gloves. Nosegay bouquets were of pink glamelias and sweetheart roses.

Bob Nelson of Thief River Falls attended the groom as best man and David Sunderland, Milton, was groomsman. Ushering the guests were Tom Sunderland, Milton, and Laurie McMerly of Fargo, N. D. Men of the party were attired in dark trousers and white dinner jackets and wore pink carnation boutonnieres.

A reception in the community hall followed the service, with about 150 guests attending, among them Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Rongen of this city. C. W. Sunderland, Milton, and Mrs. Winifred Stewart, Langdon, uncle and aunt of the bride, were host and hostess. The reception table was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake baked by the birde's mother and decorated by Mrs. C. W. Sunderland, who also cut and served it, with Mrs. Elmo Thom assisting. The Milton Presbyterian Ladies Aid was in charge of the reception.

The bride's travel costume, for their wedding trip, was a light blue wood dress with black accessories and a white wool coat with the orchid corsage from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Kempel is a teacher of music in the grade schools here, and graduated from Milton high school and the UND. The groom graduated from the State School of Science at Wahpeton, N. D. He is employed with Bridgeman Creameries here. Their address is 1221 N. Knight av.

AT HOME in Thief River Falls are Mr. and Mrs. James Kempel (nee Kay Sunderland) who were married March 28 at Milton, N. D. Parents of the couples are Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Sunderland of Milton and Mr. and Mrs. Jake Kempel of this city.

Golden Years Group Feted At Party on Tuesday

Golden Years members of Trinity Lutheran church were honored guests at a 12:30 luncheon served in the church parlors on Tuesday, April 21. The guests numbered about 60. Faith and Rebecca circles were hostesses for the occasion.

The tables were decorated in festive fashion, with spring flowers lending a colorful note, and a rose at each place. The roses were later given to each of the guests as a take-home gift.

Rev. Reuben Wangberg led devotions following the luncheon, and a program was presented. Several vocal trios supplied sacred numbers, the first comprised of Mrs. Bryant Ulseth, Mrs. Julius Borchert, and Mrs. William Penning; and the second featuring Mrs. Clayton Angell, Mrs. Donald M. Olson, and Mrs. Richard Edlund. Piano accompaniment for the vocal solo by Mrs. Willard Hafdal, and for the trio selections, was provided by Mrs. Harold Peterson, wife of the assistant pastor at Trinity. She also played several piano duets with Mrs. Carl Nordval. There was hymn singing by the entire group, and acknowledgement of those having April birthdays, with the birthday song presented by the remainder of the group.

Rides were provided for all members requesting them.

Installation of officers of the Women's Catholic Order of Foresters was held on Tuesday night, April 21, at the social rooms of St. Bernard's Catholic church. Elayne Pahlen, outgoing chief ranger, presided as installing officer.

Installed as the new chief ranger was Miss Christine Giefer. Marcelline Grundahus assumed the office of vice-chief ranger. Angeline Breznay was re-installed as financial secretary and Delores Wengeler as treasurer. Caroline Bedard is the new recording secretary. Conductress and sentinel will be appointed by the chief ranger.

Gifts were bestowed upon the outgoing chief ranger and outgoing vice chief ranger, Mrs. Pahlen and Mrs. Doris Goulet, respectively. In charge of entertainment was Mrs. Zenda Conners. She presented Kathy Protz in a piano solo. Miss Protz also gave a highly amusing reading, and another reading, "Old Ironsides" was given by Susan Kleinvachter.

Louise Dorn, Elayne Pahlen, Zenda Conners and Leona Broeker were in charge of serving refreshments after the meeting. A pink and peach color theme prevailed in the decor and in the refreshments served. The table was centered with a floral arrangement carrying out the same color scheme.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the Kitchen of

MRS. CURTIS SWANSON

Bars with the "have another" goodness of the well-known candy bar of the same name, these go better than cake for most occasions and in addition, they keep better...as if that would be a problem with these...they wouldn't last that long! They freeze so well, too. Anyone who likes coconut, and that includes the majority of us, I'm sure, will revel in the chewy goodness and rich tropical flavor. For those who also like peppermint, the mint chocolate chips are just the answer.

MOUND BARS

First layer:

2 cups crushed graham crackers
½ cup melted butter
½ cup sugar

Mix together and bake 10 minutes at 350 degrees in an 8 by 8 in. pan.

Second layer:

1 pkg. angel flake coconut
1 can sweetened condensed milk.

Mix, and spread over first layer and bake 15 minutes at 350 degrees. Remove from the oven and frost with a mixture of 1 pkg. chocolate chips and 1 tablespoon peanut butter, melted.

The Swansons are a farm family, and they are where they are because they love the peace and beauty of the countryside. Their farm is 2¼ miles north of the fairgrounds, which makes it private and quiet, Mrs. Swanson said, and yet close enough to town that they can drive there in a matter of minutes. Mrs. Swanson is a bookkeeper at the Thief River Co-op creamery. They have two children, a girl, Dawn, who is 13, and a boy, Wesley, nine. They have the advantage of growing up with their paternal grandparents, who live on the farm with them.

The Swansons attend Redeemer Lutheran Church, where our homemaker teaches Sunday school. She is also active in a curling club in winter and in summer they all enjoy driving about the area, and having picnics at home. Sewing is another of Mrs. Swanson's interests. She makes her own and her daughter's clothes. The children are members of the Steiner 4-H club.

The Library Corner

Spring has come to the library, too! The Friends of the Library decorations committee chairman, Mrs. Douglas Stewart, has provided decorations with blue birds flying and huge daisies growing and flowers blooming. It really is spring outside and in!

The ways and means committee of the Friends will be busier than usual in the next few weeks. "The Varsity Bards" also known as "The Governor's Chorus" will be in concert Tuesday, May 6. The all male chorus is directed by James T. Fudge. Their Thief River Falls appearence at the high school auditorium is sponsored by the Friends. Proceeds will be used by the orgaization to finance library projects. Tickets may be purchased at the library.

Those of you called upon to address a group about some subject (preferably the one you know most about) will be pleased at the newest addition in the 808 Department. "The Madison Avenue Speech Book", by Alan Koehler is a dandy. (Especially for people who are scared to make a speech and don't want to show it) Koehler is also the author of "The Madison Avenue Cook Book...for people who can't cook and don't want other people to know it!" This book on speech-making is interesting reading even if you have no plans for speech-making, ever!

Books revealing the life of our former president, John Kennedy, are still coming off the presses. Another new one, just received, uses the pictorial format. Photographer Mark Shaw is to be commended for his excellent lens work. The Kennedy group is shown in intimate photos that depict the warmth and happiness thay shared as a family.

The Best Sellers include "The Spy Who Came In From The Cold", "The Wapshot Scandal" "Convention", "The Martyred", "Reuben, Reuben" and "The Night in Lisbon." There are also "The Group", "The Night of the Generals" and "The Shores of the Fisherman." We have them all...check the ones you've read and come in and borrow the ones you haven't.

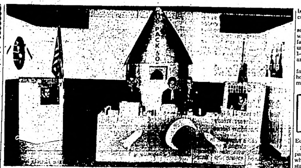
Non-fiction, for the week ending April 18, has "Diplomat Among Warriors" heading the list of best sellers. "Four Days," "A Day in the Life of President Kennedy" and "The Deputy" are also on it. "My Years With General Motors" and "When The Cheering Stopped" as well as "The Naked Society" and "Profiles in Courage" are all available through your library.

It seems impossible, doesn't it? A little cardboard square with a tiny metal tab (your library card) can give you so much pleasure, so much information...at no cost! What a bargain!

Come on in! Spend an hour (or a day). Enjoy your public library. Tell others how much pleasure you receive. Get the library habit; it is one you'll never have to break.

Fans of Vicki Baum will be anxious to read what some critics say is the best (and unfortunately will be the the last) work of the author. Miss Baum's "It Was All Quite Different", completed shortly before her death, is the story of her own life. She has spared few details. She has written it well, with all the honesty and candor she could muster. It reads like a novel, but it is all quite true. If you're not a Baum reader of the past, try this new one...you'll be asking for the previous works of the author, beginning with "Grand Hotel".

Many of our borrowers have been awaiting "Mrs. LBJ" so they can learn a little more about our gracious First Lady. The volume has arrived now, and the author, Ruth Montgomery does an admirable job picturing the gracious Lady Bird. The words make Mrs. Johnson seem more vivid and a bit more human than she has been thought of heretofore.



BLAST-OFF time was in the count-down stage when this photo was taken at the annual Boy Scout exposition Saturday at the Thief River Falls city auditorium. Cub Pack 60 at Trinity Lutheran church used the theme "Science Fair" for its booth and simulated a rocket firing as part of the audience interest aspect of the booth.

HAPPY HOMEMAKING

by Carolyn Offerdahl

PENNINGTON COUNTY HOME AGENT

Hi!

I was at the Deer Park 4-H meeting last week and have a song they made up that you 4-H members might like to use at your meetings. Thus I though I would pass it on to you.

The song "4-H Button" is sung to the tune of the "Yellow Rose of Texas".

Now upon his coat, he wears his 4-H button. He wears it in the winter and the summer so they say. And if you ask home why the four leaf clover, He says, "I'm in the 4-H and I'm in to stay." In to stay, In to stay—In to stay, In to stay, And he wears it baking cookies, mowing hay—HAY! So around the town he wears his 4-H button. He says, "I'm in the 4-H and I'm in to stay".

Now, here is something for you homemakers. Marshall county is holding two achievement days — one for the east and one for the west.

The west meeting is in the Argyle school on Tuesday evening, April 28, 8 p.m. For the speaker, they are having Mrs. Jere Paddock from the University of North Dakota. She will be speaking on her home country, Sweden, and her experiences as a housewife in this country.

The east meeting is at Steiner hall on Friday evening, May 1, 8 p.m. Marion Larson, who is on the 4-H staff at the University of Minnesota, will be speaking on her experiences in Alaska. Marion is from this area so you may wish to attend this one at Steiner hall. This is also your opportunity to see how another county runs its achievement days.

Here is a useful tip on measuring refrigerated shortening, which is hard to pack into a measuring cup.

If your recipe calls for ½ cup of solid fat, put one-half cup of cold water in a 1-cup measure. Add the fat, pushing it under the water until the water level stands at the 1-cup mark. Pour out the water, and you will have a helf-cup fat.

Some water amy cling to the fat, so it is best to use this method for pastries, which call for moisture.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor the Times:

I cannot understand how a newspaper which professes to print the whole truth can make such a statement as you made in your editorial of March 30 entitled "A Change in Tune." In that editorial you claimed that the Highway 35 investigation showed "that work on the project was in accordance with specifications."

Now I am looking at the report of the Office of Audits and Investigations of the Bureau of Public Roads, Department of Commerce, United States Government. I should be glad to furnish you with a copy if you desire. However, to summarize the report on 'alleged construction irrejularities, Minnesota Project I-035-6 (36) 186," there were five original allegations made by an employee of the Minnesota Department of Highways that there were irregularities in construction of a section of Highway 35. Four of the five allegations were listed as "substantiated." In addition, the investigation made after the original allegations turned up other deficiencies in the laying of asphalt cement, in record keeping, in project supervision, and in several other matters. Restitution was required of the contractor following this Federal report.

You have conveniently forgotten the results of this investigation, which were widely publicized in 1963. Now, as for the Baker investigation, I certainly have no objections to the courts' intervening in the Baker case or in any other case in which there is evidence of wrong doing. As for the investigation by the Senate Committee on Rules and Administration, the Committee studied this matter for five months and according to its charge is now required to come up with recommendations to the full Senate which will lead toward improvement in the ethical standards of practice of Senate employees, I am sure you would not want to be in a position of postponing the Committee's getting on with its major purpose — the improvement of the Senate.

I might also point out that when the original allegations were made on the Highway 35 scandal, the then Governor of Minnesota poohpoohed the allegations and refused to cooperate or cause his own department to investigate the charges.

In the Baker case, the Democratic Majority whose employee was Mr. Baker, fully cooperated and has participated in extensive and intensive investigation of the allegations made.

I request that you print this letter in your "Letters to Editor" column, in order that your readers may have an opportunity to see the other side of the questions which you raised on March 30.

Sincerely,
Hubert H. Humphrey

PAUL Brown, vocational agriculture instructor at Thief River Falls, will be the speaker at 7:30 p.m. tonight when the Middle River FFA chapter holds its annual banquet. "Opportunities for Rural Youth" will be the topic of his talk. About 100 people are expected to attend the banquet in the school cafeteria.

Trinity Men Meet Tuesday Evening

Trinity Lutheran Church Men will hold their monthly meeting on Tuesday, April 28 at 7:30 p.m. in the church parlors. Francis Hammerlinck will lead the Bible Study. Coffee will be served following the meeting. All men of the church are encouraged to attend.

McGinley Joins Nebraska Bank

John McGinley, an employee at Union State Bank in Thief River Falls for the past eight years and currently serving as assistant vice president, will be moving May 1 to Hastings, Neb., where he will become vice president of the First National bank. Both banks are members of the Northwest Bancorporation. McGinley's family will join him in Nebraska when housing arrangements have been completed.

Side Line Observations

BY BILL DAHLQUIST

Side Line Observations
By Bill Dahlquist

Morris Bye is retiring from the education business after serving as Superintendent of Schools in the Anoka school district over a period of 21 years. His previous experience in school administration dates back to 1923 when he was hired as principal of the high school here in Thief River Falls, and in 1926 he was advanced to the office of Superintendent, serving here in that capacity until he accepted the invitation extended to him by the Anoka school board.

A few weeks ago the Anoka community recognized his outstanding service with a community testimonial dinner, and the dinner pamphlet that contained the menu and the program. There also were some interesting facts about the Bye family, including a few quotations from a talk that had delivered dealing with "The Schools, the People and the Press."

Because I am sure there are many people in our community who remember and respect Mr. Bye, I am happy to pass along the following observations on a subject in which we all have a common interest.

"ON SCHOOLS: Schools are built by the people. They are owned by the people. They are for the children of the people. The people naturally have a vested interest in what these schools, that they have built and these schools that they own, these schools that they continue to support and operate for the benefit of their children, are doing.'

"ON PUBLIC INFORMATION: 'Minutes of the Board of Education ought to be as complete as possible. They should show definitely what action has been taken in some such form that it would be possible when they are published, for the people to read the minutes and understand what actually was done.'

"ON BOARD OF EDUCATION: 'The Board of Education has a responsibility in seeing that its actions are recorded completely so they are understandable to all those who read them in the newspaper and understandable to those who may look back years from now to find out what action had been taken with respect to this particular policy because this becomes important.'

"ON INFORMATION TO NEWSPAPERS: 'I have found that when we give the reporters full information so that they know our reasons for doing the things we are talking about, or the things that we have done, and we are not withholding anything from them, we can rely on them to use their very good judgment.'

"ON REPORTING A MEETING: 'Very often in reporting a meeting, in quoting an invidual and in discussing a proposition, there has to be a great sensitivity on the part of the reporter in making that quotation because so often that quotation is out of context and does not really show what that person actually thinks—surely not what he thinks after there has been mature discussion.'

"ON RESPONSIBILITY FOR INFORMATION: 'We have a responsibility to our school people so far as the School Board members, superintendent, and those of us who work in the schools, to give to newspapers full information, I am saying this not because you are entitled to receive it—you are—but I am saying this more from the point of view of a school man who is so certain that this is one of the most important things we can do by way of winning support for the school."

"ON NEWSPAPERS: 'They are a sort of biography of their own community. It is written every day or every week and is a continuing story of progress of life in the community. Part of the community is the school so it is tremendously important to us, tremendously important to the future of the school, that information comes to the people.'

"ON EDITORS AND SCHOOL PEOPLE: 'Editors and school people have a great deal in common. The mission of the newspaperman is largely an educational one. Newspaper men are charged with the responsibility of giving the reader information concerning what is happening in the community. And as the newspaper brings this information to the people, it is educating. That also is the mission of our schools.'

"ON PUBLIC OPINION: 'Part of the life of every community, of course, is its schools and we who work in the schools are aware that so far as the future of the schools is concerned, we are dependent entirely on what the people of the community think of them, and what the people think of them is going to depend upon what the newspapers have told the people about them.'

"ON THE FUTURE: The challenge to the schools of our communities in the next few years and the years to come is going to be greater than the challenge has ever been before. We have more children, more children staying in schools more years. As the school population increases, and as the number of years that pupils attend increases, we are going to need more schools. We are going to have to teach them more things. We will have to have better and better trained teachers. All of these things will cost more money, but I am sure you are well aware that the welfare of our communities and of our state and of our nation depends upon training that these youngsters get. Education is an asset and what is spent on it is an investment. The newspaper people, I am sure, will be very glad to work with the schools to try to build up our school system stronger than it has ever been before. Newspaper people will do this because they are dedicated in support of those things that are best for the community. The schools are a very important part of that."

ELECTROSHOCK THERAPY MAY OR MAY NOT SUCCEED

Q. Would you please explain how electroshock treatment for mental illness is given and how it works? Are results always good?

A. Electroshock therapy is just what the name implies—an electric (but carefully regulated) shock. Doctors don't know why such treatment works but it does help in many cases. One explanation . . . and probably not a very good one . . . is that the shock, or a series of shocks, shakes the patient loose from some fixed mental preoccupation or emotional attitude so that he can form a new emotional outlook. There is no way to tell whether electroshock therapy will succeed or fail. There are, however, some emotional disorders in which better results may be anticipated than in others.

They Told Me I'd Get A Set Of Stainless Steel Cookware

"If they could put siding or roofing on our house"

WARNING!

The 'Itinerant Salesman' and 'Peddlers' Are On the Road

Like the grizzly bear, the "itinerant salesman" comes out of hibernation each year with the advent of warm weather. Like the bear, they are "hungry" after a long time without food, and they are on the road now . . . "peddling everything from house siding jobs and house and barn roofing jobs to farm fire alarm systems, cesspool dredging and "attractive" painting deals.

In many cases, to "close a deal," these people offer "shiny premiums" . . . just for signing up. And in many cases, the contract you sign for work you expect done is "loaded" with fine print, which again in many cases protects not you — the buyer — but which contains an "out" for the vendor.

Such home improvement work as new siding on a house, or a re-roofing job, or chimney rebuilding, are too important for a hasty decision made as a result of high-pressure salesmanship. In this field, the local firms represented below are entirely capable of furnishing you with any of the materials or workmanship you can secure anyplace else. These firms are your friends —people you know — and they are part and parcel of our community. So, if you find yourself in the act of making a "hasty decision," take time to think it over. You can very likely "do better" right here at home.

Beef on Top of List Of Month's Food Buys

Beef rates high on food preference lists of most families—and this month beef ranks at the top of the list of good buys, too. As long as there is more than enough beef to satisfy the demand, consumers are assured that prices will remain attractive.

In a typical week, a third of U.S. families serve a beef roast of some kind and even more families eat steak, according to a U. S. Department of Agriculture report.

The abundance of high quality, tender and flavorful beef now on meat counters offers a wealth of menu variety along with mealtime satisfaction and good nutrition. To make the most of the meat buy, make sure you cook the cuts you choose according to the recommended method, suggests Miss Carolyn Offerdahl, Pennington county home agent.

For example, broiling, pan frying and roasting are recommended for tender cuts. These include USDA choice sirloin, porterhouse, T-bone or club steak. These cuts broil well under direct heat but may also be pan-broiled or pan fried. For even roasting in an open pan, select a rib, loin or choice rump roast.

Cuts of chuck, rump, round—including heel of round—and short ribs are all suited to braising or pot roasting. Braising or pot roasting is cooking the meat covered with some liquid added. Pot roasting brings out the hearty flavor and gives a rich brown color to the meat. The key to success is a heavy frying pan or kettle with a tight-fitting cover. The braising can be done on top of the stove or in the oven with any liquid you choose to add such as water, tomato juice, onion or mushroom soup.

If cost is a major consideration in your purchase of beef, remember the higher grades and more tender cuts generally are most expensive. Of the top three federal grade of beef-prime, choice and good in that order – USDA choice will be found most often in retail stores. However, you can often save by buying U. S. good grade, which, though not as juicy as choice or prime, can be tender and tasty when cooked properly. This generally is the braising method.

Locals Shut Out Goodridge 12 to 0

With righthander Rick Jensen giving up but two hits in the four innings he pitched, and with southpaw Pat Fischer allowing but one hit in three innings coach Ralph Skay's Prowlers marked up a shutout over the Goodridge Huskies in a baseball game played on the fairgrounds diamond Friday afternoon, winning by a 12 to 0 score.

The Prowlers took control of Friday's game in the first inning, racking up four runs. Don Mathieu drew a walk, Rick Jensen sacrificed Mathieu to second, Dave Erickson singled to left field, with Mathieu stopping at third and Erickson advancing to second base on the throw to the plate. Wayne Smith poled a double to right-center, scoring Mathieu and Erickson. Jack Leedahl sent a line single to right field. John Hellquist lined to shortstop Bob Bendickson. Howard Dalager drove a long single to left-center, plating Smith and Leedahl.

After adding a single run in the second inning the Prowlers erupted for another four-run cluster in the fourth inning off relief pitcher Jim McEnelly.

The three hits garnered by the Husky batsmen were credited to Bob Vigen, who tripled to right-center in the fourth inning, and was thrown out at the plate as he attempted to score on an overthrow at third base. McEnelly drove out a single in the fourth inning, and Keith Wikstrom sent a ground single past short and second in the sixth inning.

Public Hearing on Leasing of Trucks Slated for May 27

Railroad and Warehouse Commission Proposes to Liberalize Regulations

A public hearing on regulations pertaining to the leasing of trucks affecting some 4,500 truckers in nearly every community in Minnesota will be conducted by the Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission in St. Paul on May 27.

Ron Anderson, chairman, said that the state agency at that time will present several proposed regulations which will liberalize leasing requirements and also make the state rules conform more closely with those of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Affected will be livestock, petroleum, irregular route, contract and regular route common carriers as well as interstate carriers registered with the Minnesota commission.

Most important changes in the railroad and warehouse rules that the commission is proposing include:

Permission to lease trucks for a single trip rather than for a period of a minimum of 15 days at a time.

Permission to lease trucks on the basis of percentage of the gross revenue earned rather than on a cents-per-mile basis.

Anderson said that the new rules would greatly expedite leasing of equipment on short notice and would enable the motor carrier industry to better meet emergency situations which arise from time to time.

Anderson also said that the commission has considerable evidence that many truckers currently are paying only "lip service" to the existing rules and actually are violating the intent of the present regulations.

He said that the new regulations would be more workable and could be better enforced by the commission.

Service Academy Exams July 13th

Rep. Odin Langen Invites Area Young Men to Apply

Congressman Odin Langen today announced that July 13th has been designated as the date when Seventh district young men can take the written examinations for possible appointment to the Air Force, Merchant Marine, Military or Naval Academies in 1965. The examinations will be given at various locations in the district, as near to the homes of the applicants as possible.

Langen stressed that interested young men who will not be less than 17 years of age and who have not reached the age of 22 by July of next year, should contact his office at 1519 Longworth Building, Washington, D. C., not later than June first of this year.

"No special preparation on the part of the candidates is required for the examination," said Langen, "and none should be necessary for those who have a good knowledge of high school algebra. The examination will require about 3½ hours to complete."

Langen also suggested that interested young men undergo a thorough physical examination by their family doctor.

FIRST hit of the Prowler baseball season came as a result of this swing by Don Mathieu. Mathieu, the leadoff batter for the Prowlers in their schedule-opening game at Warren on Wednesday afternoon, belted Ken Carlson's third pitch for a three-base hit. The Prowlers edged out the Ponies, 5 to 4.

ABOUT to step on the plate to score the first run of the Prowlers' baseball season for 1964 is Don Mathieu. Mathieu, who had led off the first inning with a triple, scored when Johnny Hellquist lined a three-base hit to right-center off Warren's Ken Carlson. After the Prowlers had tallied this run in the top half of the first inning, the Ponies rallied for four runs in the last half of the inning, but the Warren lead was short-lived as a Prowler rally in the second inning accounted for four runs. Relief pitchers Tommy Cummings for the Prowlers and Paul Knutson for the Ponies, hurled shutout ball for the balance of the game.

Langen Attacks Beet Acreage Allocations

"The Red River Valley has been left out in the cold again," thanks to another case of the Area Redevelopment Administration meddling in the domestic sugarbeet industry," charged Congressman Odin Langen Monday in commenting on the latest announcement of sugarbeet acreage committed for Aroostook County, Maine, and the Phoenix area in Arizona.

"The 33,000 acres allocated to Aroostook County, Maine, is the second instance this year where sugarbeet allotments have gone to areas where ARA has spent taxpayer money to set up new plants in direct competition with the established beet-growing areas of the country such as the Red River Valley of Minnesota and North Dakota."

Langen noted that the ARA granted $50,000 last year for a technical assistance study to investigate the economic and engineering feasibility of establishing a sugar beet industry in Aroostook County after granting over $118,000 for similar studies in Cayuga County, New York. "And now both areas have received acreage allotments, which is proof enough of our warning last year that when ARA conducts a study, sugarbeet acreage is bound to follow, no matter what it does to the established growers. It's another case of those who have worked for years on the local level to develop the sugarbeet industry having to pay the consequences of Area Redevelopment Programs."

Congressman Langen also said it was interesting to note that the other acreage allocation just announced, in the Phoenix area of Arizona, is for 20,000 acres on land developed under a reclamation-irrigation project. "This brings to almost 500,000 the number of sugarbeet acres now on irrigated lands, or approximately four times the number of sugarbeet acres in the Red River Valley."

Langen called on Valley growers "to let the Area Redevelopment Administration and the Department of Agriculture know where you stand on such sugarbeet allocations that are hurting your own potential in Minnesota and North Dakota. This sorry situation has gone on long enough and it's time to show your displeasure."

Discuss Proposed Technical School

'U' Considers Setting up Crookston Institute

Discussion of tentative plans of the University of Minnesota to establish a technical institute at the Northwest School in Crookston was conducted by ten officers and members of the Northwest Educational Improvement Association (NWEIA) at a noon luncheon held in Crookston Wednesday.

Supt. B. E. Youngquist of the Northwest School and T. E. Hagen, president of NEWIA, headed the presentation of past efforts and plans for the future.

The facilities at the Northwest School are presently being inventoried to determine the needs of an expanded facility, they reported.

They said on May 11 and 12 a committee from the University, charged with studying and developing a curriculum for the two-year technical institute, will meet in Crookston.

They will also discuss the curriculum that will be offered at the new institute.

The NEWIA board Wednesday decided to ask the help of the public in determining the curriculum at the proposed institute.

Trap Shooters Meet Wednesday

The Thief River Trap league will hold its annual meeting and awards banquet on Wednesday evening, April 29, at the golf club. The 7 p.m. dinner will be preceded by a social hour at 6 p.m. At this meeting, the league championship trophy will be presented to the Bjorkman's Clothing team, which posted a season's mark of six wins, three losses, and one tie to gain a one-point edge over the Thief River Falls Times and Coast-to-Coast team who shared runner-up honors. Members of the league-champion Bjorkman's are Sandy Wilson, Pat Fischer, Tom Ekeren, Wayne Bendickson, Gene Gaer, Steve Skadsen and Jim Helgeland.

Statistics compiled by league secretary Bob Mattson reveal that Sandy Wilson, for the second year in succession, proved to be the league's high-average marksman. Sandy, who won the high-average trophy in 1962 with a 24.1 mark, had a 24.0 record for the 1963 competition. Sandy won the high-average honors in 1960 with a 23.3 mark, while Si Schantzen gained the high individual honors in 1961 with a 23.1 mark.

The local trapshooters averaging 20 birds or more in league competition this past season were the following:

Prowler Ball Club Tips Warren 5-4

Coach Ralph Skay's baseball Prowlers opened their 1964 schedule on Wednesday afternoon by scoring a 5 to 4 win over the Warren Ponies in a District 31 conference game played on the Warren diamond.

This weeks's slate will find the local squad playing three games. On Monday afternoon, with game time at 4:30 P.M., the Prowlers will play the Fertile Falcons on the fairgrounds diamond. On Wednesday afternoon, with game time at 4:30 P.M., the Prowlers will meet the Roseau Rams, also on the fairgrounds diamond. And on Friday, May 1, the Prowlers will travel to Bemidji for a game against coach Horace May's highly-rated Lumberjacks, with game time billed for 4:30 P.M.

Wednesday afternoon's well-chilled game at Warren was featued by a pair of exceptional relief pitching stints. Righthander Tommy Cummings of the Prowlers, entering the game in the last half of the 3rd inning with the bases loaded and only one out, struck out Dick Englestad and Pete Gilbert to snuff out the Warren rally, and then go on to pitch one-hit and scoreless baseball. Warren's Paul Knutson, a southpaw, came on in in the 3rd inning with the bases loaded with Prowlers and none out. Knutson wild-pitched one run across the plate, but he proved a puzle to local batsmen, hurling no-hit ball and collecting 13 strikeouts during the five innings he pitched.

Warren picked up their four runs in the first inning, taking advantage of three bases on balls given up by starter Jack Leedahl, a double by Knutson, and three errors by the Prowler infield.

The Prowlers scored a run in the opening inning when Don Mathieu led off with a triple and, after Dave Erickson had grounded out, was driven across the plate on John Hellquist's triple.

And it was a four-run cluster in the third ining that proved decisive. Three walks, singles by Mathieu and Hellquist, and a Warren error, plus a wild pitch, accounted for the four runs.

4 Local Dentists at State Meeting

Four Thief River Falls dentists last week attended the annual state convention of the Minnesota State Dental association in St. Paul. Included were Dr. J. W. Ewing, Dr. C. E. Snyder, Dr. Myron G. Johnson and Dr. Donald Goodrich. Policies stressed by speakers at the three-day session included increasing dental care for the aged, expanding fluoridation of community water supplies, attracting young men and women into the profession and stressing preventive dentistry which saves teeth, not extracts them.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

It Was Encouraging

Coach Roger Solheim of the Prowlers was encouraged by the performance of the Prowler track and field squad in the Sioux Outdoor meet at Grand Forks on Saturday. While the Prowlers could garner but 15 points in the star-studded field, the running of such boys as Joel Headley, Orrin Joppru, Jerry Forsberg, Bob Olson, Rich Nelson, Gary Hagen, Brian Collver, and others, gave indications that the blue-and-gold track squad will be a factor in the District 31 meet.

Joel Headley gained a fourth in the mile run event. And a humorous note was added when announcer Lee Bohnet stated that fourth place was won by Dean Headley of the Prowlers. It so happens that Dean is Joel's dad, and he was in the stands when the announcement was made.

The hoped-for hurdle duel between the Bemidji Lumerjacks' John Warford and Breckenridge's Tom Stuart did not materialize as the famed Breckenridge athlete did not attend the meet. Warford won the two events, running the 120-yard high hurdles in 16.6; and the 180-yard low hurdles in 21.1. And the events were run against a brisk south-east wind. I doubt very much if the Breckenridge athlete has the foot-speed to match Warford.

The feature event on the 17-event program proved to be the 880-yard heat that furnished the event's first, second, and third place winners. In this crowd-pleasing heat, Grand Forks' Eric Fritzell was the winner, just barely holding off the threat of the Plummer Cardinals. Marv Walter, who won second place, and Dilworth's Mike Stice, who finished third. The trio could have been covered by a hand towel as they crossed the finish line.

Fritzell, whose strategy is to burst into a lead in the opening lap and then hold off the threatening runners during the final 200 yards, was not able to build up a lead on Walter and Stice on Saturday. He did have a couple of yards lead as they came into the final turn, but Walter and Stice just about pared that margin as the trio flashed across the finish line. It was that close.

The fact that Walter had participated in the 180-yard low hurdles, the event just preceding the half-mile run, may have taken some of the edge off the Plummer runner.

The Prowlers' Orrin Joppru ran a strong 880-yard run, too, winning his heat by quite a margin. On a time basis, Joppru was given fourth place in the event.

A Surprise

Some of the conversation around the UND Memorial Stadium at Grand Forks during the Sioux Outdoor track and field meet on Saturday had to do with the sudden resignation of Barry Thorndycraft as varsity coach of the Sioux hockey squad. Barry has been having his troubles with the immigration officials (he is a native of Winnipeg and a Canadian citizen;, but it was believed that this problem was in the process of being solved. So it was a surprise to sports fans in this area to hear of Barry's resignation.

During the five years that Thorndycraft has been directing the destinies of the Sioux varsity squad, the green-and-white has had much success. His 1962-63 squad won the NCAA hockey title.

While the North Dakota University authorities have not mentioned the prospective candidates for the head coaching job, it is quite probable that some consideration will be given to Bob Peters. Peters has been Thorndycraft's assistant, and he has also been the freshman hockey coach for the Sioux. Bob has made a favorable impression around this area during the past sesson when he brought his classy North Dakota freshean squad here for games against the Thieves.

And a factor in Bob's favor is that he is a native of Fort Frances, Ontario, just across the river from International Falls. With ces, Ontario, just across the river NCAA putting in strict rules against the importing of Canadian Junior 'A' hockey talent, a premium will be placed on high-caliber Minnesota high school players. And Peters, with his connections at the Falls, and the Iron Range, should prove to be a capable recruiter.

Have a Look at the Prowlers

Coach Ralph Skay's baseball Prowlers will play a couple of games on the fairgrounds diamond here this week, and local fans should take advantage of the opportunity and look at the squad. They look like a baseball team.

This afternoon, Monday, at 4:30 P.M., they meet the Fertile Falcons; and on Wednesday afternoon with game time at 4:30 P.M., they play the Roseau Rams.

The Prowlers have a pair of "road" games this week, too. On Tuesday the squad will travel to Fosston for a game against the Greyhounds; and on Friday, with game time at 4:30 P.M., the Prowlers play coach Horace May's Bemidji Lumberjacks at Bemidji.

114 Persons in State Were Drowned in '63

Each year Minnesotans in increasing numbers turn to water activities for summer recreation. But for some, the pleasure of Minnesota's abundant waterways combined with that of a boat, water skis, or swim suit becomes unnecessary tragedy. Last year there were 114 drownings of which 36 occurred in children 14 years of age or younger, according to figures from the Minnesota department of health.

Safe practices, including swimming knowledge and safe boating and ski equipment are the only ways to reduce this number of needless deaths, according to Dr. A. B. Rosenfield, director, division of special services. Inability to swim, inexperience, carelessness, poor judgment, and lack of supervision are important factors in most water accidents.

While deaths from drowning cover every age group, infants and toddlers need constant supervision by good water safety rules, Dr. Rosenfield points out. "Older children should be given the chance to learn water skills from trained persons; but until they develop the skill and care and good judgment around water, they too require close supervision by responsible adults." Skilled swimming instruction is avialable from many community sources for children and adults.

Youngsters and adults should exercise respect for the water and swim only when rested and not overheated. During the first part of the summer season, give your body a chance to adjust to increased activity and to build up strength for swimming longer distances. An attempt to exceed your swimming ability or endurance may be an invitation to trouble.

Always swim with another person in a safe and familiar place, preferably where a lifeguard is near. Check the water depth for hidden rocks and stumps before diving. In case of trouble, try to stay calm. Assume a face-up floating position, keeping your hands under water and moving your feet and hands slowly. Learn and know how to use proper methods of removing a person from the water. Also, know how to use rescue breathing, or mouth-to-mouth resuscitation techniques, in case of emergency.

With boat traffic becoming heavier each year in Minnesota, it is essential that boaters understand and practice safe methods of participating in water sports, including pulling water skiers. This boom in boating has increased the potential hazard from drownings associated with boats. A majority of boating accidents involve faulty operation, negligence, and poor judgement. In 1963, there were 34 water deaths due to boats.

Check the condition of all boating equipment before leaving shore. Essential safety equipment include: anchor, fire extinguisher, oars, horn, light, mirror, first aid kit, and tool kit. A life preserver should be provided for each person aboard, non-swimmers should wear them at all times. Refrain from smoking while refueling.

Know how to operate your boat, and learn to operate according to nautical rules. Take only the number of passengers the boat will handle safely. Overpowering a boat with a motor too large can cause the boat [illegible]. Reduce speed at high waves and enter them at a slight angle.

Approved Varieties of Vegetable Listed

A new early tomato suitable for direct seeding in the garden in May is one of the newer varieties of vegetables recommended for Minnesota gardens.

Called Gardener, this tomato has medium-sized fruits which mature about the same time as Fireball. Plants are adapted to staking.

The Gardener tomato is one of the vegetable varieties urban, suburban and rural gardeners may be interested in planting this year because tests show it is adapted to Minnesota, according to O. C. Turnquist, extension horticulturist at the University of Minnesota. Selection of varieties adapted to local conditions is one of the most important steps to a successful garden, he emphasizes.

As an aid to gardeners, recommended varieties for Minnesota are listed in a revised University Agricultural Extension Service publication, just off the press, "1964 Vegetable Varieties" Extension Folder 154. The publication may be obtained free of charge from Bulletin Room, Institute of Agriculture, University of Minnesota, St. Paul 55101 or from county extension offices.

Included in the publication are many new introductions which are resistant and of better quality than some of the older varieties. Reliable older varieties are also listed.

Planting some of these new varieties, in addition to older varieties, will make gardening more interesting, Turnquist said. Here are some of the vegetable varieties he recommends for small home gardens: snap beans - Tendercrop, high-yielding all-purpose bean for fresh use, canning and freezing; broccoli-Spartan Early, early, high quality and excellent for freezing; carrot - Scarlet Nantes; one of the most popular, dependable and sweetest carrots for the home garden; lettuce - Summer Bibb, loose-heading type that can be grown all summer; peas - Frosty, early, large peas, excellent for freezing; radish - Stoplight, earlier and longer standing than some older varieties, and Red Boy, especially suited to summer planting; tomato - Gardener.

Secretaries to Convene May 1-3 in St. Paul Hotel

Four hundred secretaries will attend the 1964 North Central regional conference of the National and Minnesota Associations of Educational Secretaries May 1, 2, and 3.

The North Central Region members will meet at the Hotel St. Paul with twelve national officers of the association attending. The official conference program will carry through the general theme of the women's changing role in civic and business affairs.

Keynote speaker at the Saturday morning session will be Mrs. Charles Hymes, a member of the President's Commission on the Status of Women and of the Minneapolis board of education.

The aims of the meetings are to add to professional growth and to give a basic understanding and realization of the modern world and the changing aspects of that world.

Traffic Deaths in U.S. Hit New Peak During Past Year

42,700 Persons Killed and 3,460,000 Injurde, Insurance Firm Reports

In 1963 the nation's highway carnage exceeded the grimfigure of 39,969 persons killed in 1941 - a record high which stood for twenty years - and even surpassed the new record of 40,500 deaths established in 1962, according to a report released by the Travelers Insurance Companies.

The number of people injured in traffic accidents also continued its relentless upward trend.

The authoritative report, first issued in 1931, is prepared annually by The Travelers and is based on information provided by state motor vehicle departments. More than 3,500,000 copies are distributed every year.

U. S. highway deaths in 1963 totaled 42,700 - an all-time high representing a five and a half per cent increase over 1962.

The report also reveals a three and a half per cent jump in the number of injured in 1963 as compared with 1962. In all, 3,460,000 men, women and children were hurt in auto accidents last year.

"Even though the exact figures vary from year to year," a Travelers spokesman commented, "the same tragic formula holds true in more than eight out of every ten auto casualties - too much carelessness behind the wheel, and too little regard for the safety of others."

Excessive speed again led other factors as the single greatest cause of street and highway accidents. More than 14,000 persons were killed and more than 1,223,000 were injured as a direct result of speeding violations. Other major causes of accidents included failure to yield the right-of-way and driving on the wrong side of the road.

Soo Line Railroad Earns $2,274,000 in First Quarter

The Soo Line Railroad reported gross revenues in the first quarter of this year of $21,235,156 and net income of $2,274,652, or 18 cents a share.

In the same period of last year, revenues totaled $17,888,327 and the carrier had a net loss of $32,660.

The increase in revenues, a company official said, was due to greater movement of grain and manufactured goods, and the turnaround in net income was due to "internal efficiencies, mainly."

Government Studies

Taxpayers might be interested in some of the studies which the government has conducted through the use of federal tax dollars. The Industrial News Review lists several government expenditures as follows:

The federal government spent $18,000 on a study to learn why patients break appointments at pediatric clinics. It spent $1,250,000 to study the relationship between an infant monkey and its mother. It spent $11,500 to study blood group genetics of Southampton Island Eskimos. It spent $20,090 to study diseases of the giant snail.

These studies sound rather useless on the surface, but we understand that such research is often necessary or important to science in seeking answers to serious health problems. We don't quite understand, however, where the government enters into the picture on these and a multitude of other studies with seemingly similar uselessness.

We fully expect in the near future to see a substantial sum expended for research and study on hibernation tendencies of black bears. This could, if applied to the human race, provide a solution to the seasonal unemployment problem. It would be as practical as some of the studies which have been conducted with government funds.

Agricultural Progress

World agriculture is said to have passed through three stages, the first being the longest. That was the blood, sweat and tears era when nearly everyone tilled the soil, planted crops or tended herds or flocks to provide food for himself and his family. When crops failed, which was often, there was famine.

Next came the mechanical age, beginning with the invention of the reaper by Cyrus McCormick. One hundred years ago a farmer could support five people. By 1940 production had increased so that one farmer could produce enough food for 11 people. At the present time—which is the third stage or chemical era—one farmer can produce enough food and fiber for himself and 25 other people.

It is unlikely that any other nation in the history of the world has ever had a level of abundance such as now exists in the United States. Much of this is due to the development of the chemical industry, providing fertilizer to make crops produce greater yields and discovering insecticides which control insects and other crop-destroying pests.

Each of the advanced phases of agriculture has taken place just in time to meet the increasing need for food. Production has now advanced to the stage in the United States where it exceeds demand. With the increase in population, however, it will not be too long before a fourth stage in agriculture may be needed to feed our people.

One Out of Six

Government employment, including state federal and local - currently employs the full time services of 9½ million citizens, according to a U. S. Department of Labor survey.

This amounts to one public employe for every six persons employed in private industry.

By 1980 - within the next 15 years - the department estimates that the total of public employes will reach 14½ million, if the current trend continues, or one public employe for each five privately employed persons.

The biggest gains in public service jobs since 1957 have been in the state and local governments, according to the survey. While the federal government was hiring some 250,000 new employees, state and local governments added 1,400,000. During this period, counting both government and private industry, there were 2,500,000 jobs opening up, leaving 850,000 for persons seeking private employment.

So-called public service at the level of 50 state governments and 90,000 local governments are designed to regulate the existence and activities of the average U. S. citizen, either by helping him as a person unable to care for himself or hindering him in his daily pursuits through regulations and laws.

Between 1947 and 1962, according to the department report, the local and state government employees roster rose from 2,900,000 to more than 5 million. In Minnesota, the number of persons on the state payroll, including the University of Minnesota, just about doubled in this period - from some 16,000 to more than 38,000.

Part of this increase is due to the need for more teachers at all educational levels. Since 1947, when the trek of school children born at the beginning of the second World War began, the need for competent teachers and school administrators has doubled.

At the same time, such public welfare services as old age assistance, aid to dependent children, aid to unwed mothers, medical and hospital care for them, have risen by 65 per cent. More than 750,000 persons now are engaged in health and hospital care services throughout the country, paid by local and state taxpayers.

At the federal level, according to the report, the number of employees of the U. S. Department of Agriculture increased from 85,000 in 1955 to 110,000 in 1962. During this seven-year period, the country's farm population dropped from 8,400,000 to 6,700,000. This meant that there was one U. S. Department of Agriculture employe for every 60 farmers, as against one for every 118 farmers previously.

Other points noted in the report include: The federal, state and local governments employ nearly 50 per cent of the civil engineers, one-third of the social scientists, psychologists and economists and one-fifth of all the male technicians graduated from its higher education school facilities.

Government at its various levels is the major employer of women in professional and technical jobs, with some 60 per cent of them on some public payroll.

The Water Problem

How long can the nation expect to have its water supply continue at present levels and offer sufficient water for domestic, commercial and industrial uses? Not very long, according to the state Water Pollution Control committee.

If current conditions in water conservation continue, and industrial pollution of our rivers and streams continue on the same course, our nation will be literally out of fresh water by 1980, the committee states. Population growth, huge industrial development and our failure to take steps against pollution all contribute to the depletion of our available water supply.

The department of water conservation states that our underground water supply is replenished by seepage from surface waters, rains and other natural methods. When we use more than can be recharged by these natural methods, then artificial methods of recharging must be found and instigted. At the present time, this is not being done, the pollution control committee asserts.

Minneapolis, for example, draws 136 million gallons of water a day from an underground strata which is 2,300 miles wide and has a depth of over 1,000 feet of usable water. Officials fear that our current pollution problem in the state could cause pollution, contamination or even chemical poison in this strata.

One proposal for conservation of water is the re-use of used water. This plan calls for an industry using water from a river, well or waste-water from a city. Then, instead of returning it to its source, the industry passes it along to another plant or industry for further use. This is being done successfully in a number of cases.

Re-use of water results in reduction in pollution, increased flexibility for plant expansion, maximum freedom from water pollution by upstream users and reduction of corrosion in a closed system. It bears major consideration as a possible solution to the water problem in Minnesota and the nation today.

We Were Surprised

When the Thief River Falls city council unanimously approved a resolution to provide for parallel parking along the entire length of Second street in the business district, the action came as somewhat of a surprise. This will leave only a very few blocks of angle parking in the city's downtown street parking area.

It was approximately a year ago that the Pennington County Safety Council, after some careful study of accident reports, recommended to the city council that only parallel parking be allowed on Second street. Angle parking reduces the driving width of the street to a considerable degree. This situation is aggravated by vehicles longer than a normal passenger car and by snow which accumulates along the curb during winter months. Both contribute to further reduction in the street width.

The county safety council's study of accident reports on mishaps from Knight to Atlantic avenue on Second street showed a total of 18 accidents in 1962. Eight occurred at intersections with other streets, five of these at the Horace avenue intersection. Five occurred when cars were backing from angle parking places into the street, three of these between Main and LaBree avenues. Three parked cars were stuck in two accidents, two accidents happened when cars were entering Second street from an alley and in one instance a truck struck a building when turning into an alley. Estimated damage was $3,245 in the 18 accidents.

At about this time a year ago, angle parking on the south side of Second street was changed to parallel parking. The accident total dropped to 13 during 1963 including eight intersection collisions, three when cars were backing from angle parked positions, one when a car was entering Second street from an alley and one rear-end collision between intersections. Damage was estimated at $3,200.

Five of the 13 accidents on Second street in 1963 occurred in January, and it was this one-month rise that prompted the safety council to survey the 1962 accident total. The city police department notes that during 1962 and 1963 there were no accidents on Second street involving cars pulling away from parallel parked positions.

Elimination of angle parking will result in loss of parking area and the convenience of merely driving up to the curb to park-an attractive feature for those drivers who have trouble parking parallel. It will be interesting to check the 1964 accident picutre on Second street.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans' benefits may be obtained by visiting or writing the VA Contact Office at the Fargo VA Center, Fargo, North Dakota.

Q—Will a dishonorable discharge from military service bar a veteran from receiving VA hospitalization?

A—Yes, that is the case.

Q—I am disabled and the premiums on my National Service Life Insurance are waived. When I die will my beneficiary receive the full amount of my policy or will the unpaid premiums be deducted at the time of settlement?

A—Your beneficiary will receive the full face value of your policy. No deduction will be made to cover the premiums you did not pay while the policy was on waiver.

A—Does the VA furnish medical care to dependents of veterans?

A—No, not as such. Of course, VA hospitals will admit anyone when necessary to save a life in a medical emergency. But such non-veteran patients must pay the Government for their care.

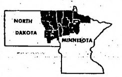
MR. MODERN FARMER.. HERE'S YOUR NEW "FURNACE"!

There have been some big strides of progress in the heating of homes. The days of the old "Pot-Bellied" stove are pretty much relegated to a few generations ago. Today you have a choice of several fuels for home heating; one of the most modern, most popular, and most practical is total electric home heating.

Today more than 200 families in this area enjoy flameless electric heating for their entire home. Their "furnace" is simply an electical switch, which heats the home electrically, giving perfect comfort with your own "climate control." If you are planning a new home this year or remodeling your old one, get the facts on heating your home electrically.



For complete details on heating your home electrically, see your local rural electric cooperative or your local electric contractor.

4-H Play, Share-the-Fun Festivals Finals Thursday

Finals for the Pennington county 4-H share-the-fun festival and one-act play contest will be held Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in the Lincoln high school auditorium in Thief River Falls, according to Miss Carolyn Offerdahl, Pennington County home agent.

The plays are an important part of the 4-H program, Miss Offerdahl said. They develop in the 4-H member ability to get up in front of a group and to express himself in a situation. This enables him to lose some of his self-consciousness. The clubs that are participating at the finals with plays are Kratka, Deer Park, Star, Happy Acres and Steiner.

Share-the-fun festival programs are designed to develop the 4-H club boys and girls as they share their talent with others. This program emphasizes fun and fellowship for a participating 4-H members. The cubs participating with share-the-fun numbers are Deer Park, Kratka, Mavie, Star, Happy Acres, Lucky Four and City View.

Judges for the final event are extension agents from Roseau County. Miss Offerdahl added that the event is open to the public and that the public is encouraged to attend.

The top play from this event will be participating in the program at Crookston 4-H Club Week on June 17. Three share-the fun numbers shall be selected from this group to be sent to Cargill, Inc., to choose one to participate at the district share-the-fun festival in Thief River Falls on July 15.

$300,000 Project for Roads on Red Lake Reservation

Allocation of $300,000 in federal funds to build a road in the Red Lake Indian Reservation in Clear water county has been announced in Washington and the Minnesota highway department already is at work readying plans in expectation that the contract can be let in July.

The allocation of the money does not affect either federal or state highway funds, since it comes from general funds in the U. S. Treasury for the improvement of main roads through federal lands.

The road already has been designated as part of the Great River Road.

The new route will be 10 miles in length, from the junction of CSAH 5 and 7 to the junction of THs 1 and 89 (concurrent) and involves reconstruction of the southerly seven miles and the construction on new location of the northerly three miles to federal aid secondary standards. The present route is circuitous and time consuming and the new route will be about three miles shorter.

Negotiations are under way with the U. S. Corps of Engineers to construct a bridge over the Clear water river at the southerly terminus.

Clearing and grubbing of the relocated portion has been accomplished with Indian forces. Clearwater county has indicated it will assume maintenance once the road is constructed.

The proposed grading, base and bituminous surfacing work will be under the direction of Carl M. Larson, district engineer for District 2 of the highway department.

In addition to local and tourist traffic, the road will serve to an increased degree the transportation of timber products.

Highway Dept. Asks for Driver Clinics

To Seek Action on Plan In 1965 Legislature

A law providing for establishment of driver improvement clinics and giving judges authority to require motorists who violate traffic laws to attend the clinic would be an important contribution to traffic safety, says the Minnesota Highway Department.

The department plans to support such a law at the 1965 legislature.

The law, as presently contemplated, would also give the commissioner of highways authority to require a motorist to attend one of the clinics before being reissued a suspended or revoked license.

The clinics would apply to those drivers who have accumulated a poor driving record. They would attend the clinic in order to improve their driving.

Some cities in Minnesota have recognized the value of these clinics and have established them. Among these are West St. Paul, Edina, Coon Rapids, Austin and Brooklyn Center. Traffic judges at present can only recommend attendance at these clinics.

The state clinics would consist of three evening classes weekly, each lasting three hours, for three successive weeks. Emphasis would be on courtesy and caution. The driver would be required to pay a nominal fee to cover costs of the course.

Safety experts point out that traffic violations are reduced by two-thirds among those who attend the clinics.

Agriculture Committee, Education Sub-Committee Recreation Group Meet

Rep. Richard Fitzsimons attended three committee meetings during the past weekend at the state capitol. On Monday Rep. Fitzsimons attended the meeting of the outdoor recreation and resources commission at the capitol. Hearings were held on the subject of wetlands and tax forfeited lands. Paul Stelmaschuk

Those who till the soil seem to be taking an ever more critical look at how much and what kind of tillage is most needed. Is soil in general being tilled to much? Is the right equipment being used?

Soil physicist George Blake at the University of Minnesota approaches these questions with this general point: Within limits, crops are not especially sensitive to the way soil is tilled. But he adds one important exception - the danger of working soil when it is too wet, as farmers are often forced to do in Minnesota.

Blake sees three basic requirements of soil tillage. First, it must allow getting the seed in the ground and must make for good germination. Second, it should be of some aid to weed control and, third it should make for easier harvesting.

Beyond helping meet these conditions, amount or type of soil tillage has relatively little effect on crop success. Research shows that crops can be raised with far less tillage than used to be thought necessary. Weed chemicals have helped eliminate many cultivation operations, for example.

On the other hand minimum tillage is not a yield-increasing operation. Some of the forms that minimum tillage can take, such as planting corn in tractor wheel tracks, don't necessarily lead to bigger yields, but they often produce results as good as would be the case with more tillage.

A major tillage problem is working the soil when too wet. Wet tillage tends to strain the soil crumbs the aggregates which have stablised over time. The result is a weakening of the whole structure. The soil becomes more subject to puddling, to formation of crust that crack when dry. Clods develop, which are harmful to germination if not to plant growth.

A number of forces are continually building up soil structure, while other forces are sonstantly breaking it down. The ideal is to maintain a sort of equilibrium. Over-tilling, or wet-tilling, can upset this state of balance and produce an overload of structure-breaking forces.

Researchmen have frequently watched what happens when you deliberately upset this blance. One way is to compact the soil, as Blake and his collegues have done with a specially weighted wheel and other devises.

Does excess compaction reduce yield? Not in every case. In years without excess moisture, compaction may not harm production at all. But if you have weather conditions that help bring about poor soil structure, the compaction can make the problem even worse.

Much more research is being done on the whole question of soil tillage. In cooperation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture, University soil scientists are studying the way soil aggregates form and how they are stablized.

It is know, for example, that adding organic matter such as manure improves soil structure. But less well understood is just what causes soil particles to hang together in the first place. There are undoubtedly both physical and chemical aspects. Micro-organisms probably play a role.

There are other specific questions needing study:

What are some of the easiest and best ways to get rid of crop residue, such as corn stalks? What effects do such methods have on soil structure?

What kind of soil structure gives the least loss of water? Theoretically, a rough soil might lead to less moisture loss in some cases and to more in others. Just what the situation is in Minnesota conditions needs more study.

What tillage methods are most effective and efficient? Work by farmers, researchmen and implement manufacturers has shown that many operations can be combined-tillage, fertilizing, planting, chemical spraying can be done on one trip with the right kind of equipment.

Finally, there is the question of farmer habits. To what extent does the farmer depend upon tradition or past experience in deciding how and how much to till a soil? Is "how the field looks" an important factor?

Some of the most recent evidence of the need for as little tillage as possible comes from a cooperative project between the University and G. W. French of the USDA in the Red River Valley. Five different methods of seedbed preparation for potatoes were compared over a three-year period.

Some plots were chisel plowed and some were plowed conventionally, either in fall or spring. One set of plots had no tillage. Potatoes were planted directly in standing wheat stubble. The "no tillage" plots averaged 163 cwt. per acre, which was as high as any of the other plots.

Such evidence continues to make it clear that tillage operations need a hard critical look from farmers and researchmen.

New Garden Varieties

Consider selecting some of the newer varieties of vegetables when you plant your garden this year. Many of them are better producers, more disease-resistant and of higher quality than some of the older varieties.

However, whether you choose old or new varieties of vegetables, they should be adapted to Minnesota. Selection of adapted varieties is an important step to a successful garden.

A list of recommended varieties for Minnesota gardens is given in a University Agriculture Extension service revised publication, "1964 Vegetable Varieties," Extension Folder 154, just off the press. Copies are available free of charge from the county extension office.

Vegetable varieties trials conducted throughout the state by the University Agriculture Extension service in cooperation with both home and commercial gardeners are the basis for the recommendations. Reliable older varieties are listed in addition to some of the new varieties.

Among the newer varieties adapted to Minnesota and worth trying along with some of your old favorites; are the following:

Broccoli - Spartan Early, a new early improved from the popular Green Moutain; snap bean - Tendercrop, highest rating of the snap beans in the last five years of trials, combining mosaic resistance, high yield and high quality; cabbage - Emerald Cross, early F 1 hybrid, high in yield and quality; squash - Hercules, a new strain of the Butternut but with later maturity; peas - Perfected Freezer, vigorous and disease resistant, excellent for fresh-use and for freezing; lettuce - Buttercrunch, heat resistant and high quality; cucumber - Spartan Dawn, a hybrid, heavy yielder early in the season; tomato - Gardener, a new early tomato with medium size fruits; sweet corn - Butter and Sugar, a hybrid maturing in about 82 days, high yielding and good quality; watermelon - Hybrid 103, a heavy yielder of fruits averaging 12 to 1' pounds.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor the Times:

As a college student I have maintained my subscription to the Times and have followed your editorial policy with interest although it is generally opposed to my conceptions regarding government policy. The April 22 editorial entitled "Confusion Reigns" distressed me particularly.

First, let me say that I agree that it is conceivable that communist groups could try to infiltrate legitimate civil rights organizations and use them to their own purposes (although I do question your use of Defenders of the American Constitution, Inc. as a reliable source for evidence). The Negro has not had the benefits of a free society which have been granted to the rest of the citizens of the United States. Continual refusal by our national government to grant equal rights to this substantial group of Americans is the best way to assure that they will come under the sway of extremeist groups, not only communist, but also groups such as the Black Muslims, a group which rejects white American society by promoting an anti-American black nationalism. The best way to prevent such extremism is to fulfill the just demands of the civil rights movement as the bill now before Congress would do.

Second, it does not follow that the supporters of the Civil Rights Bill are necessarily "vote hungry" although I would be the last to deny that the members of Congress would like to be re-elected. Support of the Civil Rights Bill is likely to lose as many votes as it gains as the Wisconsin primary and your editorial policy demonstrate.

Third, if anything would likely divide Americans into opposing groups and create discontent, confusion and doubts, it would be the rejection of the Civil Rights Bill. The rejection would assure a continuing dissatisfied minority open to pleas from anti-democratic and extremist groups.

Edmund Burke, the great British conservative, thought that the best way to conserve the ideals of a society was to change when the situation demanded it. The situation demands it now. Let us reject reactionary political philosophy that suggests that every change is necessarily for the worse.

Yours truly,
Charles Larson

Oscar R. Knutson Joins in Taconite Amendment Drive

Chief Justice of State Supreme Court Is Named Committee Co-chairman

Charles W. Mayo, chairman of the Citizens' Committee for the Taconite Amendment No. 1, announced the appointment of chief justice of the supreme court, Oscar R. Knutson, and state League of Women Voters president, Mrs. William Whiting of Owatonna, as chairmen of the organization endorsements committee.

Knutson said, "As I see it, development of taconite is essential to the long range welfare of northeastern Minnesota. That part of our state is of great importance to the rest of the state, and for that reason anything that can be done by anyone to help bring about the expansion of taconite processing should be done for the good of the whole state. This amendment does nothing but guarantee fair tax treatment for a limited period of years during which the large investment necessary for the expansion of this development can be assured of fair treatment."

Mrs. Whiting was in a position to accept an appointment on the Citizens' Committee after the League endorsed the Taconite Amendment. A majority of the members in the 61 local leagues, after weeks of careful studying of both pros and cons, decided the League of Women Voters of Minnesota should support the taconite amendment because of the possible economic benefit to the depressed areas of northeastern Minnesota and ultimately to the state as a whole.

Governor Rolvaag, Ex-Officio chairman of the Citizens' Committee for the Taconite Amendment, voiced his great pleasure at the acceptance of both Chief Justice Knutson and Mrs. Whiting.

Tom Cummings Hurls No-hitter vs. Fertile

Sophomore righthander Tommy Cummings hurled a no-hit and no-run game for the baseball Prowlers on Monday afternoon as the locals defeated coach Chuck Johnson's Fertile team, 6 to 0, in a game played on the fairgrounds diamond.

Dave (Nobby) Erickson, Prowler second baseman, shared starring honors with Cummings, with the blond bomber poling a two-run home run over the left field fence in the fifth inning. Catcher Wayne Smith, who was credited with thirteen putouts during the game, and making a fine throw to pick Fertile's Don Erickson off third base in the fifth inning, clubbed Jon Lindberg's pitching for a pair of doubles.

The Prowlers will play the Roseau Rams on the fairgrounds diamond this afternoon, Wednesday. On Friday afternoon the locals will meet the highly-rated Bemidji Lumberjacks at Bemidji. On Monday afternoon, May 4, the Prowlers will meet coach Mike Hajostek's Red Lake Falls Eagles at Red Lake Falls.

In hurling his no-hitter, Cummings was in complete control of the game, collecting 13 strikeouts and doling out five bases on balls. Greg Gullickson, leading off for Fertile in the first inning, made a bid for a hit when he drove a liner into left field, but Dave Ellingson, on a one-handed grab, made a diving catch of the ball.

And Cumming's no-run effort was perhaps preserved by Wayne Smith's fine throw to third base, erasing a scoring threat. Don Erickson had opened the inning by drawing a walk; Greg Holmvik dropped a sacrifice bunt down the first-base line, and was out, Jensen to Cummings. Cummings was knocked down during a collision at first base, and during the mishap Erickson advanced to third base with only one out. Erickson, attempting to fluster Cummings, took a big lead off third base, and Smith's quick throw to Buzz Olson was in time for the putout.

After the Prowlers had picked up a pair of runs in the fourth inning, on singles by Ellingson and Cummings and a triple by Mathieu, coach Skay's club tallied three runs in the fifth inning, with Nobby Erickson's fly ball over the left field fence for a home run being the "power" blow of the rally.

NO-HIT and no-run pitching was turned in by righthander Tommy Cummings on Monday afternoon as the Prowlers defeated the Fertile Falcons, 6 to 0, in a game played on the fairgrounds diamond. Cummings, making his first start of the season (he hurled four innings of shut-out ball against Warren as a reliever last week), struck out 13 batsmen.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

An All-Veteran Squad

Since 1954, when the baseball rivalry between the Prowlers and the Bemidji Lumberjacks began, the two clubs have played fifteen games, and the Jacks hold the edge in victories, nine to six. And this is counting the regional tournament game at Fosston, which was won by Bemidji, 5 to 0, and later declared as a forfeit win for the Prowlers, as a Lumberjack victory. In the record the game is listed as a loss, but in the scorebook it was a 5 to 0 win for the Lumberjacks.

On Thursday afternoon, with play ball time slated for 4:30 p. m. on the Bemidji high school field, coach Ralph Skay's Prowlers will be meeting coach Horace May's veteran Bemidji club.

The Lumberjacks, after their heartbreaking forfeit loss to the Prowlers last season (and coach May takes the blame for the loss), the Jacks are a "hungry" ball club. And with such veterans as Steve Dale, Bob Shadlow, Marv Hanson, John Dow, Jerry Fossand, Rolf Loveling, Bob Saeger, and others returning for this season's play, coach May is well-supplied with talent. The only loss of note through graduation by the Jacks was righthanded pitcher Bill Barthelemy. And, of course, this loss will be noticeable as Bill was one of the Region Eight's niftiest hurlers last season.

The Prowlers, who have won three games in a row, have been going through "shake down" games, with coaches Ralph Skay and Jack Junker making shifts in player personnel and position changes. The only players returning for action against the Jacks on Friday, and who were starters against Bemidji in last season's regional finals, are Dave Erickson, Jack Leedahl, Don Mathieu, and Rick Jensen. Wayne Smith came into the game as a catcher in the third innings when John Aune took over the Prowler pitching duties.

While the odds in Friday's games are heavily loaded in favor of the Jacks, coach Skay and the Prowlers will be there for the game. And if Nobby Erickson brings his home run bat along, well, you can't tell what will happen.

Making Another Try

It's been 33 years since a Winnipeg hockey club won the Allen Cup, the trophy that is Canada's emblem of senior hockey supremacy. But the Winnipeg Maroons, in a best-of-seven finals starting on Thursday night in the Winnipeg Arena, will make another attempt at winning the coveted trophy.

The Maroons won the western Canada title, the Abbott Cup, on Monday night when, by a 6 to 2 score, they defeated the Saskatoon Quakers at Saskatoon. The Maroons won the series, four games to one.

In the finals, the veteran Winnipeg club will be playing the Woodstock-London, Ontario, Athletics. This series should be a good one, and it should be interesting to local hockey fans as a number of former senior hockey Thieves, the Northwest Hockey league players, are with the Maroons. Playing important roles in the success of the Maroons are such players as Chuck Lumsden, Danny Summers, Jimmy McKenzie, and Tom Marshall, and these players once played with the Thieves.

The Maroons are coached by Gordy Simpson, who was with the Roseau Cloverleafs for several seasons, and playing in the nets for the Winnipeg club is veteran Don Collins, and he, too, played with the Leafs.

It is probable that a game will be played on Sunday afternoon in the Winnipeg Arena, and it should attract a capacity crowd. Local fans making plans on attending one or several of the games should note that Winnipeg is on daylight saving time.

Just About a Cinch

With only a couple of shifts of bowlers remaining on the tournament schedule, it appears that Ray (Red) Thyren's 664-pin aggregate will win the singles honors in the handicap tournament that will be concluded this week at the Family Bowl lanes.

Red, bowling on the April 20th shift, rolled games of 195-237-192 for an actual pin total of 621. He carried a 172-pin average into a tournament and so had a handicap of 40 pins, giving him an aggregate of 664. Dale Wennberg, who has the high single game score, a 251, is in second place with a 659-pin aggregate. And Red even begrudges Dale his 251 single game mark!

First place is worth a tidy sum of money, but says Red: "Shucks, the money doesn't mean anything to me, it's the prestige I'm after."

Well, if that is so it would be a fine gesture if Red would earmark this first place money for bowling shirts for his T & S team.

I must admit that Red's singles victory is popular with Red Thyren, that is!

Golf Club to Open for Season May 1

The Thief River Golf club opening for the 1964 season has been scheduled for Friday, May 1. The club house, with Ted Hellie and Pete Mellem in charge, will open at noon on week days, and at 9:00 a. m. on weekends.

The student golf program, with Ted Hellie as the instructor, will again be one of the features of the club's activities, and this program will commence about June 15th.

Club officials announce that there will be no change in the dues schedule that was in force last season. The greens fees will be $2.00 a day for week days, and $2.50 for Saturdays, Sunday, and holidays. The twilight rate of $1.50 will again be used, with a 6:00 p. m. deadline.

Resident non-members are welcome to play the course on a greens fee basis until July 1st. After that date the play of resident non-members will be restricted to Mondays. Out-of-town golfers may play the course throughout the season on a greens fee basis. New members are encouraged to join the club, and prospective members may call Dr. Earl Dagg, chairman of the membership committee, or any of the following club officers: Bob Flynn, president; James Solsten, vice president; Elton Cummings, secretary-treasurer; or directors Lowell Swenson, Roger Tunberg, and Bob Bredeson.

Lloyd Bennes is chairman of the greens committee. He stated that considerable work was accomplished last fall on the fairways and greens, and commercial fertilizer has been applied this spring. The greens appear to have survived the winter in excellent condition, and prospects for a successful season are bright.

The annual rummage and "white elephant" sale, conducted by the ladies auxiliary of the golf club, will be held at the City Arena on May 8th.

The golf league will again be in competition on a weekly basis, and Jim Solsten, who will again direct the league play, announced that golfers desirous of joining a team should inform the club house attendants.

State Calls for Bids on $12 Million Jobs

Bids on 31 state trunk highway projects, estimated to cost $12 million will be received May 15 at the Minnesota Highway Department central offices, St. Paul, the department announces.

The projects involve work on 177 miles of highways, construction of 12 bridges, bridge piers, building removals, installation of traffic signals and lighting systems, roadside planting and installation of a pumping station.

Among the major projects is one calling for grading of nine miles and two bridges on TH 35 between the junction of THs 35 and 30 and the junction of THs 35 and 14 at Owatonna. This will connect with the eight miles of freeway open to traffic from Owatonna north, and with another project of 6.6 miles southerly from TH 14. Present plans call for paving of this project sometime next spring.

Of special interest to the Twin Cities is a project calling for construction of 10 piers for the Lafayette bridge in St. Paul. Three piers have been built so far, and the remaining 15 piers are scheduled for letting in November. The superstructure is programmed for June of 1965 and remaining work on the bridge, including the deck, is programmed for the spring of 1966.

In Minneapolis, a project will be let for construction of two bridges as the initial part of the central interchange and tunnel complex at the Lowry Hill bottleneck. One bridge will carry Groveland avenue over TH 94 and one will carry LaSalle avenue over TH 94.

The projects in this area are listed below by county, highway and type of work:

Clay and Norman Counties. TH 32. Plan-mixed bituminous surfacing of 26.2 miles between junction TH 10 near Hawley and Twin Valley.

Lake of the Woods County. TH 72. Grading, gravel base and roadmixed bituminous base of 11.8 miles between .3 mile north of the Rapid river and Baudette.

Marshall County. TH 220. Plant mixed bituminous surfacing of seven miles between the west junction of TH 1 near Oslo and Big Woods.

GOODRIDGE SAILOR IN EXERCISE IN FAR EAST

Alvin L. Larson, fireman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard A. Larson of Route 3, Goodridge, participated in the Seventh Fleet exercise "Crazy Horse" aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Kitty Hawk in the Far East. The operation was designed to test the capabilities of the attack carrier striking force in conducting operations in support of a limited war situation while defending against air and submarine attack.

$9 Million Bid on State Road Jobs

Two Big Projects Are In the Twin Cities Area

Apparent low bids totaling $9,865,466 were submitted on 14 trunk highway projects at the April 17 construction letting in the Minnesota Highway Department central offices, St. Paul, the department announces.

The projects involve grading and surfacing of about 40 miles, construction of 18 bridges, a scenic overlook in St. Paul across from Fort Snelling, traffic signs and building removals.

On the biggest project, Foley Bros., Inc., St. Paul, Oster-Pederson, Minneapolis and Markham Construction Co., Inc., St. Paul, in a joint venture submitted the apparent low bid of $2,235,620. The job calls for grading, base, concrete paving and bituminous surfacing of 4.4 miles of THs 94 and 169 and construction of eight bridges in Brooklyn Park, Hennepin county.

Central States Construction Co., Crosby, was the apparent low bidder on the second biggest project at $2,242,642 for base, concrete paving and bituminous shoulders on 11.6 miles of TH 94 between one-half mile south of the north Grant county line and .3 mile south of junction of TH 79 west of Evansville, in Douglas and Grant counties.

On another large project, John son Bros. Highway & Heavy Constructors, Inc., Litchfield, submitted the apparent low bid of $2,180,297 for construction of about three miles of the new TH 10 freeway through the north section of the city of Anoka and four bridges. This project connects with a section now being built from Park street to a new bridge over the Rum river, which is slated for completion about July 1.

Marshall County Red Cross Plans Swimming Changes

Participating Communities Will Be Asked To Share In Expense of Program

Basic plans for the 1964 swimming program held at the Old Mill State Park were made at a special meeting of the executive board of the Marshall County Red Cross chapter April 21 at Warren.

Due to lack of funds in the chapter, a decision was made to contact communities participating in the swimming program to pay a proportionate share according to number of participants.

John Hildenbrand, county Red Cross treasurer, reported total expenditures for last year's swimming program of $1,351.22. Approximately 800 persons received instruction under the program.

A fall fund drive is planned instead of the usual spring drive held in March. Any community chest or organization wishing to send in its donation before this time may send it to John Hildenbrand, Warren.

A meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p. m. May 4 at the Ernest Jewell home at the Old Mill State Park. Community representatives and Red Cross board members will be present.

Forest Nursery Director Retires

Ray Clement Served State Forestry Division 38 Years

After 38 years of conservation work, Ray Clement, the head of Minnesota's forest nursery program, has retired ending one of the most distinguished careers of public service ever recorded by a state employee.

Starting as a seasonal fire patrolman in 1926, he became a full time employee of the Minnesota Forest Service (forerunner of the present state forestry division) a year later after graduation from the University's forestry school.

A veteran of the First World War, Clement served overseas with the infantry in France, Belgium and Germany in 1918 and 1919.

In 1931 he was given the job of developing a state forest nursery program in order to speed reforestation. Starting with nothing, Clement supervised the building of facilities producing up to 50 million trees annually.

He was a prime mover in the development of the state's Christmas tree industry, and today Minnesota is the largest producer of such trees in the nation.

47 Seek to Head Bemidji College

A field of 47 applicants for the post of president at Bemidji State college has been narrowed to six, according to Herbert E. Olson, regional director of the Minnesota State College board, who is chairman of the board's selection committee for the BSC president. Olson made this report to the state college board meeting at Mankato Friday and said that the next step in the selection was for the BSC faculty to name a committee to review the applications. The regional director wanted it made clear that the door was not shut on more applicants or on the 41 applicants who did not pass the first screening of the board.

HERE'S TACONITE PROGRESS! Preliminary plans for U. S. Steel's proposed Minnesota taconite plant move forward — winter or no winter! Engineers run surveyors' lines locating one of the big buildings at the plant U. S. Steel is planning to construct soon after the passage of the taconite constitutional amendment. The swath cut in the aspen forest gives some idea of the immensity of the structure. In the insert, engineers Abe Mathews of Abe Mathews Engineering Company, Hibbing, C. R. Burton, chief engineer, U. S. Steel Minnesota Ore Operations, and John B. White Jr., Swindell-Dressler Corporation, Pittsburgh, work out design details for the U. S. Steel taconite plant. Miles of blueprints will be required before the 4,000,000 ton taconite plant can be built.

20 Deaths Due to Firearms in 1963

195 Accidents in State Due to Use of Firearms

There were 195 firearm accidents in Minnesota last year, according to a report from the Conservation department's firearms safety officer, Don Murray. Included in the total were 20 fatalities.

In 142 cases the shooter injured himself while only 53 accidents were caused by a second person. In 129 cases the weapon was discharged unintentionally.

Most numerous types of accidents were those where the victim was mistaken for game, the shooter stumbled or fell, or the weapon was believed to be unloaded.

Out of 65 cases reporting on visibility at the time of the shooting, in 48 the weather was classed as clear. Most victims were within 10 yards of the muzzle of the firearm when it was discharged.

Murray said the firearms accident rate for Minnesota has changed very little during the past three years.

Loyalty Day

Throughout the course of a year we observe an increasing number of days set aside for particular observances — New Year's Day, Memorial Day, Independence Day, Armistice Day, Labor Day and countless other special days both religious and non-sectarian. In each of these much of the history of the day is lost in festivities of the day itself.

At the request of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the 85th Congress of the United States officially designated May 1 as Loyalty Day in America and the resolution was signed into law by President Eisenhower on July 18, 1958. It is a relatively new observance, but the purpose for which it stands is as old as our nation itself.

For some time the communists in America had staged May Day celebrations and demonstrations on May 1. Members of the VFW, aggravated by the publicity given to the communist demonstrations, decided it was time to counteract the propaganda program. Loyalty Day was the result, and it has grown in both scope and impact.

Loyalty itself is explained in a Loyalty Day pamphlet circulated by the VFW. "Loyalty means faithful and enthusiastic allegiance to our high ideals. It means the willingness to give strong, constant support to this nation's real forte—the one outstanding characteristic that identifies Americans everywhere around the globe, and this is—freedom.

"Loyalty is the mortar that binds firmly the foundation stones upon which stand all of our inherited rights. Loyalty lends strength to our freedom of religion, to the unity of our national family, to the rights of the individual, to our representative President and Congress and to the laws of our nation. The word loyalty, therefore, means your championing and mine of our one great cause—the American way of living."

Loyalty Day will be observed a day late in Thief River Falls this year, but as a result it will be given added emphasis. The VFW holds its Ninth District convention here Saturday and Sunday, and Loyalty Day is the theme for the Saturday program. Included will be a parade at 4 p. m. We commend the Veterans of Foreign Wars for their full-fledged support of Americanism. We agree with the organization when it says, "Let's run up the Stars and Stripes and get back to some solid, fundamental, outspoken and two-fisted Americanism."

To Vote or Not To Vote

Registration rules for elections may keep as many as one-third of the nation's voting public away from the polls in this year's election. This is the opinion of Alfred Balk, writing recently is "Today's Health" magazine.

The 1960 presidential campaign, one of the closest in history in terms of popular vote, saw only 63.9 per cent of all Americans of voting age participate in it. The record is still worse in elections in which the presidency is not involved.

The president of the American Heritage Foundation states: "Despite modern communications and active party organizations which quickly make citizens aware of the issues, 37 states still require one-year residence in the state, one demands two years and 12 call for six months. County and precinct requirements are often just as unreasonable. In Philadelphia, where our constitution was born, for instance, and in other cities you can lose your vote merely by moving across the street to a new precinct a month or so before election day. This situation, to my mind, is a national scandal."

It seems that voter procedure and registration should be changed to conform more to the fast pace at which our nation is moving today. Our mobile population makes the long-standing election laws obsolete in this day and age. Campaigns to eliminate voter apathy are needed, but changes in election laws would make for far more representative elections.

It's Refreshing

Area residents who took time to visit Lincoln high school last Friday when the state-area music festival was in progress should have been impressed by what they saw in several ways. First, of course, was the excellence in musicianship which the contestants displayed.

Also impressive, to a very high degree, was the manner in which the participants conducted themselves. There is the usual noise and confusion which accompanies any gathering of a large number of people in the confined area of a building filled with activity. But even this noise and confusion was somewhat subdued from what one might expect to find when more than a thousand teenagers get together.

Those students who gathered here Friday were among the best students in their respective schools. They have exceptional talent, the desire to do their best and the courage to face competition. These are all excellent attributes which will stand them well when they leave school and become full-time citizens.

People visiting the contest could not help but be impressed by the behavior of the students during the sometimes long periods between competition or while waiting for others from their schools to compete. Their "Sunday best" dress was exemplary as was their general grooming and appearance. Respect that they showed for Lincoln high school faculty members assisting at the event was also noteworthy.

While these were the better students in all of the schools, a considerable amount of credit must be given to the music directors who brought these youngsters to the contest. Their training, guidance and discipline were important factors in the conduct of their students. Many of the performances by the students were of adult caliber, which speaks well for the students themselves and for their instructors.

We can't recall any of the music festival crowds creating any disturbance while in the city. This is to their credit—Students like these are truly a refreshing group to watch.

Our Nation's Shame

The rate at which we are killing and crippling our people on the highways is certainly one of our nation's greater shames. Essential as it is to our way of life, the automobile is one of the biggest contributors to loss of life and limb that any society has ever known.

Since the first horseless carriage bounced its way down cobblestone streets, more than 60 million Americans have been killed or injured by automobiles. In 1963 automobile accidents in the United States were responsible for more deaths than the U. S. armed forces suffered in the entire Korean War. This is a senseless waste of life, of property and of time.

Last year a total of 42,700 men, women and children were killed on our streets and highways. More people have died on the highways than on our nation's battlefields and more have been injured in auto accidents than in all the world's wars combined.

While this is a national problem, it is also a state problem, an area problem, a community problem and—probably most important—a personal problem. All the studies, slogans, campaigns, traffic enforcement and other implements of safety last year succeeded only in pushing the accident toll to the highest mark in history.

Safety on our nation's streets and highways will be attained only when every individual driver makes it his responsibility to keep his car in good mechanical condition, to drive only when physically and mentally fit to do so, to observe rules of courtesy, to concentrate on being alert, to drive as conditions permit and to take the time not to take a chance. The saddest part of an accident is the death or injury of innocent parties. There is no substitute for caution and full control of a vehicle at all times.

Freedom and Equality

Our nation's laws have been designed to give the minority the right to be heard, and this is as it should be. Protection of the minority is a fundamental to freedom. But the fact that the minority has a right to be heard does not necessarily mean that the minority should have the power to control issues which arise.

Publisher Tom Anderson of "Farm and Ranch" magazine had some stern words in a recent issue of his publication. He said, "One of the eternal verities is that there is no such thing as equality. All men are deserving of equal treatment before the law and are equal in Heaven and Hell, but not in between. Hitler, Tito, Mao Tse Tung, Castro and Bobby Kennedy have tried to make all men equal—under them. Free men are not equal, and equal men are not free. As Bobby Kennedy's assistant, J. Edgar Hoover has said, 'The Negro situation is being exploited fully and continuously by communists on a national scale.'"

While this indictment of Attorney General Kennedy sounds severe, Anderson does make a good point when he states that ". . .free men are not equal and equal men are not free." All men should have the opportunity to succeed according to their abilities. They should not be guaranteed success because of the color of their skin any more than they should be suppressed for the same reason.

After having written this column in the Times for more than a third of a century, we are going to call it quits, for awhile at least, as we (the wife and I) are leaving Saturday to establish our home in a retirement center on a lake in the Southwest Minneapolis suburban area. It will be hard to quit writing, and we may send up an occasional column after we get settled. In the meantime, goodbye to all of you readers, and thanks for the nice things many of you have said concerning our feeble efforts.

Supreme Court Turns Down Rail Union Plea

The Supreme Court cleared the way Monday for the nation's railroads to begin eliminating the jobs of firemen under the decision of a compulsory arbitration board.

The refusal of the court to hear an appeal from the rail unions on the arbitration means that the layoffs can begin May 7. Up to 30,000 firemen could eventually be eliminated and the status of 19,000 other crewmen was still in doubt.

The first to be dismissed under the arbitration will be diesel firemen with less than two years' service. In addition, the railroads are entitled to cut back on the number of firemen by not replacing those who retire, transfer or otherwise give up their jobs.

The court decision against hearing arguments in the dispute came five days after President Johnson won a strike-averting agreement from the railroads and the unions on a series of other work issues which were unaffected by the arbitration.

The railroads claim that the elimination of the jobs will save an estimated $250 million a year. The arbitration is binding over the next two years.

Traffic Mishaps for 1963 Analyzed

Cars Travel 24 Million Miles for Each Fatality

During 1963 motorists in Minnesota drove about 24,000,000 miles for each of the 653 fatal accidents occurring that year, according to a year-end report prepared by the Minnesota Highway Department.

The year 1963 is considered the bloodiest in Minnesota history for traffic accidents with 798 persons killed and over 41,100 injured. And in comparing the increase in accidents with other traffic growth, the involvement of motor vehicle accidents is growing more rapidly than the increase in exposure.

Preliminary estimates show that the number of motor vehicle miles traveled in Minnesota last year reached 15,471,000,000 miles, about a three percent increase over 1962's total of 15,029,000,000 miles.

Yet during the same 12 months, the number of motor vehicle traffic deaths jumped 15 percent from 695; the death rate per 100,000,000 vehicle miles also jumped about 13 percent from 4.6 to 5.2. The fatal accident rate moved up eight percent from 3.9 to 4.2. The only bright spot in the picture is that both of these involvement rates are below area and national rates as shown by the National Safety Council.

These increases resulted in an eight percent increase in the severity rate established by comparing the total fatal accidents plus total personal injury accidents per 100 million vehicle miles of travel. During 1962 there were 153 severe accidents per 100 million vehicle mile while in 1963 this increased to 165 personal injury and fatal accidents per 100 million miles of travel.

MAIN STREET, U.S.A.

BY BERT MILLS
Washington Editor of "National Publisher"

Ever stop to think how many people are representing you in Washington, in addition to your two Senators and one Representative.

Of course, in the largest sense the entire government represents the people. The man in the White House is "our President" whether we approve or disapprove of what he does.

If most of us don't like what the President does to represent us, we can make a change every four years. We can oust not only the President but thousands of others who hold high office by his appointment, plus still others named to serve under the Presidential appointees.

But the real story of who represents you in Washington goes far beyond the White House and Congress, and indeed beyond the government itself. You are represented at the seat of government in ways that might not have occurred to you.

Suppose you are a businessman. Big or little, you have many representatives in Washington. No matter whether you run a bank, a store or a garage, there are people on the banks of the Potomac looking after your interests.

You may not even hold membership in the group representing you. Not all bankers belong to the American Bankers association nor all doctors to the American Medical association. Nevertheless A. B. A. speaks for bankers generally and A. M. A. for physicians generally.

Unions Speak for All Workers

Suppose you are a blue collar worker. You may or may not belong to a union but irrespective there is somebody in D. C. who is representing you. A.F.L.-C.I.O. speaks for labor generally, including the unorganized.

Even if you work for the federal government in your hometown—and one employee out of every seven is on Uncle Sam's payroll—you have spokesmen serving you in Washington.

Take mailmen, for example. Most of them belong to the National Association of Letter Carriers, which is one of the most effective lobbying organizations in Washington, with a marble place as national headquarters, within sight of the U. S. Capitol.

Outside the Post Office, most government employees are not not union members. Nevertheless, there is an American Federation of Government Employees which speaks for U. S. Workers generally.

Ladies Represented Too

Not a businessman, not a professional man, not a wage earner, not an employee of the federal government. No matter, you are represented too, probably in several ways. Let's say you are just a housewife who is not a "joiner."

You don't belong to any club tied in with the National Federation of Women's Clubs. You are not a member of the League of Women Voters, the American Association of University Women, or even your local Parent-Teachers association. You don't even belong to a garden club.

Madam, you have your spokesmen or spokeswomen too. Did your father, husband or son ever serve in the armed forces If so, there are a number of veterans organizations watching out for you, whether or not the ex-serviceman ever joined the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars or other group.

Do you own any stock in any company If so, you are represented a number of ways in Washington. Do you have any money in a savings and loan association If so, you have people at work in your behalf in the nation's capital. Do you own a car? You may not belong to an auto club but nonetheless the American Automobile association is working for you.

Do you smoke or drink? Read magazines or books? Travel? Sing? Dance? Fly? There are people and organizations watching over all these interests in Washington. Indeed, you do not even have to be alive to be represented, for the funeral directors are organized and on guard at the capital.

Press Represents All

If by some chance you still think you are not represented in Washington except by government people, consider the press corps. There are more than 2,000 men and women of the fourth estate serving you from Washington, including those in radio and television.

Some might argue that newspapermen represent their editors and not the public. This claim will not stand examination. If a paper does not serve the public, it will not last long. Newspapers have no divine right to continued exist

The press audits the government, 24 hours a day. It does not always get all the facts all at once. But by and large, the truth will out, and for the public's benefit. Newspapermen do not just serve editors—they also serve everybody up and down every Main Street in U. S. A.

Science Fair at Moorhead May 1, 2

State Event to Include 120 Student Projects

Minnesota scientists and future scientists will converge on Moorhead State College Friday and Saturday, May 1 and 2, when the Minnesota Academy of Science, the Minnesota State Science Fair and a Science Youth Congress all will meet on the campus. Sessions and displays for all groups are scheduled in Hagen Hall.

Educators, students, scientists, engineers and businessmen will participate in a series of scientific discussions during the Minnesota Academy of Science program. These meetings are open to the public and will include discussions of a wide variety of topics, including "Science and the News", "An Inquiry Into Life", and "Men, Women and Livestock".

About 120 projects, which rated top honors in a series of regional science fairs throughout the state, will be exhibited during the State Science Fair. Public viewing is scheduled in Hagen hall Friday evening and Saturday morning. The top project in this competition will receive the Croxton Award, and the top ten high school projects will be given gold medal awards.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

"Don't forget Tippy's treat!" Even if we're a bit late leaving for church, Susan and Mark must take their paper bag of surprises for Tippy the squirrel. Tippy lives in the park beside the church, and he's one of many happy, heart-warming things that our family looks forward to on Sundays.

We are rearing our children in the Christian faith because we know from our own experience how much it means to young people growing up. Without a right sense of values, youngsters are so likely to get into trouble.

Already Susan and Mark are learning to trust in the loving protection of God, and to turn to Him with their little problems. Through the stories of Jesus they are beginning to understand what it means to follow Him. We pray that this childhood pattern will strengthen and form a steadfast foundation for the whole of their lives. No parents could ask for more.

Approves Petitions for Non-Conforming Residential Building

Two hearings were held without objectors making an appearance when the Thief River Falls city council met in special session Wednesday evening. As a result of the hearings, two petitions for non-conforming construction permits in the residential area were granted by the council.

First of the two petitions was by Frank Fortier, owner of Frank's Cities Service at 505 Riverside avenue. Present Formal Bid For Junior College

Delegation Has Hearing Before Jr. College Board

Thief River Falls' formal bid for a state junior college to be located here was presented to the state junior college board on Thursday. Dr. A. E. Jacobson made the presentation for the Thief River Falls Junior College committee and was supported in his presentation by M. R. Hankerson, local committee chairman, Dr. O. D. Beich and Donald L. Olson.

In addition to the oral presentation of the community's formal bid, the delegation submitted to the junior college board a prepared list of reasons why a college is needed in Northwestern Minnesota and why it should be located here.

Cited in the list were three studies which have named Thief River Falls as a logical junior college site. These include the 1950 report by the Minnesota Commission on Higher Education, the 1956 study prepared jointly by the Governor's Committee on Higher Education and the State Department of Education entitled "The Junior College in Minnesota", and the 1961 survey conducted by the Bureau of Field Studies of the University of Minnesota."

Success of the area vocational-technical school was also noted in the presentation. The school presently has students from 103 communities other than Thief River Falls enrolled in the courses offered, indicating that this city is centrally located in an area which needs further higher educational opportunity.

Public schools in this area have more than 1,500 students in the present ninth grade classes. Applying a formula (which relates percentage of students who may attend to the distance they would have to travel) to this total results in an estimate of a freshman class of more than 300 students for a junior college.

The local junior college committee has a large file of letters and resolutions from many neighboring communities, all listing Thief River Falls as the logical site for a junior college. Transportation facilities, including highways, bus lines, railroads and airlines, all funnel toward Thief River Falls, the report notes.

Delegates report that members of the state junior college board asked a number of questions about the community and area situation and expressed appreciation of the presentation. Also appearing before the state group the same day was a delegation from International Falls, suggesting a junior college in that community.

Twice the Varsity Bards have won the male chorus trophy at the Manitoba music festival. They also represented the state of North Dakota at the National Federation of Music clubs convention at Kansas City in 1961.

Theda Stoskopf Weds Charles Arlen Booren

Theda Teresa Stoskopf and Charles Arlen Booren, both of this city, were united in marriage at St. Bernard's Catholic church on April 11, with Rev. James Ditzler performing the double-ring ceremony. One-hundred guests were present as the vows were repeated before an altar decorated with baskets of white gladioli and yellow mums. The church organist played wedding music, and the girls choir of the church sang.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Stoskopf of Warroad. Parents of the groom are the Charles A. Boorens of this city.

Mr. Stoskopf gave his daughter in marriage. She was attired in a floor-length gown of white satin with pearl applique and full-length sleeves. Her nylon net veil was attached to a pearl crown. The pearl necklace which she wore was a gift from the groom. She carried a crescent bouquet of yellow roses, with streamers and yellow rosebud accents.

Maid of honor was the bride's sister, Beth Marie Stoskopf of Warroad. Lynda Kay Booren of this city, the groom's sister, attended as bridesmaid. Their gowns were of blue nylon taffeta with lace overlaid satin bodices, and wrist-length sleeves. Crowns were of nylon maline veiling over a braided crown of mock pearls, and matched their blue shoes. They wore white wrist-length gloves. Their cross pendant necklaces were gifts of the bride, and their crescent bouquets were of yellow mums.

Flower girl Mary Beth Sperling of Petersburg, N. D., niece of the bride, wore a street-length dress of white, designed with pleated skirt. She wore a white net veil, white gloves and shoes, and carried a basket of yellow roses.

Charles E. Hoard, Thief River Falls, the groom's nephew, carried the rings.

Best man was William R. Jordan, Bemidji, and the groomsman was Clifford Strand of this city. Ushering the guests were Stuart Nelson and Harry D. Kling, both of Thief River Falls.

Mrs. Stoskopf chose a beige suit with tan accessories, and Mrs. Booren wore a blue ensemble with blue coat and printed blue dress with white accessories and a white and blue veil. Both had corsages of white carnations and yellow roses. Mrs. G. W. Booren, grandmother of the groom, was also among the guests.

A dinner reception was given for 100 guests and held in the church parlors after the ceremony. Hostesses were Mrs. Charles Botten and Mrs. Sally Thorson. The four-tiered cake, topped with a wedding bell and a miniature bridal couple, was trimmed with blue and yellow flowers and wedding bells on each tier. It was baked and decorated by Mrs. Ernest Ulrich of St. Hilaire, and cut and served by Mrs. Harry Stoskopf and Mrs. Eldon Milander, both of Warroad, and both aunts of the bride. At the gift table were Elaine Hinden, Joyce Lokken, and Mrs. Jerry Melgani, of this city, while Mary Jo Milander of Warroad, a cousin of the bride, attended the guest book and Mrs. William Jordan of Bemidji served the punch. Waitresses were Carolyn Lambert of Grand Forks, N. D. and Mary Grabanski and Jane Neado, both of this city. Preparation of food was by Mrs. Kenneth Maldment, Mrs. Myron Haroldson and Mrs. Robert Looker.

Guests were from Newfolden, Swift, Warroad, Roseau, Bemidji, Baudette, Holt, and Thief River Falls, Minn., and from Petersburg and Grand Forks, N. D.

Miss Stoskopf is a 1961 graduate of the Warroad high school and is employed as a waitress at the Fountain Cafe. Mr. Booren, a 1957 graduate of Lincoln high school, is a lineman with NW Bell Telephone. The couple is at home at the Evergreen Motel in Roseau following a brief honeymoon trip to Grand Forks, N. D.

"Times" Hosts Retirement Party For Norm Holens

Management of the Thief River Falls Times hosted a retirement party for Norman A. Holen, Times city editor and Mrs. Holen on Tuesday evening. A steak supper was served in the Terrace room of the Rex cafe at 6:30 p.m. with the 33 attending including Times employees and their wives. Mrs. Holen received a corsage and Mr. Holen a white carnation boutonniere.

Paying tributes to Mr. Holen and his 34 years of service to the newspaper were Bill Dahlquist, retired editor, and Marvin Lundin, editor. Gift presentations were made to the honored couple on behalf of the Times employees, and Clarence Mattson, business manager, presented them with a portable typewriter and other gifts from the company. Mr. Holen and his wife responded with thanks.

Daughters Of Trinity Banquet Stresses "Prayer"

Over 375 women and girls of Trinity Lutheran church in attendance at the Daughters of Trinity banquet heard Mrs. T. H. Megorden, Bemidji, tell them the importance of prayer partners — "how much it means to know that someone is praying for you."

The painting, "The Praying Hands" by Durer was the inspiration for the theme, "Hands in Prayer", for the program and the decorations. Durer was inspired to paint the hands of his friend in prayer in appreciation for his sacrifice—he had toiled with his hands to earn a living for the two of them while Durer studied art. The day came when Durer was able to support them with his paintings and his friend went back to art school only to find that his hands had become gnarled and stiff and were not able to handle the brushes anymore.

Thirty-two 10-inch copies of the hands tooled in copper surrounded by yellow roses, and candles decorated the tables. Another copy, 2 feet in height was highlighted during the program.

Miss Louise Anderson, the toastmistress, presented gifts to: the youngest daughter present, Mary Kay Golden; the youngest S. S. pupil, Cindy Joe Restad; two mothers with 9 children who tied for most children, Mrs. Carl Jorde and Mrs. Johanna Furuseth; 3 Sunday School teachers, Miss Ruth Mikkelson, who taught Sunday School in Trinity for over 30 years and to Mrs. Clarence Isaacson and Mrs. Clarence Kvemo for 17 years of teaching in Trinity; and to Miss Lisa Luoma, the Lincoln Exchange student from Finland, the farthest from home.

DRUGS DURING PREGNANCY

Q. I have three children and am expecting another. In the past I took vitamins, calcium, sleeping pills and what have you without giving it a thought. Now, after the thalidomide tragedy, I hesitate to take anything. What drugs are safe during pregnancy?

A. The thalidomide tragedy exposed a danger incapable of prediction by any known drug-testing method and one not previously recognized. However, what happened with thalidomide should be placed in proper perspective. The vast majority of drugs are safe for use during pregnancy. It just makes sense, however, for the expectant mother to take only such drugs as are necessary and only those prescribed by a physician. This, of course, is good advice in general.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the Kitchen of

MRS. OLE J. NESS

If you are timid about trying a sponge cake since it's so often thought of as being "tricky", you housewives can take heart and go right ahead with this one. Mrs. Ness, who gave us this recipe, says that it's practically "foolproof" if directions are followed exactly.

There's a versatility about sponge cake, and with egg prices so attractive to the housewife at present, you'll surely want to bake one for spring or summer dessert. Served with ice cream, whipped cream or thick sauce, alone or in combination with fruit or fruit sauce, it is both attratice and different.

FLUFFY SPONGE CAKE

6 eggs, separated
1½ cups sugar
1½ cups cake flour, sifted
6 tablespoons cold water
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1½ teaspoons baking powder
2 teaspoon salt

Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored. Gradually add the sugar and three tablespoonfuls of the water, alternately, beating well. Blend the flour and remaining water alternately into the egg yolk mixture. Add lemon juice and rind. In a separate bowl, beat the egg whites until frothy. Add baking powder and salt, and beat until they form peaks. Gently fold into the egg yolk mixture. Fold only enough to mix...NO beating! Pour into an UNGREASED angelfood pan and bake at 325 degrees for 65 minutes. Invert pan and cool. Frost, if desired.

Crocheting tablecloths, spreads, and afghans takes skill, time and perserverance, and Mrs. Ness must posses them all; she has made several of each of these items and has made a number of large doilies and pot-holders for gifts. Among her other interests are baking and cooking. The flowers with which her husband is so successful provide much enjoyment also, along with reading, music and TV. Fishing is a favored sport of Mr. Ness. Now in retirement after having served for some time as superintendent of the local sewage treatment plant, he realizes the dream of so many men who are still part of the workaday world... he takes off to a lake for fishing whenever the spirit moves him to do so. Mrs. Ness prefers the comforts of home.

FORMS of art in a number of fashions will be shown at the third annual Lincoln high school art show in the school cafeteria on Saturday and Sunday. Some of the oil paintings to be displayed are shown in the background.

Third Annual LHS Art Exhibit to Open On Saturday

Many Art Forms Will Be Shown At Two-Day Show In School Cafeteria

Third annual Lincoln high school art exhibit has been scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, May 9 and 10, at the Lincoln high school cafeteria. Art work on display will be highly varied, according to Donald Lerud, senior high school art instructor.

Included in the show will be paintings, drawings, prints, sculpture, ceramics and three dimensional projects. The exhibit is the culmination of efforts put forth by the students participating in the junior and senior high school art departments during the school year.

Featured at the show will be wood block prints by Margaret Mosley and Cathy Simon, selected for the national high school print show and currently on display at the Metropolitan Museum of art in New York City. Prints are made by a multiple process and can be produced in quantity from original blocks of carved wood.

The exhibit is open to the public from 1 to 5 p. m. on both Saturday and Sunday and coffee will be served. All interested persons are encouraged to attend the show and view the art work on display.

Foreign Students Visiting in State

40 to Live Nine Months on Farms In Minnesota

Forty foreign students representing nine nations recently arrived in Minnesota, and have been placed with host families in 25 different counties in the state.

These students are participating in a special work-study program here in Minnesota, according to LaVern A. Freeh, head of the department of agricultural short courses—the department in the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture administratively responsible for the program.

These students spend nine months living and working on a Minnesota farm and three months (one University quarter) attending the University. Then they have the opportunity to travel for six to nine months in other sections of the United States.

This two-way program began in 1949 with Sweden and since that date 315 students have come to Minnesota, while 23 Institute of Agriculture students have gone to Europe.

The program is coordinated in each county by the county agent and the nearest vocational agriculture instructor working with the host family to help plan a work-study program for the student while he is on the host farm. The vocational agriculture instructor visits the student periodically.

The 1964-65 group includes 24 participants from West Germany; four from Denmark; four frm Finland; three from England; one from Kenya; one from Lebanon; one from Tanganyika; one from Jordan-Jerusalem; and one from the Netherlands.

AAA Honored for Membership Gain

The Minnesota State Automobile Association was presented a national award today by the American Automobile Association for outstanding contribution to membership in 1963.

Arthur C. Tomlinson, Minneapolis, executive secretary of Minnesota AAA, reveled that the association increased its membership from 97,769 in 1954 to 322,928 in 1964.

It is significant, he pointed out, that the State Association ranks sixth in the nation in membership despite the fact that Minnesota is 18th among all states in population.

Kennedy Library Fund Head Named

Robert Short to Direct Campaign in Minnesota

Eugene Black, national chairman of the John F. Kennedy Library, has announced the appointment of Robert E. Short, Minneapolis trucking executive, as state chairman for Minnesota.

Mr. Short, who is President of Admiral-Merchants Motor Freight, Inc., will be in over-all charge of the Library's fund drive in Minnesota.

The Kennedy Library, to be built in Boston, Massachusetts, on a site along the Charles River donated by Harvard University, is the leading national memorial to the late President. It will be built by volunteer contributions from the American people, at a cost of $10 million.

President Lyndon B. Johnson is Honorary Chairman of the Kennedy Library, with Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy as President and Mrs. Jacqueline B. Kennedy and Senator Edward M. Kennedy, of Massachusetts, as Vice Presidents.

When completed, the Library will house the personal papers, mementoes and other objects associated with the Kennedy Administration. It also will contain films, video and audio tapes, and other memorabilia designed to recall to future Americans the dramatic highlights of the martyred President's career.

As is the case with the Hoover, Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower libraries, the Kennedy Library will be operated by the federal government. Unlike other Presidential libraries, however, the Kennedy memorial is the first to be erected in a large metropolitan area.

May 15 Is Last Day to Sign up in Wheat Plan

Co. ASC Chairman Knutson Explains Certificate Plan

Wheat growers who take part in the voluntary 1964 wheat program by meeting at least minimum diversion and other program provisions will be eligible for marketing certificates, Winton Knutson, chairman of the Pennington county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, said today.

The domestic certificates — representing the producer's share of the wheat allocated for U. S. food —will have a value of 70 cents per bushel; they will cover 45 per cent of the normal wheat production of the farm allotment. The export certificates will be valued at 25 cents per bushel, representing wheat for export, and these, also, will cover up to 45 per cent of the farm allotment's normal production.

In no case, however, will the certificates cover more than the normal production of the acreage determined for the farm. In case of underplanting or extra diversion, certificates will first cover the "domestic" portion and then the remaining "export" portion.

Mr. Knutson points out that the wheat program's diversion payment, available on acreage shifted into a conserving use, will depend on a grower's diverting as many acres as he specifies when he signs up to participate. The diversion payment per acre will be based on 20 per cent of the county's wheat loan rate, on the farm's normal yield.

The grower would be eligible for the marketing certificates even if he did not divert all the acreage he agreed to, provided he met the program's minimum acreage diversion and other provisions.

Growers will be eligible for wheat price support loans and purchases if the farms wheat acreage is not in excess of the farm allotment, however to be eligible for certificates he must sign in the voluntary 1964 wheat program. Price support loans will be based $1.43 per bushel in Pennington county.

The chairman suggests that any questions about the 1964 voluntary wheat program be taken up with the ASC county office. The deadline for signing up the first step in qualifying as a program participant is May 15.

The Library Corner

BY VIRGINIA GJERNES

Your attention, please!

This little corner is full of newsy notes for your perusal!

Jot down both these dates so you'll be sure and remember that:

May 5th library closed...all day, all evening!

May 6th...The Varsity Bards, all evening!

Now, to elaborate a little!

The staff and members of the board of directors of the library will attend the Minnesota Library association's district meeting at Bemidji, all day Tuesday. This meeting is our "classroom" period. Staff and board members learn "what's new in library policies" and are given pointers on how to carry out these policies. Bemidji librarians and board members will serve as hosts for the seminar.

Hannis Smith and Emily Mayne, library division, state board of education, will report on the new "Library Services and Construction Act", here will also be a prominent guest speaker on the agenda. Staff and board members should come away from the district meetings well informed on national library happenings...ready for another year in which to try to better serve their clients...you, the borrowers.

The next important date (the one you should make, and keep) is the "Varsity Bards" doings in Lincoln high school auditorium, Wednesday at 8 p.m. These young men will be leaving the University of North Dakota campus soon to officially represent their state at the New York World's Fair. Known far and wide as "The Governor's Chorus", these 65 male voices sing as one bird! The director James T. Fudge, well known in the music world, presents a concert you'll never forget. It isn't often we have the opportunity to hear an all male chorus of this caliber, so lets's make the most of it.

Tickets for this outstanding event are on sale at your Library, or they may be purchased from members of "Friends of the Library", the organization sponsoring the concert. Proceeds will be used by the members for some worthwhile project, or objects, for the library. By the way, tickets are also available from members of the junior high chorus (under the direction of the capable Bryant Ulseth) and from Northrup and St. Bernard students. Price Nominal...absolutely nominal. $1.00, adults...50 cents, students. "The Bards" will be guests at dinner preceeding the concert, with "Friends of the Library" as hosts.

So...the 5th and 6th are dates to remember. Please do!

Your library still has books...in spite of the somewhat crowded calendar of events. Check the following list and decide which one you want to read...first!

Close on the heels of the new sought after "Convention" comes "'68" by Peter Scenevola. You'll thrill to this novel of presidential politics. It is dramatic...and it could be true! How would you react if it really did happen, that which happens in "'68"?

Martin Caidin has come forth with "Marooned". What a book! If space and moon travel is something you're looking forward to...read "Marooned!" and there isn't a desert isle within 'spittin' distance!) There's suspense! The vividly told tale is one of the most exciting in years. The author is well-versed on space age technicalities...(he's written over 40 books dealing with the subject.) You'll find this way at the top of almost everybody's "must read" list...so get here early.

Charles W. Thayer's publisher offers "Checkpoint"...another thriller that is just a "little bit different". This one is the story of a foreign service officer and his experiences. He's asked by the state department to do whatever he can to ease tensions mounting, thereby threatening to trigger a nuclear war. The excitement makes you wish you were there...or else terribly glad you aren't!

There are lots of other new ones, too. Not all are the "thriller" type, some are more down to earth... about love, or ancient civilizations, or gardening.

There are books for the young, the old, the inbetween and the teeny-weeny...they're your books, at your library. They're for your enjoyment and your education. Are you taking advantage of the opportunity you have to read the best and the latest?

Remember May 5 (Library closed; and May 6 (The "Varsity Bards"). Remember, too...there are new books at your library, just waiting to be borrowed.

Sale of Savings Bonds Promoted

"Operation Security", a national program to promote the sale of U. S. savings bonds, has been proclaimed locally by Mayor Orin Green. The proclamation urges citizens to re-examine the opportunity afforded them by bonds and themselves in a manner that contributes so importantly to the greater security of their nation."

This proclamation also notes that the security of the people is contingent in great measure upon personal financial stability and that a nationwide effort is being made to focus even greater attention upon the role of savings bonds in building security for the individual and for the nation.

(Karlstad Advocate)

The final $5,000 was paid on the original mortgage of the Karlstad Memorial hospital this past week and the institution, which stands as a monument to what a cooperative effort on the part of the citizenry of this area can do when they put forth their best efforts, is now free of debt.

Construction of the hospital was completed early in 1951 and it was officially opened on January of that year.

Construction Resumed
(Kittson County Enterprise)

Work has started again this spring on the $18 million sugar factory being built at Drayton, N. D. When completed it will be the largest beet sugar factory in this nation.

During the past winter a skeleton force of only 20 workers was employed throughout the winter months. As of last week the number had risen to 150 persons and peak employment this summer will probably reach, or go over the 300 mark.

The plant is due to be in operation the fall of 1965.

Forest Products an Important Crop
(Baudette Report)

Wood products shipped on the from Baudette, Williams and Roosevelt totaled an approximate 800 carloads, according to railroad agents.

Tose 800 cars didn't carry all the forest products. For one thing, most of the pulp cut east of the county line is trucked to the mills at International Falls and Fort Frances. For another thing, Christmas trees must be added to the total—in state forest area seven alone there were nearly 72,000 trees cut on which stumpage was paid to the state. For a third thing, there is cutting of private timber, and of miscellaneous products such as firewood, which don't reach the total values in today's news story.

Those 800 carloads represent about 20,000 cords of wood, stumpage value of $84,000, market value and income to area people of $370,000. Including Christmas trees, the value of the areas forest product marketed last year is estimated at half a million dollars.

Plan Improvements at Roseau Refuge
(Roseau Times-Region)

Tentative plans to enlarge the facilities at the Roseau River Game Refuge and Public Hunting Grounds were reported this week by Refuge and Public Hunting Grounds Manager Jack Jensen. He indicated that plans call for a residence with attached garage and fish-holding tank to be built near the present refuge headquarters.

The work is a project of the fisheries department to facilitate the removal of northerns from the ponds in the winter rescue operation which netted over $75,000 worth of fish last winter and $90,000 the previous winter.

Plans are also believed to include a resident to be stationed at the new facilities which will make the fish rescue operation easier, he said.

To date there has been no more information on plans to expand the size of the refuge area another approximately 30,000 acres, something rumored in the past.

REPORT TO THE PEOPLE

by Governor
KARL ROLVAAG

Is the Midwest section of the United States getting a fair share of the federal research dollar? Those who have been keeping up with the latest news associated with this question will probably reply in the negative. It does seem true that a disproportionate share of the federal research and development dollar is finding its way to the East and West Coast research complexes.

Midwest Governors Act

A few months ago twelve midwest governors decided that it was time federal agencies learned that there is a vast reservoir of brain power and research facilities in our states. At a conference in Omaha last fall we resolved to look into this matter and develop a program to pursuade federal officials to take advantage of what we have to offer. For, as we have learned in the Twin Cities area, the phenomenal success of the electronics industry is a good indication of what can happen with a bit of federal impetus.

Top Offer

Minnesota has managed to keep in the forefront of the movement to make better use of the educational institutions, the research laboratories, and the industrial potential of the Upper Midwest. In spite of the intense competition from the electronics and industrial centers of the East and the West, Minnesota has successfully acquired a goodly share of the research and development dollar that is helping to put our space program in shape. But, though we have made the top offer and garnered contracts in the past, there is no assurance that we can continue to do so in the future unless certain things change.

Unused Talent

I realize that there is still a large unused reservoir of talents and abilities and imagination and know-how in our state and the other Midwest states. For this reason I am joining with the other to intensify eforts to enhance the use of these talents. Recently, the governors met in Washington, D.C. to discuss strategy and develop a plan of action. Out of this meeting came general agreement that there are two basic reasons for altering the present pattern of allocating or letting federal defense research and development contracts.

Security and Stability

We believe that for the health and security of the nation, it is essential that we do not develop human resources unevenly across the country — with a concentration of brain power and research facilities on the East and West coasts. Further, it is of great importance to the economies and the stability of society in the Midwestern states that contracts be more evenly distributed as we move in a transition process from rural to urban living.

Washington Office?

One suggestion which the Midwest Governors have pondered is the possibility of their opening a regional office in Washington to advance the two point program above. Any such office would of course have to be nonpartisan and serve the twelve state region as a source of information only. Many states including our own have fine representatives in Washington who give excellent representation to their districts. But how many of these representatives have an idea of how to best inform the entire Midwest area of the opportunities open to? Perhaps this regional office might be helpful.

the big IF...

In every state, in nearly every county, of the United States are small towns in which former business areas have become ghost streets.

The scene is a common one: store windows boarded over; former banks used for storage; dust gathering on empty benches on the sidewalks. Yet, in many of those towns there are more people than ever.

The movement of trade came about as a result of better highways, faster automobiles, and POOR PROMOTION by the local merchants. The movement has been largely from villages to county seats and other small cities, which had the benefit of newspaper publicity.

But what about the future? Will super-highways, airplanes, and still faster automobiles begin to sap the commercial activity of the county seats and other flourishing small centers of trade? Not necessarily so.

The local merchant holds many advantages over distant competitors. The local consumers will remain loyal IF he thinks he will get a fair price at home. He will remain loyal IF he knows he can find the variety he seeks at home. He will remain loyal IF he realizes how much he will save in transportation and service costs by trading at home. He will remain loyal IF the local merchant demonstrates that the local store is progressive and up-to-date.

In short, every IF concerning the future of the small city merchant depends upon his use of advertising to keep the local consumer interested and informed on the ever-changing goods and services constantly being offered to the consumer by distant competitors.

Trapshooters Get Awards at Annual Dinner

Plans Made for 1964 Season at Meeting Wednesday Evening

The Thief River Trap Shoot club held its annual awards dinner and banquet at the golf club on Wednesday evening. Plans for the 1964 season, which call for one afternoon and evening of league shooting, that being tentatively set for Wednesdays, will be held in abeyance pending the meeting of the stockholders that will be held this week.

Secretary-treasurer Bob Mattson presented the financial statement of the club for 1963, and while it revealed a decrease in the amount of revenue received, it did show that the club made a net profit of $72.50 last season. Of the total amount of revenue received, $2,804.89, the major share, $2,433.15, came from the sale of ammunition and targets.

With Maynard Troland of radio station KTRF presiding as master of ceremonies, awards were made to the Bjorkman's Clothing squad in recognition of its winning of the trapshooting league championship. Accepting the championship trophy in behalf of Cliff and Dick Bjorkman was Gene Gaer, a team member. Individual trophies were awarded to the squad members—Gaer, Pat Fischer, Steve Skadsen, Tom Ekeren, Sandy Wilson, Wayne Bendickson, Jim Helgeland, and George Mackenroth.

Stan (Sandy) Wilson Jr., with an average of 21.0, won the high-average trophy for the 1963 season, and this trophy, in the absence of Sandy Wilson, was accepted in his behalf by Stan Wilson Sr. and shoulder patches, signifying that the marksman had broken twenty-five straight targets, were awarded to first-time winners, Al Tonder, Merv Skadsen, and Steve Skadsen.

Police Check On Several Incidents

American Flag Stolen, Hit-and-Run Reported

Several incidents, including the theft of an American flag, a school break-in and hit-and-run accident are being investigated by the Thief River Falls police department this week.

On Thursday it was reported that a break-in at Knox elementary school had been committed and that lunch tickets and money was stolen and desks searched by the intruders. Loss was said to total about $67. The same evening a tire and wheel was stolen from a car in the central parking lot and manifold, carburetor and other parts stolen from a used car lot. Friday morning a theft of gasoline from a Glendenning truck was also reported.

On Saturday night a car owned by Carroll Buck and parked in front of his residence at 610 Horace av. N. was struck by an unknown vehicle, causing about $50 damage to the left rear fender and tail light.

On Sunday at about 4:30 p. m. it was reported that occupants of a car bearing Manitoba license plates had taken an American flag from its holder on a street light standard in the city. The car was last seen headed south on highway 32.

Social Security Man Here Tuesday

Agency Explains Law on Retirement Earnings

Mr. Fahlberg of the Grand Forks district office of the Social Security Administration will be in Thief River Falls, at the city Auditorium Tuesday, May 5, from 9 a. m. to 12 noon. Individuals who have questions regarding Social Security or who wish to file claims may contact him on that date.

Last year, 1963, more than 5,700 persons made application for retirement benefits at the Grand Forks social security office, according to Clifford Kittelson, district manager. "But this doesn't mean," he explained, "that all these persons have stopped working. Many are continuing to work in regular jobs, in part-time jobs, or in new jobs."

"It's possible," Mr. Kittelson said, "to work and receive social security benefits at the same time—it depends on the person's age and earnings."

This is one of the reasons the social security people have been promoting the idea of "Inquire Before You Retire." In fact, Kittelson pointed out, social security has prepared a free booklet to explain the details of retirement and social security. The name of the booklet is, "If You Work While You Get Social Security Payments." It tells how social security works, why you don't have to retire completely to get payments, and other pertinent factors.

The Grand Forks office has a supply of these booklets, and anyone may get one by writing or calling the office and asking for Booklet 23. There's no charge for this booklet.

LEADING the Loyalty Day parade on Saturday for the Ninth District Veterans of Foreign Wars was the color guard pictured above. In addition to being the convention parade, the observance was part of the VFW's Loyalty Day program in the United States to counteract demonstrations staged by communist organizations on May 1. Additional parade pictures will be published in the Wednesday edition of the Times.

"LARS AND TINA" was the title of this pantomime number presented in winning fashion by the Deer Park 4-H club at the Pennington county 4-H share-the-fun festival Thursday evening at Lincoln high school. Michael Radniecki played the role of Tina with Gregory Radniecki as Lars.

Invitation Track Meet Here Tues.

An invitational track meet, with squads frm Karlstad, Middle River, Warren, Lancaster, and perhaps Plummer, will be here on Tuesday evening for a night meet at the Lincoln high school field. Starting time for the first event will be at 6:30 P.M.

With the Beaver Relays slated for Bemidji on Saturday, the meet here Tuesday evening should be a fine "tune-up" affair for the track squads.

Timber Wolf Is Shot Wednesday Near R. L. Falls

Art Seibel of rural Red Lake Falls bagged a small timber wolf Wednesday near his farm six miles east of Red Lake Falls. First seen by Seibel from the farm yard, the wolf made the mistake of lingering too long and fell victim to one shot from a .280 caliber rifle.

At first believed to be a large, stray dog, the wolf stopped in a roadside ditch, enabling Seibel to make the shot at about 50 yards. The animal weighed 47 pounds and measured 61 inches from tip of nose to tip to tail. It was the second timber wolf shot lately in the Red Lake Falls area recently.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

This Is The Week

As for as the base ball Prowlers are concerned the coming week will be the week that is. The Prowlers will play, weather permitting, seven games in six days.

This afternoon, Monday, at 4:30 P.M., the Prowlers will play the Red Lake Falls Eagles on the Riverside diamond in Red Lake Falls. On Tuesday, with game time at either 4:30 or 8:00 P.M., depending upon the weather, the Prowlers will play the Roseau Rams on the fairgrounds diamond. On Wednesday, again with game time set for 4:30 P.M. or 8:00 P.M., coach Chuck Johnson will bring his Fertile Falcons here for another game against the Prowlers. The Fertile baseball diamond is being reconditioned and that is the reason why the Falcons are making their second trip up here.

On Thursday, with play ball time at 4:30 P.M., The Prowlers will meet the Bemidji Lumberjacks on the Bemidji high school field. And on Friday afternoon, with game time at 5:00 P.M., the Bemidji club will play a return game with the Prowlers on the fairgrounds diamond.

On Saturday, coach Skay's team will play a doubleheader, meeting the Roseau Rams at Roseau in a 3:00 P.M. game, and then traveling on to Warroad for a game against the Warroad Warriors at 7:30 P.M.

Coach Skay is well-supplied with pitchers, that is if every boy who wears a pitcher's toe-plate is a hurler. Well, this will be the week of decision for the pitching staff—Jack Leedahl, Tommy Cummings, Rick Jensen, Warren Hanestad, Hanestad, Pat Fischer, Dave Erickson, and Billy Dicken.

There Will Be A Playoff

The hockey playoff resolution presented to the State Board of Control by representatives of Regions Seven and Eight, and which called for a playoff game between the regional tournament runners-up teams in each region to determine the Region Three entry in the state high school hockey tourney, was acknowledged and accepted by the State Board. A playoff game will be on the tournament calendar starting next season.

The State Board did not draw up plans for such a playoff game, and these details will have to be completed by the hockey committees of the two regions.

It is probable that the Region Seven tournament, which has been concluding on a Saturday night in previous years, will have to advanced a day or so to accommodate the playoff game. Region Eight has usually concluded its regional tournament on Friday night. Of course the playoff game could be schedule for Monday, the week of the state tournament, but it's probable that the State Board would have some objections. It would be better, for publicity purposes, and state tourney plans, if the playoff game could be held on Saturday night.

And the site of this playoff game will perhaps bring up some problems. Region Seven has a couple of artificial ice rinks, and they would probably favor having the team a slight edge. But there will be a playoff game.

Some Anxious Moments

Ray Thyren's 664-pin aggregate held up as the high total in the handicap singles tournament for the city association members, but not until Red experienced some nervous and anxious moments on Thursday evening.

Red, bowling on April 20, had games of 105, 237, and 192, and carried a handicap of 44 pins. On Thursday evening, Bob Craik of the Ekeren's Pharmacy team, carrying a 140-pin average, and handicap of 112 pins, moved into the singles competition. In his first game, Bob had his southpaw hook sweeping into the pins in spectacular fashion. He opened with four strikes, then ran into a split in the fifth frame. But he laid in five more consecutive strikes, and drew a split following his tenth frame strike, finishing with a 250. With his 112-pin handicap, Bob had an aggregate of 362 pins at the end of his first game, and all he needed to take over first place was a pair of 150-pins plus games.

Bob had three blows in his second game, but came in with 150 score, and was still in contention, needing only a 153-pin to win. But then the roof fell in, or whatever it was, for Bob came in with a 109. He had seven blows, with his only fills being a strike in the fourth, a spare in the fifth, and a strike in the eighth.

But Red had some anxious moments. And now he claims that he is entitled to the most-improved bowler trophy, making the argument that he has only a 172-pin average and yet he bowled at an average of 208 to win the single title. If that isn't improvement he wants to know.

Rolf Wangberg Is Named to Luther Honor Society

Eighty-one Luther College students at Decorah, Iowa, have been named to honor societies for the present academic year, according to President E. D. Farwell.

Twenty-seven students were named to the senior honor society, 25 to the freshman honor society, and 29 to the group of sophomores who have maintained freshman honor society standards.

Membership in the freshman honor society consists of freshmen who have maintained at least a 3.25 average at the completion of the first semester. Among those named was Rolf Wangberg, son of Rev. and Mrs. Reuben Wangberg of Thief River Falls.

Membership in any of the societies entitles a student to special privileges, and each spring recognition is given to the honor students at a special honors convocation and banquet. The banquet this year will be held May 4.

Rep. Langens Bill Seeks Bigger Beet Acreage

"Now is the time for positive action to protect the American sugarbeet industry," said Congressman Odin Langen last Monday as he introduced a bill calling for a 1½-million ton increase in the domestic sugar quota.

"My bill would make it possible to build four or five additional sugarbeet plants in such areas as our own Red River Valley," said Langen, whose bill calls for 300,000 additional tons of sugar for domestic beet expansion in addition to 820,000 tons to be allocated to the present growers. "This would not only provide for needed new expansion but would also protect present growers from a possible cutback and provide these old growers with the possibility of expanding their acreage."

Langen siad it became necessary to introduce this legislation due to the inadequacy of the present quota "and because the door was slammed shut on Valley sugarbeet expansion last week when the final allotments were made under the present Sugar Act." He noted that the last two allocations went to Maine and Arizona.

"Th Maine allocation went to an area that was developed at taxpayer expense by the Area Redevelopment Administration in direct competition with established growing areas. It was the second such year, so it is obvious that we need new legislation if the sugarbeet industry, developed by local initiative, is to endure."

Langen, who has long advocated a greater share of the U. S. sugar consumption for domestic growers, said the increased quota called for in his bill would assure the country of an adequate sugar supply. "We are left the mercy of the World Market under current conditions," he said. "And we are forced to bid at unreasonable price levels to keep a steady flow of sugar to the grocers' shelves. Recent supplies on the World Market have proved inadequate, forcing consumer prices up."

Langen added that "immediate action is needed on this bill if we are to provide the opportunity for additional plants, help our present growers to maintain their present production with the possibility of expansion, and provide an adequate supply of sugar for our needs at a reasonable price."

State Medics Give Cosmetics Advice

Group Tells Public to Discount Miracle Claims

The Minnesota State Medical association advises selecting cosmetics through personal experiment and experience rather than being influenced by "miracle" claims and ingredients.

Cosmetics, says the assoication, fall into two groups. One is the "inactive" group which is used for adornment or beautification, and the other is the "active" group which contains substances which change the structure or function of some part of the skin, nails, or hair.

Inactive cosmetics include cleansing and lubricating creams, lotions, eye make-up, shaving soap, wave set, soaps, et cetera. They are all relatively safe. The active group includes antiperspirants, bleaches, dyes, hormone and vitamin creams, suntan preparations and permanent waves. The Food and Drug Administration classifies these as drugs, says the Association, and they should be treated as such.

These active cosmetics are more likely to produce irritations and/or allergic reactions. These are also the ones that most often have extravagant claims of their prowess and high prices. Their advertising is calculated to appeal to the natural desire of all persons to find a way to be more attractive than they naturally are.

In choosing a makeup, the association advises buying as small an amount as possible and being skeptical until it has lived up to your expectations.

The third leading cause of death in the U. S., strokes take almost 200,000 lives each year, outranked only by heart attacks (500,000 deaths annually) and cancer (275,000), according to Minnesota Heart Association.

EAST SIDE, WEST SIDE . . . They will all be the same at Metropolitan Stadium in 1965 when the $1,300,000 all-steel, double-decked grandstands are built on the east side of the football field. Here Bill Williams, stadium manager (standing), and Bert Rose, Minnesota Vikings general manager, view a balsa-wood model of one-half the new unit. The model is a cutaway to show the heavy steelwork involved in the 1,600-ton grandstand which will be moved in and out of football position via ten underground rails.

Cankerworms Due to Appear During Spring

Those bothersome cankerworms are likely to abound in many parts of Minnesota this spring, but they don't give a particular community much advance notice.

Extension entomologist John Lofgren at the University of Minnesota suggests a close watch on trees starting the next few days, or when leaves are almost fully expanded.

One way, Lofgren says, is to stand under a tree on a birght day and look up through the tree canopy. If cankerworms are numerous, you will see hundreds of small "shot holes" in the leaves.

Lofgren continues that the only recommended practice for cankerworm control and prevention of further defoliation is to spray the foliage of infested trees with DDT, methoxychlor or carbaryl (Sevin).

High pressure sprayers or mist blowers are needed to cover large trees adequately. Heavily wooded areas can be effectively treated by airplane or helicopter.

Cankerworms are slender, greenish or brown, and are often known as "inch worms." They feed on foliage of many species of deciduous trees and shrubs in early spring. There is just one brood of worms each year and they usually reach full growth, quit feeding and leave the trees the first part of June.

But if worms are abundant, Lofgren adds, they can have most of the young leaves chewed bare by then.

A healthy, vigorous tree will leaf out again after a cankerworm attack, and won't suffer too much damage. After several defoliations in successive years, however, there may be some die-back-especially if trees are suffering from lack of moisture or or other adverse growing conditions.

In Tribute

For more than 30 years the writings of Norman Holen have covered news events in the Thief River Falls community. As city editor of the Times he has handled a wide variety of stories, treating each in an impartial manner as a good news editor should. Wednesday's paper was his last edition before going into full-time retirement and moving from the community.

It is difficult for those unfamiliar with the newspaper profession to realize the amount of effort required to produce readable papers with good news content issue after issue after issue. Norm was truly dedicated to his duties and writing was as much of his life as eating or sleeping. This, coupled with his newspaper talent, was the reason he was among the best newsmen in the state.

Not prone to mix readily in the city's social circles, Norm was none-the-less on top of the community's news events. In spite of the fact that he lived in the community more than 30 years, he did not have a large number of close personal acquaintances. All readers of the Times knew of him, however, through his personal column, "Topics of the Times".

An avid reader, Norm was one of the best-informed men in this community on world and national events and works of literary importance. He has an outstanding vocabulary, and often would put aside crossword puzzles because they were too easy. He has a wry sense of humor which often came to the fore as he made sage comments in his column.

It was a privilege to work with him during our three years together on the Times staff. He is an able teacher in the field of journalism and a fine example of how the profession should be practiced. The community is losing a worthwhile citizen and the Times is losing a faithful and devoted employee. We wish Norm well as he enters retirement and tries to get the printer's ink thinnned out of his veins.

An Old "Pro"

President Johnson told 50 corporation presidents and board chairmen at a dinner in the White House last week that, "Actually, we are pro-business — and pro-labor — and pro-the national interest." As a politician, the President is certainly an old "pro".

It's pretty hard to offend anybody by being for God and motherhood. The President told the businessmen that he hoped they would keep a tight rein on prices. He said he would tell labor leaders at a similar dinner next month "...that I know they don't want to push so hard for wage increases this year that they would hurt a lot of people and start a spiral going from their side."

We don't suppose the President would like to see either business or labor start an inflationary spiral—especially this year. This is an election year. But like the supporters of the old Brooklyn Dodgers used to say, "Wait 'til next year." There will probably be a number of old "pros" back on the team.

WPA—Spelled Backward

Formed in September of 1962, the Accelerated Public Works program of the federal government was established to "contribute substantially" to reduction of local unemployment and meet "an essential public need." Eligible for APW (which, incidentally, is WPA spelled backward) funds are all "depressed" areas eligible for Area Redevelopment Administration funds—plus about 300 others.

ARA was established in 1961, for a period of 4 years, to supply federal funds to create jobs in areas of substantial and persistent unemployment and under-employment. Congress made $451 million available for the purpose. When the program began, only 103 areas were eligible for ARA loans and grants. This total has now risen to more than 1,000 areas. It is also significant to note that not one depressed area has been removed from the eligible list as a result of past ARA assistance.

Several examples of ARA projects were listed in a report issued recently by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce. Among these were a new city hall in Miramar, Fla., that cost $125,000 in federal funds and was built in a community that has no real estate or personal property taxes and a boardwalk at Hollywood, Fla., which along with other projects cost $2 million and which the contractor admits he completed without hiring a single new employee!

Also listed was a $190,000 parking garage in Bluefield, W. Va., where city officials were so anxious to meet the deadline for qualifying the money that a ramp to one of the two new decks wound up on the wrong side of the building and had to be dismantled and re-built. In Bridgeport, Conn., a 12,000-seat stadium cost $475,000 in federal tax dollars. Federal money also purchased 225 barbecue pits and park benches in the community of New Herrin, Ill.

We mention these projects to show that ARA, like so many governmental agencies, spreads far beyond its original intent—the intent which is sanctioned by well-meaning Senators and Representatives. This is one reason why we are opposed to many of the proposed federal spending programs which come up from time to time, and to the creation of additional federal agencies which are both restrictive and expensive. If projects are really needed on a local basis, many can well be provided for on a local basis without the "benefit" of federal assistance.

Action in Alaska

When the devastating earthquake shook Alaska a few short weeks ago, non-residents who were in our northernmost state were impressed with the calmness of the people. They believe that the residents' refusal to panic saved countless lives.

A Minneapolis radio and television station stated that prompt action by Civil Defense was also responsible for saving lives. Within minutes after the first quake, Anchorage Civil Defense units went into action. One of that city's radio stations returned to the air within an hour and began broadcasting Civil Defense information. It was reported that, "The people listened carefully and they did what they were told."

The Alaska incident bears out what Civil Defense advocates have long stated—that there does not need to be a nuclear attack before Civil Defense preparedness pays. Nor does the disaster have to be as extensive as the Alaska quake. Local floods, tornadoes, hurricanes or other disasters also are cause for Civil dDefense action. The Alaska situation was dramatic in its portrayal of Civil Defense utility.

Trial by Man

When the founders of our free nation set forth the law of the land, they did so with full knowledge of what can happen in a nation where the rights they provided for are denied. They were not partisan politicians seeking to find favor with their parties. They were dedicated Americans attempting carefully to provide that the nation would be governed under laws which were just and equitable rather than governed by the whims and fancies of men.

Throughout the relatively sort lifespan of our nation, the wisdom of the Bill of Rights has been proved time and time again. Repeated attempts have been made to usurp the rights of the individual, and some of these attempts have met with at least a modest degree of success.

Now up for debate in the Senate is the so-called "Civil Rights Bill", termed by six members of the House Committee on the Judiciary as "...the greatest grasp for executive power conceived in the 20th century." The bill goes so far beyond the exploited purpose of guaranteeing equal rights for negroes that the stated purpose is almost lost. A far greater consideration is the magnitude of the powers granted to men in deciding what can or can not be done by individuals.

The bill now being debated contains 11 titles. According to the Congressional Record, in the debate of April 7, Sen. Thurmond of South Carolina is quoted as stating, "...five titles of the bill specifically deny the right of trial by jury, in violation of and in negation of the Constitution of the United States."

To the Attorney General would be granted the authority to file suits against property owners, plain citizens and state and local officials, even though the supposed grievant has not filed suit. The Attorney General would become the grievant's lawyer at the taxpayer's expense. Defendants could be jailed without a jury trial. The Attorney General would be empowered to "shop around" for a judge he prefers to hear a voting suit.

In the sixth amendment to our Constitution, the following right is guaranteed: "In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the state and district wherein the crime shall have been committed...." What would happen to this basic right of the individual if the Civil Rights bill passes? It would be replaced by decisions by individuals.

We are glad to see the underlying implications of the legislation being brought out in the debate in the Senate. More and more the American public is being made aware that negro rights are being used as a cloak to cover the more dangerous provisions of the bill. If the bill passes, it will be an assassination of freedom from which our country may never recover.

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

"Here's a good test for your midsection muscles. Clasp hands overhead and place your feet together on the floor. Now bend to the right at the waist as you sit down to the left of your feet. Then, by sheer force of your muscles, haul yourself up, bend to the left and sit down on the floor to the right of your feet. Stick with it, and let us know the results."

Not long after a letter came in. It said simply: "Hernia!"

Side Line Observations

—BY BILL DAHLQUIST—

I agree with President Lyndon Johnson in his numerous declarations that higher wages that lead to higher prices are not in the public interest. I would like him a lot more, however, if, by his approach to specific wage problems, his actions were consistent with his policy.

Contrary to the policy that he advocates, he favors across-the-board wage and salary increases for all federal employees, including members of congress and other high ranking officials. Acutally what we are being told by the President in this matter of combating the trend toward a runaway inflation is a lot of double-talk.

Increasing the cost of government is just as inflationary as any other across-the-board wage and salary increase. A large share of increases in the cost of government, especially at the federal and state levels, mean incrases in the taxes levied on business and industry. But businesses and industries do not pay taxes. Their tax costs automatically become a part of their cost of operation, and are added to the cost of products or services that they sell to the public. Actually such taxes are sales taxes.

Those who are extremely rich invest their wealth in tax-exempt securities and contribute little toward the cost of government. It is the farmers and the workers who must bear most of the burden of any increase in the cost of government, and this burden of higher taxes is imposed upon them in the form of higher prices they must pay for the necessities of life.

But the real evil of the across-the-board wage and salary increases that President Johnson advocates are not limited to the added cost of such increases to the federal government. As a result of such campaign-year wage and salary increases at the federal level, resistance to wage and salary increases at the state and local levels are weakened and wage and price increases thruout business and industry are encouraged. And prices go up as the buying power of the dollar diminishes.

If we were to believe all that we are told we would be convinced that all educators are underpaid. I am sure that some of them are underpaid, but I am also satisfied that most of them are overpaid, considering the few days of the year that they actually work.

An Associated Press report from Mankato tells us that State College faculty members are going to ask the Legislature to give them substantial salary increases, not on the basis of merit but merely on the claim that as a group they are underpaid. From the federal government to the states, and to the local levels, the trend continues.

The deplorable thing about the Lyndon Johnson proposals is the vast gulf that divides the false from the true. He makes proposals that have tremendous rank-and-file appeal. He is against such things as poverty. He is against everything that isn't popular when he talks out of one side of the mouth. But in another talk the following day, he appeals to those who still believe that two times two is four and that if we are to survive as a leading power in the world, we must recognize the rules of self restraint and the importance, the essential importance, of living within our means.

YESTERDAY...

TODAY...

If you're looking for an old-fashioned "Pot-Bellied" stove, you'll probably have to hunt around the antique shops, because modern heating today relies on efficient economical and work-saving heating plants. More than 1½ million homes in America are heated completely by electricity. They have no chimneys, no space-taking furnace, no duct work, no bulky radiators. Instead they simply "flip a switch" and their home is heated electrically. It's flameless. It's trouble-free. And it's truly the most modern way to live comfortably. Throughout Minnkota Land many rural residents are thinking of building new homes or doing extensive remodeling to their present home. One of their first steps should be to get the story on heating their home electrically.

IN THE MINNKOTA AREA, MORE THAN 200 HOMES ARE COMPLETELY HEATED ELECTRICALLY!

Dairy Day Changes Made at Board Meet

Several changes in the format of Northwest Dairy Day were made at a meeting of the board of directors held recently in Thief River Falls. The 15th annual event will be held Tuesday, June 9.

This year the dairy cattle show will be moved from the normal location on Second street between Main and Knight avenues to the city parking lot just west of Knight avenue between Second and Third streets. Board members felt the move would give more space for tying cattle and for conducting two show rings.

Members of the Pennington county 4-H leaders council will serve pancakes beginning at 6 a. m. and continuing to about 3 p. m. on the day of the event. This meal will be served in addition to box lunches distributed to exhibitors and their families during the day.

As an added incentive for experienced showmen to continue entering the Dairy Day competition, trophies will be awarded to 4-H club and Future Farmers of America members who have shown at Dairy Day for eight, nine and 10 years. Previously these showmen were presented with an engraved plaque listing their years of participation.

With the resignation of L. H. (Lew) Conlon as manager of the Minnesota Dairy Industry committee, a supervisor of the cattle show and master of ceremonies for the afternoon program have not yet been decided. Conlon had made an appearance at Dairy Day for each of the 14 years it was held and was instrumental in forming the program which has been copied throughout the nation.

Judges for the show are also being contacted with confirmation of invitations expected soon, according to Richard Hamilton, secretary of the Northwest Dairy Improvement association, sponsor of the event. All other popular features of Dairy Day will remain unchanged for the 15th annual show.

Stuart McLeod of Thief River Falls is president of the association with Klem Gigstad, Richard Hamilton and J. J. Womack, all of Thief River Falls, serving respectively as vice president, secretary and treasurer.

Directors whose terms expire next year include Harry Nelson, Hallock; Wallace Jordet and Hamilton, Thief River Falls; Clifford Skime, Roseau; Chester Transeth, Bagley; and Andy Erickson, Badger. Those whose terms expire in 1966 include Womack, McLeod, Donovan Bruggeman and Geno Beito, Thief River Falls; Arlen Rice, Fertile; and Jack Israelson, Bemidji. Serving until 1967 will be Gigstad and Paul Stejmaschuk, Thief River Falls; Vernon Stardig, Middle River; Walter Schon and Martin Ellingson, Fosston; and Conrad Swanson, Ada.

Associate directors include H. R. Searles, manager of the Minnesota Dairy Industry committee; Howard Newell, district supervisor of county extension agents; and Marlan Augustine, president of the Red River Valley Dairymen's association.

Homemakers Plan Achievement Day

Mrs. Carole Yoho Guest Speaker at Pennington Event

Pennington county's annual homemakers achievement day is set for Thursday at Zion Lutheran church in Thief River Falls at 1:30 p.m., according to Miss Carolyn Offerdahl, county home agent. Objectives of this event are as follows:

County Board Has Routine Business Meet

Sets Bid Openings on Two Road Projects; School Petition Heard

Routine matters occupied the time of the Pennington county commissioners at their regular meeting held in the Court House Tuesday. Bids will be opened on two road improvement projects in the county on May 26.

One of these projects is the south end of the Gully road from the Red Lake river to the south county line. This stretch of road will be graded and gravelled with state aid money. The road north from the river has already been improved to state specifications and it is understood that Polk county will proceed with the improvement of this road south of the river.

Four miles of county road south of the Goodridge road to the south county line between Polk Center and Black River townships will also be graded and gravelled and the bids for this job will also be opened on May 26. It is understood that Red Lake county plans to improve this road south of the county line.

Bids will be opened at the regular June meeting for the purchase of buildings on several tax-forfeited properties in Thief River Falls. The warehouse on the Great Northern spur south of the depot must be sold because of the city's street widening program on LaBree avenue, extending south from First Street and angling to the west and intersecting highway 32 at the Model Laundry corner. Also offered for sale will be three uninhabitable dwellings on Arnold av. N. in the Fairfax addition.

A petition was received from Roger Barns to set off the southeast quarter of section 14 in Mayfield township from Common School District No. 1550, to be annexed to the Oklee district. Three quarters of his farm are already in the Oklee district. A hearing on this petition was ordered to be held at the regular June meeting at 11 a. m. The county auditor and the county engineer were also authorized to advertise for bids on approximately 30,000 gallons of road oil, and these bids will be opened at 1:30 p. m. at that next regular meeting.

Sheriff Charles Richards reported to the board that he had been notified by the city of Thief River Falls that the council has decided to abandon the old water tower and that this will make it necessary for the county to remove its radio antenna. No definite date for the destruction of the old tower has been set and the board is taking under consideration the problem of providing a new antenna base.

"We think the floor show will be a lot of fun for the people attending," stated Mrs. James Carlson, general chairman for the event. "Several other numbers have also been arranged for the program, but we are not announcing them before the charity ball. People who want to find out what will be on the program may purchase tickets at $1.50 each from members of the Mrs. Jaycees, at the Falls Theater or the Junior Shop. For Tests and Licenses

Bike Safety Check Slated Saturday

Thief River Falls' annual bicycle safety check, sponsored by the Jaycees in cooperation with the Veterans of Foreign Wars, police department, sheriff's department and state driver's license examiners, will be held Saturday at the Washington elementary school playground. Included in the safety check will be four stations for registration and check of mechanical condition of bicycles, test of traffic law knowledge, riding skill test and licensing. Members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will attach reflectorized tape to bicycles brought to the safety check site.

City ordinance provides that no bicycles may be operated in the city without licenses and that the skill test may be required before licenses are issued. The safety check Saturday will give all community youngsters the opportunity to license their bicyles and take the skill test on the same day. Receipt of the reflectorized tape will be a bonus through the cooperation of the local VFW post.

Rene Peppin is chairman of the project for the Jaycees while Selmer Dimmen is in charge of the VFW participation. Volunteer workers from both organizations will assist with the safety check. Additional assistance will be received from the police department in licensing, the driver's license examiners in conducting checks on knowledge of traffic laws, and the sheriff's department in supervising the skill tests.

Licenses will be sold for 35 cents and persons bringing their bicycles to the safety check are asked to bring money for the license fee.

Winton Knutson, chairman of the Pennington County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, reports that growers who take part in the 1964 voluntary wheat program will be elibible for certificates with a cash value on a large part of their wheat, and diversion payments for shifting land use.

To participate in the voluntary program, a wheat grower must first sign up and then carry out the program's provisions. This will mean: (1) Staying within his 1964 acreage allotment, which already has had the minimum qualifying acreage diversion to approved conserving uses; (3) staying within the allotment for any other allotment crop on the farm (feed grains are not considered an allotment crop); and (4) staying within the wheat allotment on any other farm in which the grower has an interest in the wheat.

"The important point to remember right now is that to participate and receive the program's benefits, a wheat grower will need to sign up at the ASC county office," Knutson said. "The signup will extend through May 15, so make your plans and get in touch with the office before the deadline.

Vows Spoken By J. Steinhauer, Douglas Grund

Trinity Lutheran Church was the scene of the wedding uniting Jeanette Steinhauer and Douglas Grund on May 2 at 2 p. m.

The parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Steinhauer of rural Thief River Falls and Mr. and Mrs. Alton Grund of Pitt.

Rev. Wangberg officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Mrs. Harold Peterson played the organ while Emille Carlson sang "The Song of Ruth", "O Perfect Love" and, while the couple knelt at the altar, "The Lord's Prayer".

Escorted down the aisle by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of satin with a galloon edge lace bodice which featured tapered sleeves. The front of the semi-bouffant skirt featured a lace insert. The fingertip veil was caught to a rhinestone and pearl studded tiara. She carried a cascade of red American Beauty roses with white carnations.

Gladys Steinhauer, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, while Gayle Grund, sister of the groom, and Paulette Larson, served as bridesmaids. They wore identical street-length dresses of blue taffeta featuring a scalloped neckline and sleeves and wore matching headbands with a veil of blue net. They wore white gloves and carried long-stemmed white roses.

The bride's gown and the attendant's dresses were designed and made by Mrs. Bill Stanley of Baudette.

Attending the groom as best man was his brother Gary, while Harold Steinhauer, brother of the bride, and Roger Krause, served as groomsmen.

Ushering the guests were Vernon and Kenny Grund, cousins of the groom. The men of the bridal party were attired in dark business suits and wore white carnation boutonnieres.

The bride's mother wore a lavender dress with white accessories and the groom's mother also chose white accessories with her beige dress. Both corsages were of pink sweetheart roses with white carnations. A similar corsage was worn by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Julia Rye.

A reception held in the church parlors was given by the bride's parents and was attended by 175 guests. The reception table was centered by a three-tiered wedding cake baked and decorated by the bride's sister, Mrs. Wm. Merhkens. The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Ken Swanson, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Gary Grund, sister-in-law of the groom.

Mrs. Roger Grund, aunt of the groom, and Mrs. Robert Nyvall, aunt of the bride, poured.

Serving punch was Mrs. Gerald Molberg, cousin of the groom. Guests were registered by Donna Steinhauer, sister of the bride.

Waitresses were LuAnn Lubitz, Linda Nyvall, Bonita Sindeler and Diane Grund. The aprons, a gift of the bride, were white with pink trim.

The gifts were opened and arranged by Sylvia Smidt, Bonnie Sculthorp, Sharon Wicklander and Joan Evans.

The bride chose a beige two-piece suit with beige hat and brown gloves and shoes for her going-away dress.

Guests attended from Pitt, Baudette, Argyle, Viking, Holt, Goodridge, Crookston, Stephen, Warren, St. Cloud, Duluth, Williams, Erskine, all in Minnesota, and from Missoula, Montana.

Crippled Children Society Appoints Education Chm.

Roy Langevin Named to Inform Public About Architectural Barriers

Roy Langevin, Thief River Falls, was recently named education chairman for Thief River Falls by Fred W. Reed, field representative of the Minnesota Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc.

"The main role of the education chairman," Reed explained, "is to inform the community of the need and importance of greater awareness of the problem of architectural barriers."

Architectural barriers are any features of a building or facility, including the area surrounding it, which prevent handicapped and aged persons from entering or using that building or facility.

"The threefold purpose of the architectural barriers education program," Reed said, "is to alert the community with the problems architectural barriers pose to the handicapped as well as the able-bodied, acquaint the community's leaders with ways in which these barriers can be eliminated, and activate community forces that will bring about effective action, with the goal of making buildings and facilities accessible to, and usable by, everyone.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor, Thief River Falls Times:

Your editorial captioned "Freedom and Equality" is so full of ambiguities, illogic, of giving with one hand and taking with the other, that it is hard to figure out just what its point is supposed to be. But the theme seems to be that freedom and equality are mutually antagonistic; you cannot have both.

What kind of "equality" is meant is foggy. It quotes, with approval, from publisher Tom Anderson's "Farm and Ranch," who says, "One of the eternal verities is that there is no such thing as equality." This must mean in individual characteristics. But to pontificate on such an obvious thing is a waste of paper. Anyone should know that men are not equal in brains, brawn or beauty. So this is just elaboration on the obvious. Does it mean there can be no such thing as equality before the law, or of opportunity? Apparently you do not so interpret, because you say all men should have the opportunity to succeed according to their abilities, that protection of minorities is a fundamental to freedom. What is this equality, then, which does not exist?

You quote also, with relish, from philosopher Anderson: "Free men are not equal, and equal men are not free." What kind of equality? Slaves are not equal in ability either, and if there is not equality of opportunity, then some are not free. The latter kind of equality exists under freedom, not under its absence. And ". . . equal men are not free." Just as ambiguous as the first part of the aphorism, which may not endure as long as the sayings of Confucius.

Do people have to be equal in ability in order to be given fair treatment, to be granted access to what society has to offer? When white people are allowed to vote, swim at the beach, go to the toilet, or attend a State university —does it mean that all engaged therein are equal in ability? You admit that all should have the opportunity to succeed. All right then, what is the argument? This is all that is asked. "They should not be guaranteed success because of the color of their skin," you say. Who says they should? A Negro hired for a job or a student accepted by a school must take the same chance of succeeding or failing as anyone else, of course. I know of no one who claims otherwise.

4-H Leaders Council Has Varied Business

Reports Heard From Several 4H Trip Recipients

Mrs. Ernest Swanson highlighted her trip to Washington D. C. at the 4-H leaders council meeting on Monday evening, May 4, according to Miss Carolyn Offerdahl, Pennington county home agent. Mrs. Swanson's trip was for citizenship and she stated that citizenship began with the individual and then went on to the home, club, community, state, national and international levels.

Karen Kron, John Hellquist, Jerome Melhouse, Judy Oski and Linda Swanson gave reports on their trip to the 4-H counselors training camp at Camp Ihduhapi. The program at this camp was to teach how to manage and to act as counselors at a local county camp.

A committee consisting of Mrs. Ervin Muzzy, Mrs. Eldon Larson, Faye Stucy and Carol Peterson is to work on the details for the 4-H dress revue which will be on July 13.

Dairy Day was a topic of discussion with the council voting to serve pancakes throughout the day and during the dairy princess contest. The deadline for girls between the ages of 16 and 21 to submit their nominations for the dairy princess contest to the extension office is May 13. Mrs. James Muzzy, Mrs. George Brezhay, Mrs. Robert Hirst, Mrs. Vernon Wold and Mrs. Herbert Swenson comprise the committee to plan the details for Dairy Day serving of pancakes.

Council members decided to sponsor a 4-H member to attend the citizenship training program in Washington, D. C. The amount the council will pay is $150. If more than one 4-H member wishes to attend, the money will be divided.

There will be a 4-H exchange with South St. Louis county for 4-H'ers age 14-21. It was felt that the two counties vary so much that the 4-H'ers would profit from the experience as well as have an economical vacation. The date for the exchange has been set for June 15 through 19. The 4-H members that are going to Duluth and the homes for the St. Louis county 4-H members are needed by May 20.

The council voted to send a bus again this year to Crookston Club Week, June 17 through 19. The two chaperones for the camp are Lloyd Nelson and Mrs. C. W. Radniecki. The office must know by June 10 if the 4-H'ers will be attending.

The council also voted to send six delegates to the junior leadership conference on June 22 through 26. Applications for the conference are due in the county extension office on May 20.

4-H records and entry blanks are due in the extension office on July 1. The 4-H'ers were urged to fill out the records completely since records are sent to the state office if state trips are won.

A committee consisting of Mrs. Ernest Swanson and Mrs. Lynn Hanson will be planning the details for the district share-the-fun festival supper. The festival is on July 15. David Torgerson will be making up a schedule for softball games. If clubs wish to participate, they are to let the office know soon.

The council decided to purchase silverware instead of borrowing silverware everytime they serve for events. The home agent will be looking into the details of purchasing silverware.

4-H members were reminded of the work possibilities at junior leadership conference and at state fair. The 4-H'ers must be 16 years of age. The type of work they will be doing includes kitchen and dormitory duties, demonstration kitchen assistants and dormitory counselors. Miss Offerdahl stated that this is fun as well as work.

4-H Sunday was May 3. If the 4-H'ers did anything for Rural Life Sunday they are to let the office know.

Plans for the 1965 International Farm Youth Exchange program are underway. Applications should be obtained from the extension office soon as they are due in the state office on July 15. Time should be taken in filling out these forms.

Council members decided to pay 10 cents per member to the state 4-H federation as it has in the past. The federation assists with the IFYE program, 4-H Foundation in Washington and promotion during 4-H Club Week. A junior leader, the voting delegate will be stating this at Junior Leadership Conference in June.

A conservation club is being selected for the state. Leaders of the club are considered as well as this year's plan. If a club wishes to be considered, it must let the office know immediately.

An anonymous letter containing $10 was sent to the extension office. It was from a former 4-H member who had taken money from a 4-H club when being treasurer. This person has now returned the money.

East Marshall Homemakers Met at Steiner Hall

Marian Larson, Former Area Resident, Tells Of Alaska Experiences

About 150 East Marshall county homemakers and friends had a chance to take a little trip into Alaska on Friday evening, May 1, at their Achievement Day meeting held at the Steiner hall.

Marian Larson, Minnesota state 4-H club assistant, told of many and varied experiences that she had while she spent 4½ years in extension work there. She took her audience to many sections of Alaska and told how the weather and climate varied.

Other numbers on the program were a reading by Alfred Solem that he composed about the homemaker "Homewrecker" of today and Mrs. Eddie Anderson answered the "Lament" with a reading she had composed supporting the homemakers.

"The Beatles" was presented by Christi Inman, Cindy Wegge, Debra Wegge and Marlys Hjelle and a square dance was given by the Mud Lake Ramblers.

The homemakers scholarship was presented by Mrs. Nobel Olson and Mrs. Alfred Solem to Susan Hjelle of Argyle, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bertel Hjelle.

The homemakers clubs exhibited lessons and hobbies they had worked on during the past year, followed by a social hour.

Muzzy Holstein Big Producer at 652 Pounds B.F.

Augenguile Sovereign Noelle, a six-year-old registered Holstein cow owned by James R. Muzzy of Thief River Falls, produced 14,800 lbs. milk, 652 lbs. butterfat and 1,258 lbs. solids-not-fat in 305 days.

Solids-not-fat (SNF), the nutrients in milk below the creamline, are now being recorded for the first time in addition to milk and butterfat as a part of the Total Nutrient Testing (TNT) Program—launched last year by The Holstein Friesian Association of America.

The University of Minnesota supervised the weighing and testing of production as a part of the official breed improvement programs of the Association.

In announcing the new record, a spokesman for the national Holstein organization said that it compared to the average cow's annual output of 7,211 lbs. milk containing 270 lbs. butterfat. The "TNT" program is too new for a national SNF average to be established.

Prowlers Win Fourth On Jensen's 1-Hitter

The Prowlers won their fourth game of the baseball season Monday afternoon, and righthander Rick Jensen, hurling a one-hit game, notched his second victory as coach Ralph Skay's squad defeated the Red Lake Falls Eagles, 4 to 2, in a game played on the Riverside park diamond in Red Lake Falls.

This evening, Wednesday, the Prowlers will meet the Fertile Falcons on the fairgrounds diamond. On Thursday afternoon, with game time at 4:30, the Prowlers will meet the Bemidji Lumberjacks at Bemidji; and on Friday afternoon, with game time slated for 5 p. m., the Lumberjacks will play a return game against the Prowlers on the fairground diamond. On Saturday, the Prowlers will engage in a doubleheader, meeting the Roseau Rams at Roseau at 3 p. m., and the Warroad Warriors at Warroad at 7:30 p. m.

In Monday afternoon's game at Red Lake Falls, coach Mike Hajostek's Eagles, utilizing a pair of Prowlers errors and a couple of bases on balls, scored a run in the second inning to take a short-lived lead. The Prowlers, on a two-base throwing error, a walk and a looped single into center field, evened the game at 1-all in the third inning.

The Eagles, on a walk, a sacrifice and a pair of Prowlers errors, tallied in the last half of the third inning to again take a one-run lead, 2 to 1. The game was again tied when, in the fourth, singles by Tom Cummings, Mike Benke and Warren Hanestad accounted for a Prowler run.

The lone base hit collected by the Eagles was marked up in the fourth inning when, with two out, Bob Phillon beat out a bunt down the third-base line. Brent Mead lined to shortstop John Hellquist to end the threat.

The Prowlers scored their go-ahead run, and the game-winning tally, in the sixth inning. Benke was safe on an infield hit to shortstop and then stole second. Hanestad drove a single to right-center, scoring Benke. And in the seventh frame the Prowlers added an insurance tally when Benke drove a ground-rule double to left field, scoring Dave Ellingson who had reached base on an error.

Freshman Mark Petterson, a southpaw, although touched for nine hits, proved effective against the Prowlers, collecting eight strikeouts. Only Benke and Hanestad, rapping out three hits apiece, were able to solve his tantalizing curves.

Memo to Boat-owners

At hand is the annual notice from Charles Rolekuhr, the county auditor, stating that boat licenses are due for renewal.

Says Charlie: "Licenses are issued for a two-year period and are issued in what is called the "A" series and the "B" series. That is, those licenses issued in the even-numbered years are licensed with a number ending with a two-letter suffix with a B first letter (ie: BA, BB, BT, etc.) In the odd years the suffix begins with the letter A."

Boat licenses, you know, are for a two-year period, and local boat-owners should check their current licenses and note the expiration date. All watercraft must be licensed before being used. And Charlie adds another important note: "Our office cannot issue a renewal license without having the old license turned in. We cannot issue original licenses as these are issued by the Bureau of Boat & Safety, a sub-division of the Department of Conservation."

In spite of this warning from Charlie, I'll wager that on the opening weekend of fishing, May 16, some sheriff, or his deputy, will be bringing in some local boat-owner for lack of a valid license.

At Copeland, Idaho

My mention of the Region Eight basketball tournament being played at Benson, Minnesota, in 1930, and which found the Prowlers losing to the Moorhead Spuds in the finals, 26 to 21, brought back memories to local residents Merle Lindberg and Howie Holum, both of whom were squad members that season.

—George (Baldy) Hays was the coach of the Prowlers that season, having succeeded Eddie Boe, the former Grand Forks Central and North Dakota U all-round athlete. George was here only one year, moving to Blue Earth in 1931.

Merle tracked down George's address the other week and wrote the former Prowler coach a long letter. And this past week an answer was received from George. For the first time in 35 years, George isn't teaching school or coaching athletics. He is now a rancher at Copeland, Idaho, just a short distance south of the Canadian border. His ranch at Copeland is a recent purchase and he moved up there from Salmon, Idaho, where he resided for a number of years. Incidentally, he added that his oldest boy (a nephew of the Jim Drydens and Chuck Dostals) is coaching, and being quite successful. He has had a couple of state championship teams in Washington.

During the many years that George was coaching out west, in the high school ranks, he produced a number of top flight stars. Perhaps the two greatest, and the two who went on to gain all-America fame in college basketball, were Arnie Ferrin and Jim Pollard. Pollard, of course, is recalled as a member of the Minneapolis Lakers.

And George concludes his letter by stating that he will put Thief River Falls on his itinerary when he makes his next trip east, and that will be in a couple of years.

Greetings from Danny and Chuck

I accompanied Curt Johnson, Don Hanson and Red Thyren to Winnipeg on Sunday and witnessed the senior hockey Maroons in their 7 to 1 win over the Woodstock Athletics. The Maroons had beaten the Woodstock team, 5 to 0, in the series opener on Thursday night. And last night, Tuesday, the Maroons scored another 5 to 0 win over the Ontario club, so the Winnipeg club can close out the best-of-seven series on Thursday night when the fourth game of the series is played. And it's just about a cinch that coach Gordy Simpson's Winnipeg club will win the Allan Cup and be declared Canada's senior amateur hockey champions.

Had a visit with Danny Summers and Chuck Lumsden, former senior hockey Thieves now playing with the Maroons. Summers was a defenseman for the Thieves, and played under the alias of Billy Winters, being under suspension for jumping a pro contract. Lumsden was a forward. The two sent greetings to their hockey friends in this area.

Summers did not play in Sunday's game as he was sidelined by a leg injury. He has been a stalwart on defense for the Maroons, and has been a body-checker that keeps the opposing forwards honest. And it was as a result of one of these checks that he threw in Thursday night's opener that he suffered a "charley horse" in his left leg. He hoped to get into the series again before it concluded. Danny, you know, is 41 years old, and this will undoubtedly be his last season of competitive hockey in the Allan Cup caliber.

NIPPED by a couple of strides at first base in the Prowlers' Jack Leedahl. In the first inning, Leedahl sent a slow roller to the mound and was retired pitcher Mark Petterson to first baseman Bernard Demarais. In the third inning, with Mike Benke on second base, Leedahl looped a single over second base to drive in the Prowlers' first run. The Prowlers edged out Red Lake Falls, 4 to 2, in a game played at Red Lake Falls on Monday.

ONE-HIT pitching by Rick Jensen featured the Prowlers' 4 to 2 win over the Red Lake Falls Eagles in a baseball game played at Red Lake Falls on Monday. The lone hit garnered off the Prowler senior righthander was a bunt down the third-base line by the Eagles' Bob Phillon in the fourth inning. Jensen whiffed nine batsmen and gave up three bases on balls.

Attention of all fishermen is called to the Monday edition of the Times which will carry a special fishing section with stories and advertising of interest to anglers. Night Track Meet Won by Prowlers

In a rain-dampened track meet held on the Lincoln high school athletic field on Tuesday evening, coach Roger Solheim's Prowler squad, led by double-event winners Larry Joppru and Mark Stromberg, scored a total of 89 points for first place.

The Middle River Skippers, showing fine strength in the sprint events, gained runner-up honors with 58½ points. Coach Ken Wellen's Hallock Bears, with versatile Doug Streed proving to be the Bears' prime point-getter, had 35½ points for third place. The Karlstad Rabbits tallied 15 points and Lancaster failed to place.

Larry Joppru won the shot put and the discus throw, and Mark Stromberg won the high hurdles and the high jump events. Other individual first place victories for the Prowlers were gained by Orrin Joppru in the mile run, Joel Headley in the 880-yard run; and by Monte LeMoine in the pole vault.

The Prowlers will participate in the Beaver Relays at Bemidji on Saturday. And on Tuesday, May 12, the Northwest Conference track and field meet will be held at Crookston.

Joint Farm Tenancy May Not Be the Best

Sam X. Johnson owned a 120-acre farm west of town. He and his first wife, Minnie, raised two sons and a daughter. After Minnie passed away, Sam got lonesome and married Ingeborg Swenson, a widow lady from over near Plainview.

Sam made a good deal on the pasture land on the north end of his farm, and applied for a small Farmers Home Administration loan on his farm and the new acreage so he wouldn't have to dip into his savings for the purchase price. The FHA loan officer told Sam that there is an FHA regulation which required that both the farm and the new land be in joint tenancy with Sam and Ingeborg. He said it would be possible to have this requirement waived if Sam wanted to submit a request to the higher authorities for consideration.

The FHA man told Sam, though, that the regulation was designed to protect farmers and their families by facilitating settlement of estates upon death and continuation by the widow and children with the farm and the loan. He said that joint tenancy would avoid the expense and delay involved in a probate proceeding. Since the FHA man seemed to know what he was talking about, Sam took his advice and didn't bother to confer with his attorney.

After the deal had been closed, and Sam and Ingeborg had become the owners of the farm and the new land as joint tenants, they began to discuss the possibility that one or both of them might die. They agreed that if Sam should die first, Ingeborg should have the farm for as long as she lived, and after her death Sam's three children should get it. Ingeborg had only distant relatives in Sweden, and they were all well-to-do anyway.

Before they had a chance to see the lawyer in town about whether they needed wills, Sam and Ingeborg were hit by a truck while pulling out onto the highway. Sam was killed instantly, and Ingeborg lived for three weeks.

Since the farm was in joint tenancy, the survivor, Ingeborg, became the owner of the entire farm and pasture land upon Sam's death. Then upon Ingeborg's death the farm went to her cousins in Sweden. Sam's children got nothing. Inheritance taxes had to be paid on clearing the joint interest of Sam from the title, and inheritance taxes were also paid in Ingeborg's estate. The taxes, attorney's fees and expenses for the joint tenancy survivorship proceeding the probate proceeding, and the delay involved, added up to much more time and expense than if the title had been in Sam's name alone.

The moral of this story is that although joint tenancy may well be best for you, it may also lead to the unfortunate results of Sam's case, or to a number of other unfortunate results. Consult your attorney—do not rely on the advice of anyone else, the Minnesota State Bar association warns.

Our LAND

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture

Wildlife Development

Niel Carron of Pine county has over 15 acres of new water on his land. It used to be brushy, wet meadow but now it's better for wildlife. Mallards, teal and wood duck were on the area the first spring after flooding. Anyone who doubts its popularity needs only to examine the wildlife evidence, including beaver sign and the tracks of deer, raccoon, muskrat and mink along the pond's edge.

Carron's development is typical of those being installed throughout the State under the "G" practices cost-shared through the Agricultural Conservation Program. Technical responsibility for the "G-2" practice is assigned to the Soil Conservation Service.

SCS engineers and biologists concluded that specifications for this purpose can be quite different from earth fill dams for farm ponds and other gully control and water impoundment structures. Generally, this type of wetland development is in a low-hazard area and most of the structures would be the low-head type and therefore low in cost.

During the past two years Soil Conservation Service engineers have investigated between 90 and 100 similar sites for "G-2" projects in northwestern Minnesota and have developed plans for 21 such areas. Such land utilization developments as these help to make the best possible use of all available resources. They point the way toward putting land use planning to work for the community as well as the land owner.

Service biologists recommend that waterfowl areas be drained periodically to improve vegetative growth and restore species of vegetative cover that would weaken or die under constant water level. A stop-log structure is used wherever possible.

The Carron structure cost was $68 per acre. The SCS engineer and biologist made the necessary site examination and surveys and designed the earth fill dam and spillways. When he saw the design and cost estimates, Mr. Carron decided to proceed with the job.

The dam contains 2,120 cubic yards of highly compacted fill, is 14 feet high, 76 feet wide at the base and 8 feet wide at the top with side slopes of 3:1 upstream and 2:1 downstream. The emergency spillway is 20 feet long and 40 feet wide with 3:1 side slopes.

The flooded area is 15.5 acres. The project was constructed in August, 1962. Within 10 days after completion, area was flooded and excess water was discharging thru structure is a 60-inch diameter corrugated metal pipe 50 feet long with a treated wood riser 6x6 feet. Mr. Carron built the riser from treated native timber available on his farm. During the winter (1963) Mr. Carron cleared most of the brush and trees from the flooded area to improve it for waterfowl.

Editorials . . .

"America is still the land of opportunity. Every day, there are those who have contrived some new way to be useful and to make usefulness pay. There are no last frontiers for an American, nor will there ever be. There always will be something just a little way ahead that is an improvement upon what has gone before." —Grit

An Explanation

Recently sent to us was a copy of "The Riverside", a publication of the students at the Minnesota State Training School for Boys at Red Wing. In the edition was a poem by a student which told of reasons why he was referred to as a "juvenile delinquent". He concluded with this verse:

"I'll give you the reason I went wrong,
And now must stay in Red Wing for so long.
Because there's no one home who really cares,
And when I need them they are never there."

He probably has a good point, since sociologists concur in the opinion that much juvenile delinquency is the result of parental delinquency. But another student expresses thought we find more appealing in an editorial entitled "Think". The content of this editorial follows:

"Yes, I mean every one of us! Less than three per cent of all the teenagers in the United States end up in correctional institutions. All of these cases could have been avoided by a little reasonable thought.

"I'll bet if you or I would have thought why before you stole the car or robbed that store you wouldn't be reading this.

"Why did we do it? Usually it is because we can't accept authority or we just wanted our own way. If an hours joy ride in a car or a few stolen dollars mean more to you than your freedom, then, brother, you're in trouble. Save yourself the trip home and go right to St. Cloud. Sure you can say you had a good time or at least I was rich for awhile, but where am I now?

"Remember one thing; God gave us all the same chance to be someone. From the moment you are born it's up to you to make something of yourself. If we would have taken a little time and sincerely thought before we got into trouble, we wouldn't be here. Now that we have time, let 's use it, and THINK-"

Spring and Bicycles

Now that warmer weather has arrived in the Times area, increasing numbers of youngsters are making use of bicycles for recreation. Parents of youngsters who do not have bicycles are being pressured to provide them, and there is no question that a bicycle, properly handled, can be an excellent source of entertainment, pleasure and exercise.

With the permission to use a bicycle, however, comes the responsibility to operate it in a safe manner and to maintain it in safe mechanical condition. At least part of this responsibility belongs to the parents of cyclists, although much of it is required of the youngsters themselves.

Several years ago the Junior Chamber of Commerce worked through the city council to adopt a complete bicycle ordinance. To prepare riders for compliance with the ordinance, the organization also provided a safety check and riding skill test. This program has been held annually in the spring, and the 1964 session will take place this Saturday. This newspaper urges parents and youngsters to take advantage of the program.

Since the ordinance adopted is quite comprehensive, we will set forth here some of the provisions covered in Section 28.4, the city ordinance covering licensing and use of bicylces in the city.

The law requires that bicycles may not be operated on any public street or highway in the city without a proper license, renewed annually. Application for a license must be made in writing to the city clerk and accompanied by a 25-cent fee. Licenses must be attached to bicyclles in a substantial manner and removal of licenses except by proper authority, or operation of a bicycle without a tag, is a violation of the ordinance.

No bicycle is to be used to carry more persons at one time than the number for which it is designed and equipped. No bicycle shall be ridden faster than is reasonable and proper but operated with reasonable regard to the safety of the operator and any person upon the sidewalks, streets and other public highways of the city. Persons riding bicycles must observe all traffic signs and stop at all stop signs as required of motor vehicles.

Bicycles ridden at night must have headlights visible from the front for not less than 300 feet, and must have a yellow or red light or reflector attached to and visible from 200 feet to the rear. No person shall ride a bicycle upon any street or public highway in the city abreast of more than one other person riding a bichcle.

The ordinance specifically states, "Every person riding or propelling a bicycle upon any street or other public highway in the city shall observe all traffic rules and regulations applicable thereto, and shall turn only at intersections, signal for all turns, ride at the right side of the street or highway, pass to the left when passing overtaken vehicles and individuals that are slower moving and shall pass vehicles to the right when meeting."

If ownership of a bicycle is changed, the new owner shall apply for transfer of license in the manner and at the same fee as the original owner. No bicycles are to be ridden on city sidewalks. Bicycles are to be inspected for mechanical condition before licenses are issued. Applicants may be required to pass a test on riding laws and skills (such as will be given Saturday).

Persons violating any provisions of the ordinance are subject to a fine of not more than $25 or impoundment of the bicycle and suspension of the license for not more than 30 days. The police department is responsible for keeping bicycles ordered to be impounded.

These rules and provisions are designed for the safety of bicycle riders and other citizens. Compliance with the law is a test in citizenship for youthful bike riders as well as provision for their safety. Testing and licensing will be combined at the Saturday program when the Veterans of Foreign Wars will cooperate with the Jaycees by placing reflectorized tape on bicycles brought to the test area.

The Communist Menace

In the testimony of J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, some interesting points were brought out in regard to the work of the communist party in the United States. Testimony by Hoover was given before the House subcommittee on appropriations in January of this year.

In his testimony, the FBI chief states:

"One of the primary recruiting targets of the communist party, U. S. A., is the youth of America and the party has continued its intensified program aimed and directed at our youth. The intesnsity of this program is revealed in a statement made by Gus Hall in March 1963 when he spoke on the party's success in placing its speakers on various college campuses throughout the country. The youth program of the party, he said, is so important that he or any other national leader would go anywhere to meet with young students even if but one student is met. Admitting that the oldtimers are still the backbone of the party, Hall nevertheless concluded that the future depends on the youth."

Thus we see that the communist party does not believe that visits to colleges and universities is purely to give the students an opportunity to exercise academic freedom. The party welcomes any opportunity to spread its propaganda program, and the inquiring minds of our nation's youth is as fertile ground as it can expect to find. We all know how noxious weeds are the most easily spread.

If true academic freedom is to be exercised, then appearances of communists on college campuses should be accompanied by appearances of people of like stature on Americanism. They should appear on the same program and true Americanism, which is not understood much better than communism in our present society, would have equal opportunity for understanding.

Hoover also had this to say about communist influence in our nation:

"We do know that communist influence does exist in the Negro movement and it is this influence which is vitally important. It can be the means through which large masses are caused to lose perspective of the issues involved and, without realizing it, succumb to the party's propaganda lures. Mr. Chairman, if I may, I would like to go off the record."

Permission was granted, and what was discussed at this point is, of course, not made available to the public. We can only guess that Hoover had more to say about the communist influence in civil rights proceedings and that the movement bears careful watching for this reason. Hoover did say this in earlier testimony on the same question at the same hearing:

"The communist party is attempting to use the Negro movement, as it does everything else, to promote its own interest rather than the welfare of those to whom it directs is agitation and propaganda. It may collect funds ostensibly in behalf of negro activities, hold discussions on civil rights at all levels, and increase its coverage of negro affairs in its publications but behind all of this effort is its clear-cut primary interest in promoting communism."

All of which shows that things are not always as they may first appear. There is often more behind the scenes than there is on the stage, and it takes a peek behind the curtain to find out what is really taking place.

Yard 'n Garden

The Home Lawn

A good lawn brightens and unifies the entire landscape planting. Since it provides the setting for everything we do in the landscape, we need to give it special attention each spring.

Early spring lawn care consists of fertilizing, seeding and weed control. In early spring the lawn should be cleaned with a brush-type rake to remove all leaves and debris which may have collected over winter. Use a garden rake to remove any heavy accumulations of lawn clippings.

Next step is to apply a commercial fertilizer at the rate of two pounds of actual nitrogen per 1,000 square feet. That would mean 20 pounds of a 10-8-6 analysis per 1,000 square feet.

After fertilizing, water the soil thoroughly to prevent burning the grass and to get the moisture down to the roots where it is needed.

Grass seed can be sown on bare spots immediately after the fertilizer is applied. For seeding in patches in the lawn, use straight bluegrass seed rather than a mix. If the basic grass in the lawn is fescue, however, use creeping red fescue.

Pre-emergent type crabgrass killer should go on now. Choose from among arsenicals, dacthal and zytron. For broadleaved weeds use 2,4-D in the amine form, especially designed for the home lawn.

The United States ranks fifth among the world's countries in per capita meat consumption, with 164 pounds a year for each person. New Zealand ranks first with 235 pounds a year per person. Then comes Australia, 221 pounds; Uruguay, 213 pounds; and Argentina, 202 pounds.

Side Line Observations

BY BILL DAHLQUIST

Our state department offended our Canadian neighbors again recently and this time the reaction of our friendly neighbors was far from friendly. The following front-page editorial of the Financial Post, which refers to itself as "Canada's National Weekly of business, investment and national affairs," is held in high regard north of the border, and what it says about our international relationship deserves serious consideration south of the border. In commenting on a recent list of instructions from Washington on how the Canadians should conduct themselves it states:

"Day by day and year by year, it is becoming clearer and clearer that the easy, least painful and by far the least expensive way for Canadians to meet our national problems would be to quit trying to deal with them, go on a nationwide tax and work holiday and let our national affairs go to pot.

"After a few months of that, we could count on thorough national chaos.

"We could then count on the Americans rushing to our aid with lovely loans and gifts, and sending us battalions of experts to 'advise' us on how to manage our affairs.

"If it happened that a few U. S. buildings in Canada got burned and a few U. S. embassy limousines got overturned, we might even get a visit and a pat on the head from the President. Of course, we would get scientific and cultural delegations to lead us toward the light.

"Canada is in chronic trouble with the U. S. because it has NOT done those things. It has not taken money from Washington. It struggles mightily to pay its own way, to put its house meticulously in order and to be a respectable, non-troublesome and useful member of the Western alliance.

"It is George Ball, the U. S. Undersecretary of State, who has launched the biggest recent attack on Canada for its efforts to mind well its own business and to perform sensibly the duties of nationhood.

"This set of dire warnings to us, and instructions for us, is interesting because Ball attacks quite directly specific policies of the Canadian government. Ball doubtless does this readily because his State Department is so busy 'advising' Brazil, the Congo and many others on how to behave."

Along with the front-page editorial the Financial Post carried a news report from Washington, written by C. Knowlton Nash, which stated:

"Canada has just received do's and don'ts of government policy by the Johnson administration in the most direct public and senior verbal attack in years by the U. S.

"The Washington statement of policy was particularly significant because it is the first time in years that top-level U. S. officials have said anything publicly other than the "hands-across-the-border" variety of statement. Furthermore, it came on the eve of the Canada-U. S. cabinet-level economic meeting in Ottawa this week."

Reporter Nash pointed out that in his attacks on Canadian measures for economic survival, "Ball tended to support the concept of the North American continent as an economic whole," and in support of this conclusion he included the following quotation from the Ball speech:

"From the point of view of economic principles, there is no doubt that Canada and the U. S. could employ the resources of North America most efficiently by developing the continent as a single great market."

I am sure we can all agree, and when I say "we" I include our Canadian friends, that there is much to be said in favor of this "point of view of economic principles." We already have made much progress in that direction, but we are not going to make more progress by hitting our neighbors, an independent nation, over the head by demands from Washington as to what they "must" do.

Our Canadian friends, I am sure, would be glad to sit down with us in conference and approach these problems as reasonable and rational neighbors should discuss the problems they have in common. But I am sure the Canadians are not going to start taking orders from Washington, and I can understand their resentment when Washington officials start throwing their weight around.

The greatest weakness of the present administration in Washington is the obvious fact that it is loaded down with too many headline seekers.

A nation-wide railroad strike has been averted, and that is good. President Lyndon Johnson is being given credit for resolving the differences between management and labor and no doubt he deserves a pat on the back for bringing the conflicting interests into at least a temporary agreement. The alternative would have been government seizure of the operations. A nation-wide shutdown of railroad service would be disastrous for our economy.

The differences between labor and management have been resolved. It is too early to express opinions as to whether the settlement was good or bad. The important consideration in deciding whether the settlement was good or bad will not be based on the effects of the agreement on the railroads or the workers alone. The important interest, in the final analysis of a dispute of this kind, is, and must be, the public interest.

I will leave that question for the historians to decide.

President Johnson has expressed concern about the danger of inflation. I am glad that he is concerned and I sincerely hope that he will do everything in his power to curb the forces of inflation that are becoming a serious threat to our economy.

We now are in a period of boom. Wages and salaries and industrial profits are mounting steadily. The farmer seems to be the only fellow whose buying power is diminishing. And of course there is that army of the unemployed.

I agree with President Johnson that we are in a dangerous period of boom that, if something drastic is not done to bring it under control, will lead us inevitably into a period of bust.

The boom that we are enjoying is due largely to campaign year government spending. President Johnson has encouraged this spending program—spending more and taxing less—to buy votes. Under the circumstances, I would suggest to the President, that if he really is concerned about the dangers of runaway inflation with which we are threatened, that he have a conference with himself and try to figure out what contributions he can make in a nation-wide effort to curb the dangers which threaten us, due in a large measure to the errors of his administration, some of his own making and some which he inherited.

Points to Remember In Hanging Pictures

Whether you intensify or lessen the beauty and dramatic effect of the pictures on your walls depends on how you hang them, according to Miss Carolyn Offerdahl, Pennington county home agent.

Pictures should provide enjoyment for family members and guests, and should enhance the at- when little attention is given to the way these pictures are hung, much of their effectiveness in adding beauty and warmth to the home is lost, Miss Offerdahl said.

Guides to help hang pictures to the best advantage include the following:

Place pictures no higher than needed for full enjoyment. The viewer should be able to see them comfortably from a sitting position. Pictures in children's rooms should be low enough for them to enjoy.

Place a picture at the side of a furniture grouping, with a plant, lamp or other accessory to balance the unit. This informal arrangement is often more pleasing than the formal one of centering a picture above a piece of furniture.

Look at the over-all size and shape of the space where pictures are to be hung. A space taller than it is wide is best filled with a vertical picture or a group having a vertical shape. A space wider than it is tall is best filled with a single horizontal picture or a group arranged in horizontal shape. A square space may be filled with a vertical, a horizontal or a square picture.

Hang a picture or a group of pictures near other furnishings. The picture will seem to be a part of the group of furnishings if the space between the picture and any article in the group is narrower than the length of the side of the picture.

Set a picture off from patterned wallpaper by using a wide mat.

In a grouping, hang pictures together that are similar in subject matter, color or technique. To tie them together, you may want to frame and mat all alike.

Combine pictures of various sizes in such a way that the outside of the grouping is a rectangle or a square. Square, vertical and horizontal pictures combine well, but the result may be confusing if oval, round and diamond shapes are added.

Have the space between individual pictures in a grouping no greater than the width or depth of the pictures themselves. Take into consideration also the size of the whole unit in relation to the wall space.

The ammendment, which guarantees fair tax treatment to the taconite industry, will be voted on in Minnesota November 3, 1964.

Census Is Made of Ruffed Grouse

The annual spring ruffed grouse drumming count is now in progress in Minnesota, the state game and fish division reported today.

Area game managers drive over selected roads and trails in the grouse range, making periodic stops to record the number of drumming grouse heard. The routes are run early in the morning and only under certain weather conditions so that the findings are comparable from area to area and from year to year.

Purpose of the annual count is to obtain an index to the ruffed grouse population during the breeding season.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor
Thief River Falls Times
Thief River Falls, Minnesota
Dear Sir:

Recently we had occasion to read an issue of your newspaper in which differing viewpoints concerning multi-county libraries were expressed. On behalf of the regional library board and myself, I wish to call attention to the successful development of this library, organized in 1959, which is now serving Aitkin, Isanti, Mille Lacs and Pine Counties. We take some pride in having received the top national library award of $5,000 given in 1964 by the Book-of-the-Month Club, a fact which speaks for itself.

Enclosed for your information are copies of our annual information booklets and of recent monthly reports which give facts about our organization, development and operation. I have marked in the monthly reports some of the comments of our bookmobile borrowers; they are among our most enthusiastic library users. Copies of any and all of these reports are available on request.

We are building a library that is a center of informational materials as well as a source of recreational reading. Villages such as Hinckley where libraries previously existed now have vastly expanded resources, thanks to affiliation with a regional system. Rural areas with no previous library service have a bookmobile coming to community stops once every two weeks, or have books available by mail if preferred.

At no library agency is service limited to just what the borrower sees on the shelves; any book in the system, and others via interlibrary loan, may be requested at any time. Many of the books at an agency are rotated during a year to give maximum on-the-spot choice to the library user. Between rotations many requests for subject-matter (such topics as automobile repair, stamp collecting, antiques, upholstering furniture) are filled along with those for certain titles and authors.

The professionally organized library is an educational resource for people from all walks of life, whether they have had the advantages of formal education or not. Those who have made use of it count the cost as small in comparison with the value received. The fact is, the cost of library services in our counties comes very near the bottom of the list of tax millages in amount, and this would still be true even if grants-in-aid were added to the amount in local taxation.

Sincerely yours,
Marjorie J. Pomeroy
Director
East Central Regional Library

Five Pennington 4-H Members at Counselor Camp

Five 4-H members from Pennington county attended a 4-H counselor's training camp at Camp Induhopi May 1 through 3, according to Miss Carolyn Offerdahl, county home agent. They were Linda Swanson, Highlanding; Jerome Melhouse, City View; Karen Kron, New Solum; Judy Oski, Mavie; and John Hellquist, New Solum.

Workshop the 4-H'es attended were camp safety, outdoor cookery, nature study, counselor cooking with campers, indoor recreation, outdoor recreation, crafts and camp singing. These workshops trained the counselors and agents to work in these areas when conducting a county camp.

Camping contributes five things to the development of youth. These include good health, spiritual development, social development, citizenship training and development of self reliance and resourcefulness. Camp Induhopi did accomplish these things in the 4-H members attending the camp, Miss Offerdahl said.

Counties that participated in the camp were: Pennington, Hennepin, Rice, Olmstead, Anoka, Morrison, Chisago, Sherburne, Houston, Martin, Dakota, Winona, Isanti, Mille Lacs, Fillmore, Scott, Faribault, Freeborn, Goodhue and Steele.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

They'll be here any minute! As soon as I finish the flowers I'll go and sit with Dad on the front porch, so we'll be right there when they all drive in. It'll be just wonderful to see them again.

Dad and I were saying last night that we couldn't have been blessed with better children or lovelier grandchildren. We've been so fortunate. Of course, there have been some tragic and terrible times, but God has never failed to give us the strength to meet them, and the courage to go on again.

We've always been a churchgoing family, and I know the children never miss a Sunday even now. Tomorrow we'll all go to church together, and it will seem like the old days when our family was still here at home. We have so much to thank God for, every one of us.

DISPLAY of projects completed during the past year in the Pennington county home program was viewed with interest by a number of women attending the annual Pennington county homemaker achievement day Thursday at Zion Lutheran church. Shown inspecting part of the display are Mrs. Vernon Sorenson, left, and Mrs. Lester Chapman, both members of the Silverton homemakers club of which Mrs. Chapman is chairman. Both are wearing hats which they made at the hat-making session in April. Twelve ladies modeled hats they had made at the session.

Achievement Day Held By Homemakers Thurs.

"Women in our society have traditionally found their greatest glory and highest rewards in the roles of homemakers and mothers," stated Mrs. Garole Yoho, state extension staff member, in addressing 125 women attending homemakers achievement day Thursday at Zion Lutheran church in Thief River Falls.

"While these roles are wonderful, satisfying and extremely important," Mrs. Yoho said, "women of this generation need to take a more penetrating look at the civic problems outside the home to see how they might contribute to the search for some solutions.

"Women have readily assumed the responsibility for maintaining the home, feeding the family and caring for the children. Aren't the type of home itself, the kind of community in which it is situated, the kind of schools to which we entrust those children for a good share of each day and the type of recreational facilities and cultural offerings of concern to us too in our family roles?"

She urged women to participate in politics. There are two big problems which have arisen, she said. These are how to restrain governmental power and yet protect the individual from actual and potential suppression at the same time, and how to preserve the quality of self-government and secure widespread civic participation.

Mrs. Harry Sjulson served as mistress of ceremonies for the program with the welcome given by Mrs. Edgar Naplin, president of the extension home council. Mrs. William Penning led in group singing, Mrs. A. E. Koglin gave a reading and Miss Carolyn Offerdahl, county home agent, reviewed the past year's work.

Twelve women modeled hats which they had made at a session on hat-making held in April. Entertainment was provided by "The Coachmen Three" and door prizes were won by Mrs. Carl Langlie of Plummer, Mrs. William Kruse and Mrs. Ella Hardisty of Thief River Falls.

Special recognition was given to Miss Clara Olson who organized the Sewing Four club in 1924. The organization is now known as the Helperette homemaker club and has been in existence for 40 years. First members of the club walked to their meetings, averaging three miles one way. By 1926 the club had 12 members, and membership is limited to that number at the present time.

In 1928 the first homemaker group was organized in the county by Mrs. Freeman Allen who served as the first county chairman. The Helperette club became the pilot experiment project group with a sewing project being the first effort. Mrs. John Ranum is also a charter member of the club.

In addition to homemaker projects, the club devotes much time to quilt-making, Red Cross work and other charitable endeavors.

NEWFOLDEN high school honor students included Vernon Olson, valedictorian, and Emilie Carlson, salutatorian. Vernon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nels Olson of Newfolden and Emilie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Carlson of Holt. Both students have participated in numerous extra-curricular activities and have been excellent school citizens, according to Charles Fisher, school principal.

Pennington Among 29 Counties Where Value Of Property Declines

The real and personal property taxes which Minnesota property owners will be paying this year have climbed to a new all-time high of $549.5 million—up $29.1 million from last year, according to Charles P. Stone, general counsel of the Minnesota Taxpayers association.

Taxable values of property, against which these property taxes were levied, increased only $14.3 million—about one-fourth of the normal increase.

Actual decreases in taxable values were recorded in 29 counties, Stone said. In 55 counties the increases in taxable values were insufficient to avoid mill rate increases stemming from increases in tax levies. Average mill rates dropped in only three counties—Big Stone, LeSueur and Mahnomen. Each of these counties reported both increases in taxable values and reductions in total tax levies.

Pennington county is among the 29. Taxable values total $5,132,642, down $15,808 from last year; the tax levy total is $1,424,879, up $60,370, and the average mill rate in the county is 277.61 mills, up 12.58 mills from last year.

Stone's figures were based on the county reports received by State Auditor Stafford King for inclusion in his annual abstract of real and personal property taxes, soon to be available in printed form.

"Statewide, the increase in the property tax base was at the lowest level in a generation," Stone said. "This lag in tax base growth, coupled with the substantial jump in tax levies, has forced the average mill rate in Minnesota up 11.10 mills to a record high of 235.21 mills. Property owners in 84 of the 87 counties are confronted with county average mill rate increases ranging from 0.70 mills to 37.15 mills.

"The sharp slump in net additions of taxable property, and the higher tax bills that must be paid by the vast majority of property owners, are costly reminders that the time for tax reform in Minnesota is long past due."

PHENYLKETONURIA

Q. Will you please discuss the cause and treatment of phenylketonuria?

A. Phenylketonuria is an inborn error in the utilization of phenylalanine, a body protein. The most important effect of the disorder is mental retardation. Early treatment of children with phenylketonuria helps ward off the mental effects. A milk preparation complete in all constituents other than phenylalanine is fed as early as possible. Low protein fruits, vegetables, grains and beverages are also provided, allowing for good growth and near normal intelligence. The diet is followed until the child finishes kindergarten or enters regular school.

CATCH-UP GROWTH

Q. Our 10-year-old has just recovered from a serious year-long illness. He is definitely stunted in growth. Is there any chance of his "making up for lost time?"

A. Yes. Studies show that children whose growth has been retarded by illness tend to grow at a greater than normal rate after the disorder is corrected. Rapid growth often continues until the child "catches up" and regains his previous normal growth rate.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

MRS. JAMES (TEEN) BERG

A city housewife who enjoys imaginative cookery, among other things, and confesses to "having a ball" trying out variations according to her own whims, concocted this rice chow mein dish. At our request, she sent it in to share with Karnival readers. Luckily, she has a husband with a daring which prompts him to approach with enthusiasm any dish she may "dream up." His stamp of approval on her efforts is her greatest satisfaction.

HAMBURGER CHOW MEIN

- 1 lb. hamburger
- 2 cups celery, diced
- 2 cans mushroom soup
- 1 Bermuda onion, minced (or onion powder, if preferred)
- 4 cups boiled rice or prepared Minute rice
- 1 teaspoon salt
- one-eighth teaspoon pepper
- ½ to 1 bottle soy sauce

(The mushroom soup is slightly salty in undiluted form, hence the amount of additional salt is somewhat small.)

Brown hamburger slowly in an ungreased frying pan. Pour off excess fat. Add 1 to 2 cups water, the chopped celery, onions and seasonings. Simmer until the vegetables are tender, but not soft. Put rice and hamburger mixture in a greased casserole or Dutch oven, add the mushroom soup and water enough to make it sufficiently juicy. Add soy sauce. Bake until mixture starts to thicken, at about 250 to 300 degrees. If desired, more soy sauce may be added at serving time.

Doesn't this sound like something you'd like to take along on that next picnic? I'm sure it will keep well overnight in the refrigerator, saving a great deal of time on the day of the picnic. It's good for a buffet meal, too, and can be kept hot over a candle warmer or in a chafing dish.

Mrs. Berg is decidedly "on the active side," past president of the BPO Does; presently an officer in the Eagles auxiliary (vice-president, to be specific); secretary of the Nite Hawk bowling league, an instructor of junior bowlers, and a member of the Order of the Eastern Star. She also knits, when she takes the time. A son, Louis, lives in Granite City, Ill. They, in turn, have a son, Russell Dean, who just celebrated his first birthday.

With the opening of the fishing season only days away, the Bergs are getting their tackle and other equipment in shape and their enthusiasm at fever pitch. Mr. Berg is a conductor with the Soo Line during his working hours.

O'Gorman Completes Architectural Study

Paul O'Gorman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom O'Gorman of Thief River Falls, has completed the prescribed course in architectural drafting at the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical school. Beginning May 18 he will be employed at Wells, Denbrook & Associates in Grand Forks.

Not Many Firemen in TRF Will Have Jobs Terminated

New regulations regarding the elimination of fireman in the engine crew of freight trains and yard switching engines is not likely to create a serious problem immediately here in Thief River Falls, according to local Soo Line officials. Only three of the employees who classify as firemen have less than two years of service and would be dismissed with severence pay.

Seven of the present firemen with from two to ten years of service would be subject to transfer to other company jobs at comparable wages if available with employment guaranteed for a period of five years. The status of firemen with more than ten years of service would not be changed.

The rules pertaining to seniority are unchanged and as the older engineers retire for any of several reasons, they will be replaced by younger men.

The elimination of firemen does not apply to passenger trains or to engines in yard service unless they are equipped with special safety equipment that would automatically stop the engine under certain conditions.

In all cases there would be two men in the cab of the engine of a freight train, either a fireman or another member of the train crew accompanying the engineer.

Technical Institute At Crookston Studied

A two-year college-level technical institute is now being studied by a 12-man committee of the University of Minnesota as a logical next educational service at the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston. This committee will meet in Crookston the early part of May.

"What kind of a two-year college is a technical institute?" was a question asked of Tom Hagen, president of the Northwest Educational Improvement association. "The main objective of this type college is to train men and women for callings that occupy an area between the skilled craft and the highly scientific professions," he answered.

Hagen emphasized, "The work should not be confused with that of an industrial or trade school where the instruction is pointed primarily to a skill. "Instead," he said, "the work at a technical institute is set at a high level of basic science with the skills developed in the shop or laboratory as supplements to the classroom theory."

At technical institutes in other parts of the United States, nearly all offer appropriate fine arts courses on an elective basis. The student is required to master a core of 'general education' including science, mathematics, communication and economics, along with the technical training, so he develops as a citizen as well as a wage earner.

The 12-man university committee has been busy visiting technical institutes, comparing institutions and gathering facts which can be adapted to the proposed institution.

Some of the technical curriculums, which will be finally sifted out, may well fill some gaps in technical education for the entire state of Minnesota, say NWEIA officials.

Findings of this committee, as finally approved by the Board of Regents will be presented to the 1965 Legislative session for action.

DISCUSSING plans to carry out the Minnesota FFA convention directive to conduct a smoking and health educational program among members of this farm youth organization are, left to right, David Hartle, Owatonna, new state President; Roger Hardy, Sacred Heart, retiring President; Joseph Coyne, Minooka, Ill., National Vice President, and Wayne J. Kortesmaki, State Executive Secretary. The program will be conducted in cooperation with the Minnesota Division of the American Cancer Society.

Minnesota FFA Adopts Campaign Against Smoking

Educational Effort Will Be Conducted Through Cancer Society Support

Minnesota's Future Farmers of America have endorsed a campaign to inform the 14,009 members of this youth organization of the health risks of cigarette smoking, according to David Hartle of Owatonna, newly elected state FFA president.

The educational effort will be carried out in cooperation with the Minnesota Division of the American Cancer Society. It was approved by delegates ranging in age from 14 to 21 at the annual FFA convention held last week at the St. Paul campus of the University of Minnesota.

Pointing out that FFA has nearly 300 local chapters scattered throughout Minnesota, Wayne J. Kortesmaki, state FFA executive secretary, said, "I believe our blue-jacketed boys serve as an example to other young people. They should not participate in an activity that impaires health."

The state FFA's eight regional vice presidents will serve as a committee to implement the program on the local level. They are: Mark Bruggeman, Thief River Falls; Robert Cleever, Eagle Bend; David Skrove, Alexandria; David Skogen, Princeton; Vernon Schwartz, Danube; Carl Rolloff, New Ulm; Dennis Whitney, Delavan; and Gene Sim, Lewiston.

Corrections Agent Speaks Wednesday To Lions Club

Donald W. Sullivan Is Guest Speaker: Tells Causes of Delinquency

Donald W. Sullivan, law enforcement consultant for the community services and prevention section of the Department of Corrections, was guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Thief River Falls Lions club on Wednesday. He was introduced by Milton Olson, regional officer for the department of corrections, who was also a guest at the meeting. C. W. Rodekuhr was program chairman.

Sullivan, formerly a member of the Minneapolis police department for 21 years, told the club that 95 per cent of today's youngsters are behaving themselves and that only five per cent are creating juvenile problems. Delinquency is a result of multiple causes, he said, many times the result of a break-down in parent and children relationships.

Among the reasons cited were over-protection of the youth by his or her parents, over-dependency of the youth on his parents, rejection of the youth by his parents, excessive restrictions placed on the youth, exploitation of the child by his parents, favoritism within the family forcing the youth to compete for parental attenion, erratic discipline sometimes too harsh for the misdeed, and inferiority complex from being compared with more capable children.

In commenting on juvenile violence, Sullivan showed some of the illegal weapons used by delinquents. These included switchblade knives, hand-made zip guns, several cut-down guns, heavy dog chain, brass knuckles, cap gun converted to fire a .22 caliber bullet, blackjack, home burglar tools and jumper wires used to by-pass the ignition switch when stealing cars.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor Times:

On Memorial Day Americans pay tribute to the departed. But what about the living? Wouldn't it be wonderful if there was a way to honor the dead—and at the same time safeguard our loved ones and ourselves against the perils of heart attacks, strokes and other diseases of the heart and blood vessels?

Well, there is. It is the Heart Fund Memorial program. Consider this fact: today on Memorial Day approximately 46 of our Minnesota friends will die of heart diseases. This toll must be reduced and it can be through continued heart research. Minnesota Heart Association gives approximately $300,000 to heart research each year.

Progress is being made—great progress. Dedicated physicians, surgeons and technicians are making significant breakthroughs every year. But so much more must be done and each Minnesotan can help by sending his or her memorial gift for research in the name of a departed relative, friend of business associate, to his county memorial chairman. All Memorial gifts are used exclusively for heart research.

"We must be able to admit we are wrong. One of the advantages of growing and learning is to recognize our thinking or feelings were in error when younger. Only those who can acknowledge they were wrong grow and profit from those errors of judgment and youth." —George Bradshaw

It Was Mother's Day

For those of you who may have forgotten (and were probably reminded by your wives), yesterday was officially Mother's Day. This is one of those days when women expect to receive tribute, either oral or physical, because they have fulfilled their obligations for preservation of the species.

There are few things, we suppose, which are held more semi-sacred than motherhood, and this is perhaps as it should be. The second Sunday in May is the one day when we quit complaining long enough to acknowledge that mothers do play a number of very vital roles in life itself.

The first role is that physical phenomenon of bringing into the world a new, living creature. The second role is a continuing one of rearing the child toward maturity, teaching lessons which must be learned, caring for physical and mental needs, meting out discipline as it is required and in other ways molding the child into a valuable part of the world of tomorrow.

Appreciation of motherhood develops in the human being from the first feeling of warmth and comfort, through the stages of dependency to the final realization that mother was more than a restraining force and a disciplinarian. It is perhaps this final realization that makes motherhood the semi-sacred institution that it is.

Special observance of Mother's Day, however, began back in 1908 when Miss Anna M. Jarvis arranged a memorial service to her mother in her own church. It proved to be such a fitting recognition of the common debt all owe to their mothers that the suggestion was implemented to establish a day on which annual tribute would be paid to "mother". Mother's Day is now observed throughout the United States, in Canada and 43 other nations.

This year's observance was the 50th anniversary of the official proclamation of Mother's Day by President Woodrow Wilson on May 8, 1914. So if you forgot yesterday was Mother's Day, don't be too upset. Mothers are accustomed to being taken for granted anyway.

Let Well Enough Alone

As a consumer, every person in the country should be alarmed by legislative proposals now before Congress which are aimed toward establishing the federal government as ruler of the free market and competitive retailing. One such proposal, which has passed the Senate, is called the Design Protection Bill. But Congressman Willis, who is chairman of the House subcommittee considering the measure, has stated that it will not be reported on before the opposition has had an opportunity to be heard.

That is good news. For the bill, superficially desirable as it may seem, is filled with dynamite. And the damage that it could do to manufacturers, retailers and the vast majority of consumers needs to be revealed.

Women's clothes are an excellent example. At the beginning fantastically-priced "originals" are produced by the fashionable couturiers here and abroad. Then, later, the widely - publicized designs are copied, in whole or in part, and made available to the mass market at reasonable prices. This has always been the case and it has worked to the satisfaction of all concerned. The wealthy woman of fashion gets her expensive dress; the woman who can't afford a $500 original, later gets what she wants and finds attractive at a price she can pay.

The new bill would change all this. It would make possible a monopoly of design. Imports, according to retail authorities, would be eliminated or virtually so. And the effects of the bill would not be confined to such things as dresses. Its influence would be felt over an extremely broad spectrum of merchandise used by almost all of us. ernment should let well enough alone.

They Had a Ball

Area residents who attended the charity ball sponsored by the Mrs. Jaycees Saturday evening apparently had a good time. Their presence meant that a number of area youngsters will also have a good time. These are the mentally retarded who have been able to attend a local day care center as a result of support by the Mrs. Jaycees chapter.

It is only through the support of the chapter that the day care center has been able to operate to the extent that it does. Proceeds from the charity ball, several hundred dollars each year for the past two years, have been contributed to the Pennington-Red Lake Association for Retarded Children for use in operation of the association's local program.

According to the American Medical association, there are some 5.5 million mentally retarded children and adults in America, and about 126,000 babies are born each year who will be retarded. These include only the recognized cases—there are many more who have not been identified as retarded for one reason or another. One physician has stated, "In terms of magnitude mental retardation is the most handicapping of all childhood disorders."

All branches of medicine—including psychiatry, pediatrics, neurology and general practice, are involved in seeking ways to combat retardation. It has taken centuries to dispel the general notion that a retarded youngster somehow represents a shameful stigma. Now that this has been accomplished with some success, medical science is free to delve into the causes of retardation with hope of effecting a solution.

Until this is accomplished, projects to aid the retarded are very heart-warming. We congratulate the Mrs. Jaycees and the Pennington-Red Lake association for their interest in those less fortunate.

Womens Chapter Of Walton League Given Citation

Honored for Outstanding Service to Conservation Through Tree Planting

A citation honoring the Minnehaha Women's chapter of the Izaak Walton league was presented at the Keep Minnesota Green banquet at the prom center in St. Paul Friday evening, May 1. The award was given to the club by the Minnesota Conservation department's forestry division in appreciation for almost two decades of outstanding contributions to conservation.

Presenting the citation for the division was John Kirkvold, area forester at Cambridge. The award was accepted on behalf of the club by Mrs. LaVon Benson, president.

Composed of business and professional women, career girls, office workers and home makers, the Minnehaha chapter has conducted a tree planting project in the Sand Dunes state forest near Zimmerman for the past 18 years.

During that time the club has planted over 1,000,000 trees and once raised enough money during a fund drive to purchase two tree planting machines for the state forestry division.

Tree plantations established by the club in past years are now producing forest products such as posts and poles.

Other tree planting projects of the club may be seen at the Hennepin county sheriff's station near Medicine Lake, the Columbia golf course, Morris T. Baker park and Columbia school. These plantings were all done by school children on Arbor Day under the club's leadership.

The Minnehaha chapter has also been active in anti-littering campaigns and in encouraging conservation activities in the Girl Scout organization.

Prowlers Edge Roseau 3-2, Top Warroad 11-2

Baseball Squad Meets Crookston Today and Fosston This Tuesday

The baseball Prowlers, after having their five-game winning streak broken by the Bemidji Lumberjacks, 9 to 0 on Thursday, and 2 to 1 on Friday, moved back into the win column by winning a doubleheader on Saturday. Playing at Roseau on Saturday afternoon, and with lefty Pat Fischer going the route, the Prowlers defeated the Roseau Rams, 3 to 2. And on Saturday night, in a game played at Warroad, the Prowlers defeated the Warriors, 11 to 2. Warren Hanestad started on the mound against the Warroads, but he required relief in the fifth inning and David (Nobby) Erickson came in to halt the Warroad threat.

Against the Warroad hurlers, the Prowler batsmen poled out 13 hits, with Wayne Smith unloading a home run over the right field fence in the fifth inning.

The Prowlers will play a district conference game against Crookston Central at Crookston this afternoon, Monday, and on Tuesday the Prowlers will travel to Fosston. The Tuesday date conflicts with the annual senior banquet, and coach Ralph Skay states that he will field a lineup of juniors, sophomores and freshmen against the Greyhounds.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor
Thief River Falls Times
Thief River Falls, Minnesota
Dear Sir:

I would like to express my appreciation for your timely and pertinent editorials. It is indeed gratifying to have an editor that has the fortitude to evaluate the current issues as he sees them.

In a small way I believe many of us can share with one of the greatest military leaders of all time, General Douglas McArthur, the frustrations he felt when he first realized that America's freedoms would be surrendered on a piece meal basis by the no win policy advocated during the Korean war. Since that time we have seen a continuation of this demoralizing, appeasement policy in Cuba and Vietnam (see "America's Tragedy in Vietnam—Why our GI's Die but Can't Win", May 11, 1964 issue of U. S. News and World Report). Our cold war relationships with the Communist Bloc and policies in our own country seem to be following this same trend.

In light of continued exposures by the FBI and The House Committee on Un-American Activities of the Communist infiltration into our country one would think there would be a return to God, Americanism, patriotism, and the principles that have made our country great. But instead of this we see compromises on every hand with the forces of evil.

J. Edgar Hoover tells us, "During the past 2 years, Communist spokesmen have appeared on nearly 100 campuses from coast to coast. Their purpose: To create confusion, raise questions and spread doubt among our young people concerning the American way of life". This we are told is "academic freedom" and is a must in order for the minds of our young people to develop properly. But at the same time our children are denied the priviledge of Bible reading and prayer in our public schools. At the present time the constitutionality of reference to God in the Star Spangled Banner, America, and the Pledge of Allegiance are being questioned in many of our States.

Might it be that we could profit from the eternal truths given to us by two of the greatest—General McArthur who said, "In war there is no substitute for victory", and George Washington, "It is impossible to rightly govern the world without God and the Bible".

Will the blessing of God continue to be ours in America? I think the answer is found in Psalm 33:12, "Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord".

Yours truly,
Bob Vielguth

In Minnesota...
after a swim, beer is a natural

On a hot summer day, a dip in a cool stream can be wonderfully refreshing. Equally refreshing when you're relaxing afterwards with friends is a hearty glass of beer. There's hardly another beverage around that suits what you do for fun as much as beer. Camping, hiking, or just lounging on a lawn chair—beer brings to each just the right touch of extra good living.

Your familiar glass of beer is also a pleasurable reminder that we live in a land of personal freedom—and that our right to enjoy beer and ale, if we so desire, is just one, but an important one, of those personal freedoms.

In Minnesota...beer goes with fun, with relaxation

Who Ever Heard Of Feeding Half-A-Cow

Many dairy farmers rely on early spring pastures to fill the feed gap. But here, is where the real dairymen know that skimpy pastures are not the answer for good milk production and herd health. In a sense you are feeding half-a-cow and expecting full production. Why not give your herd a break and supplement their ration with Land O Lakes Milk Formulas. You'll notice a big change in your dairy cattle.

Prowler Win Streak Snapped by Bemidji

The baseball Prowlers, after extending their winning streak to five games by scoring a 6 to 4 win over the Roseau Rams at Roseau on Wednesday afternoon, had this win streak snapped by the Bemidji Lumberjacks on Thursday afternoon, losing at Bemidji, 9 to 0. And on Friday afternoon, in a game played on the Fairgrounds diamond, the Jacks made it two straight over the Prowlers by scoring a 2 to 1 win in eight innings.

On Monday afternoon, with game time at 4:30 p. m., the Prowlers will meet coach Linton Lehrer's Crookston Central team on Crookston's Highland Park diamond. On Tuesday, with game time at 4:30 p. m., the Prowlers will meet the Fosston Greyhounds at Fosston. On Wednesday night, with game time slated for 8 p. m., the Red Lake Falls Eagles will invade the Fairgrounds diamond for a return game against the Prowlers.

In Wednesday afternoon's game at Roseau the Prowlers were trailing the Rams, 4 to 3, entering the top of the seventh inning. Don Mathieu, leading off, gained life on an error, Rick Jensen drew a walk off Dennis Nelson, and then Wayne Smith boomed a long home run over the fence in right-center.

Righthander Jack Leedahl went the route for the Prowlers, marking up his first win of the season. The Prowlers played fine defensive ball, with third baseman Warren Hanestad being especially effective in snuffing out potential Roseau rallies.

Playing at Bemidji on Thursday afternoon, the Prowlers, held to but two scratch hits by righthander Jerry Fossand, were beaten by the Jacks, 9 to 0. Coach Horace May's veteran club utilized the heavy hitting of Steve Dale, who poled out a home run in the third inning, and Tom Mathews, who rapped a two-run triple in the fifth inning, to tally five runs in the third and four runs in the fifth. Meanwhile the Prowler batsmen were having difficulty in solving Fossand's righthanded slants, and the two hits credited to the Prowlers were on bad-bounce grounders to second baseman Ralph Lovering.

DOUBLES winners in the city bowling association tournament were Larry Moistad (left) and Reuben Jorde who teamed up to top all entries in the doubles competition. They received their trophies at the annual bowling banquet Tuesday evening in the Eagles hall.

On Friday afternoon, in a game played at Thief River Falls, the Prowlers' Rick Jensen hooked up in a fine duel with Bemidji's John Dow. The Prowlers scored in the first inning on a walk to Don Mathieu, his steal of second, an infield out and Wayne Smith's looping fly ball to center field, which was caught by Lovering on a diving catch, permitting Mathieu to score after the catch.

The Prowlers held that 1 to 0 lead until the fifth when Bemidji scored an unearned run to knot the game. Tom Mathews opened the inning with a ground single to left; Lovering sacrificed Mathews to second base; and when shortstop Tom Cummings made a high throw to first base after fielding Don Erickson's ground ball, Mathews sprinted home with the game-tying run.

John Dow pitched no-hit ball for the Lumberjacks, and the lone Prowler to reach base was Mathieu, who walked and scored in the first inning. Dow retired 24 batters in a row, and collected eleven strikeouts during the process.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

In Jeopardy

For the past three seasons the Prowler track and field squad has won the Northwest Conference title, but the odds are against the local thinclads on Tuesday when, on Crookston's Highland Park field, the conference meet will be held.

In 1961 the Prowlers, with a total of 55 points, and with the winning points coming in the final event on the program, the broad jump, coach Rod Max's squad edged out the Roseau Rams, who tallied 49½ points.

In 1962, in the meet held at Bemidji, the Prowlers scored a total of 64 and five-sixth points, and had a comfortable bulge over the runner-up Crookston Pirates, who scored 41 and one-third points. And last year, in 1963, the Prowlers made it three titles in a row when they rolled up 78 points while the runner-up Bemidji Lumberjacks could tally but 65½ points.

But this season the Bemidji Lumberjacks appear to be the squad that will break the Prowlers' winning streak. The Jacks have what could be called "cinch" first places in the hurdle events, with John Warford approaching record-breaking times. And the pole vault, with Mickey James up around the 12-foot mark, should be another "cinch" for coach Don Thompson's Bemidji squad.

In the Beaver Relays at Bemidji on Saturday, the Lumberjacks, with firsts in the low hurdles and pole vault, and picking up some points in the weight events, had a total of 18 points. The Prowlers, who were without the services of their fine distance runner, Orrin Joppru (he was in Minneapolis seeking a summer-time job), had a total of five points.

But coach Roger Solheim's Prowlers are a young squad, and they have been showing improvement and gaining experience with each meet. The Prowlers may provide a surprise or two on Tuesday.

He Must Be a Prospect

Mike Davison, the young southpaw pitcher from Springfield, must be considered a bright prospect for a major league career. Davison, who pitched for Springfield high school in last year's state high school tournament in St. Paul's Midway stadium, is hurling for the Aberdeen Pheasants of the Class A Northern league.

And in this young season the lefthander has posted two victories for Aberdeen, both being in low-hit and low-run games. The Aberdeen Pheasants are a farm club for the Baltimore Orioles of the American league.

A number of the senior baseball Thieves are interested in the career of young Davison. When the Thieves, winners of the Region 2B title in 1962, participated in the state amateur tournament held at Springfield, the host assigned to the Thieves was Pat Davison, the father of young Mike. Pat, in his younger days, was a professional baseball player, being a pitcher in the Western league, and a good one.

When the Thieves were in Springfield, Pat told us that the San Francisco Giants were very interested in young Mike, who was then a junior in high school. But the Giants, being overloaded with pitchers, apparently gave up the bidding, and he signed with the Orioles. I hope that the Aberdeen pitching rotation is such that Mike will be given a starting assignment against the Grand Forks Dodgers at Grand Forks. It would be worth the while to make the trip over there to watch the former high school star in action.

The Toasts of Winnipeg

The Winnipeg Maroons, the famed Red Wreckers of senior hockey, won the Allan Cup on Thursday night when, by a score of 5 to 3, they closed out their best-of-seven series against the Woodstock Athletics. The Maroons won the series, four games to none, and are the possessors of the Allan Cup, the emblem of Canada's senior hockey championship.

And it has been a long wait for senior hockey fans in Winnipeg. It was back in 1931, when Vic Lindquist was in his young days, that Winnipeg last won the senior hockey championship. Vic was a member of that Winnipeg club, and the team went on to win the Olympic hockey title at Lake Placid in 1932.

The current Winnipeg Maroons club is a veteran club, and says the Maroon press book: "when the majority of the Maroons hang up their skates for good within the next two or three years the club will disband and everyone who has seen them perform will miss the sportsmanlike, thrilling and exciting entertainment displayed by this one aggregation over so many years." It's a fact that the sports fans of Winnipeg are devoted to the Maroons, and now that they are the Allan Cup champions it's doubtful if the Canadian Amateur Hockey association will permit the club to disband.

This Is The Season . . .

Call of the Lakes Invites Anglers

By Huck Olson
Times Sports Editor

This is the season, and the cry of the walleyed pike fisherman is heard throughout the land: "Where are my fishing pants? And where's my tackle box - and minnow bucket - and landing net? Where's the medicine kit and that thermos bottle? Yes, I promise to rake the lawn and put on the screens when I get back." These quotes are choice items from dialogues that have been going on in numerous homes in the area.

And these dialogues all pertain to the opening of the pike fishing season in Minnesota at 12:01 a.m. on Saturday, May 16.

While the spring season has been a couple of weeks tardy, and the ice break-up in such prime fishing waters as Lake of the Woods and Red Lake is behind schedule, it is expected that angling prospects, and the luck, will be up to par. And it's the hope of all that the opener on Saturday will be better than last season's weather-plagued opener, when snow flurries and cold weather "cooled off" the fishing.

As usual the greatest concentration of fishermen will be at Waskish, at the Tamarac river inlet. Dick LeMoine, Dr. Ed Gilbert, Ralph Hunt, and their boys, will be packing up their camping gear and setting out for Waskish on Friday. The group establishes a camp on the lakeshore. Another Waskish-bound party is the Pete Klungness-Lars Ose-Del Seefeldt group. And if Pete has his usual luck (he goes fishing at midnight) the party will have walleyed pike for Saturday morning breakfast. And Ray and Harry Oen will hold an "open house" at their cabin on the lake, and they will meet friends they haven't seen for years. All in all, Waskish will enjoy a state fair atmosphere, with crowds and noise and fun. It's an experience, and if the pike co-operate, which they undoubtedly will, it should be a banner opener.

While the Waskish area will be jammed with fishermen, Lake of the Woods, with more available fishing water, will attract just about as many fishermen. All the way from Stony Point, on the Manitoba side, around the lake to Springsteel Island, Swift outlet ditch, Rocky Point, Long Point, Morris Point, Wheeler's Point, and to Burton Island in Ontario, the fishermen will be playing the waters for the walleyes.

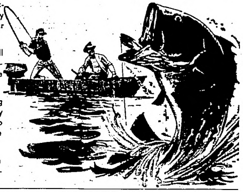
Rainy river will be the headquarters for many parties of anglers from this area. The Cotton Langevin-Stan Cockrell-Bob Cralk Elks club party will be on the Rainy. And with Stan doing the guiding, and Nicky Carlson planning the schedule, the group should get a sauger or two. And the V.F.W. boys—Harlan Huseth, Arn Wysoski, Benny Johnson, Cliff Overum (perhaps) and Arnold Kelley—will have a quorum when the roll is called on Friday night.

But there will be a number of stay-at-home anglers, too, and they will fish the Red Lake and Thief rivers around here. The pool below the dam, which always produces walleyes, and some fine northerns, will be fished heavily. The Eighth Street bridge, and the adjacent Squaw Point area, will be favored by many. And the Thief river, at the golf club bridge, has its devotees, too.

Where's my minnow bucket?

SLOW DOWN AND LIVE!

FISHING SEASON OPENS MAY 16th



Somewhere in your favorite lake or river lurks the big fish you have been seeking for years. Waiting just inside the next weed bed, off the next sand bar or rocky point, or behind a sunken log, the grand-daddy of the species is ready to strike your lure. This is the hope of all fishermen who yield to the excitement of opening day.

Not all fishermen will find the big fish they have been seeking, but a few will be rewarded with good catches. More important, however, all will have the opportunity to get away from the daily routine, to breathe some fresh air and to forget the problems and perplexities of the day.

In this section the fisherman will find many ideas to make his annual opening week-end trip more comfortable and enjoyable. Local merchants offer a huge array of sporting goods and equipment — from common hooks to outboard motors, sinkers to bobbers and sunburn lotion to water-proof rain suits. A number of resorts also invite you to make use of the accommodations they have to offer.

When you take to the water on Saturday, we hope your fishing trip will be a successful one. The fisherman is (fortunately) an incurable optimist, and that grand-daddy walleye or northern may be yours after the very next cast.

Rainy River Area Ready for Opener

Wigwam Resort Owner Says Water Level Rising

"After one of the best winters for ice fishing in many years, most local fishermen predict also very good fishing for this coming summer," writes Loren Smith, owner of the Wigwam resort at Baudette.

"While water level is quite low at the present time, it is not considered unusual for this time of the year and is beginning to rise," Smith said. Business for the coming year appears to be ahead of previous years, with the weather again expected to play the most important part in a successful season.

Launch fishing is getting more popular each year as the larger boats generally venture out further on the vast body of water comprising Lake of the Woods. This enables anglers to try a number of fishing spots until they find where the walleyes are hitting best.

It is expected that a large number of anglers from this area will fish the mouth of the Rainy river at Baudette on the opening week-end and all indications are that fishing should be good. The river itself also offers some fine fishing.

Girls are more poorly fed than boys. Nutrients most lacking in teen-age diets are calcium and vitamin C, reports the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Drinking more milk and eating more vegetables and fruits would overcome these deficiencies, say nutritionists.

Fishing Fever
reaches epidemic stages on the opening weekend. The only cure is to go fishing . . . . so go ahead!
But when you pack for that long-awaited trip to the lake, don't forget your favorite beverage. In the hot sun or the cool shade, your favorite beer means real refreshment.

Red Lake Indian Reservation Has Fishing to Offer

Island Lakes, Red Lake River Below Outlet Are Open on Permit Basis

Inland lakes and the Red Lake river below the outlet on the Red Lake Indian reservation should supply fishermen with plenty of action on opening weekend, according to Dan Needham, treasurer of the tribal council of the Red Lake Beand of Chippewa Indians.

Fishermen may try their hand at fishing on 12 miles of river below the outlet. In past years the river has provided a few walleyes but has been noted for its northerns, generally ranging from four up to 25 pounds. Fish in the five-pound category are among common catches.

Lake She-Mah-Gon, located two and one-half miles east of the village of Redlake, should offer good fishing for walleyes, northerns, bass and panfish, Needham said. The lake is joined to Lower Red Lake by a small creek which permits fish to travel between the small lake and the main body of water.

A chain of three lakes south of Redby will permit anglers to launch their boats and move from one to another without the necessity of portaging. These lakes offer bass, northern and panfish. Many thousands of trout were planted at Island lake one mile south of Redby last year and should be ready for the creel this spring, Needham said. Island lake is deep and is considered excellent for trout reproduction.

Many other inland lakes, including Bass lake, Shell lake and Sandy lake will be open to fishing. Indian guides will lead fishermen to the lakes mentioned and to many others located on the reservation.

A permit from the Red Lake Tribal Council is required to fish on the reservation. Permits are available by writing Dan Needham, Treasurer, Red Lake Tribal Council, Redlake, Minnesota. Cost of the permits is $2.50 daily, $5.50 weekly and $10.50 for the season.

Guides are required when fishing on the reservation with council statute calling for a guide fee of $5 per day per fishing party member. Guides may be obtained by contacting Joe W. Johnson, Indian game warden, at the Red Lake outlet or by contacting the tribal council office at Redlake.

Smelt Run Peak Has Been Reached

Reports from the North Shore of Lake Superior indicate that the peak of the smelt run is over, the conservation department said today. Rain and strong winds made things tough for smelters during the last part of the run and may have reduced the number of smelt usually taken.

Fishermen Will Be Out in Force on Opening Saturday

Barring bad weather, fishermen will be out in full force on Minnesota lakes and streams and Minnesota-Canada boundary waters when the summer fishing season opens Saturday. Information on the opening has been provided by the Minnesota department of conservation.

Walleyes, northerns and muskies will be legal game fish state-wide beginning Saturday. Bass may also be legally taken on Minnesota-Canada boundary waters but muskie fishing on the boundary waters is closed until June 20. For the most part, anglers from this area of the state will be seeking walleyes.

Bass season will not be open state-wide until June 6, but a special early season on bass will begin May 30 in all waters north and east of U. S. highway 53 in northeastern Minnesota.

According to the department of conservation, some lakes in the northern part of the state may be ice-covered on opening day — not an unusual condition for Minnesota. The majority of lakes is expected to be open, however, and Lake of the Woods will be clear of ice, reports indicate.

Daily and posession limits remain much the same as last year. Daily and possession limits include three for northerns, six for walleyes and six for bass. Saugers are counted in the walleye limit on inland waters.

On Minnesota-Canada boundary waters, which include the Rainy river and Lake of the Woods, daily and possession limits include three northerns, 14 walleyes and saugers in aggregate (not more than six may be walleye and dressed sauger combined), one muskellunge, and six bass. Dressed sauger must be counted as walleye since they cannot be readily identified, the Minnesota conservation department states.

No one person (fishing boundary waters) may take a daily aggregate of more than 15 northern pike, walleye, sauger, muskellunge, all species of trout and salmon, black bass and catfish. The aggregate possession limit of these species is 20.

Anglers may take minnows for their own use by means of dip nets, traps and seines no longer than 25 feet nor deeper than four feet. Traps in use must have a metal tag bearing the name and address of the owner. No person may transport more than 12 dozen minnows directly from the waters from which they were taken in any container containing less than 60 gallons of water. No person may keep more than 12 dozen minnows unless the container is equipped with aerating equipment or is provided with a continuous flow of water sufficient to maintain enough dissolved oxygen in the water to keep the minnows in good condition.

Persons possessing fishing licenses for Manitoba or Ontario, and desiring to take Canadian and Minnesota limits, are advised by the Minnesota warden service to catch the Canadian limit first. The Canadian license permits possession only of the limit it entitles. Minnesota limits transported into Canada will not be considered by Canadian authorities to be Minnesota fish. Possession limits to which resident Minnesotans are entitled on their state licenses are honored in Minnesota, and Canadian limits are also allowed if the angler has a valid Canadian license.

Other information is included in the Minnesota 1964 fishing laws synopsis published by the Division of Game and Fish. Anglers are advised to read their copies to become familiar with requirements of fishing laws.

Annual Spring Pheasant Census Is Now Underway

Field men of the state game and fish division have started their annual spring count of pheasants to determine the number and distribution of birds available for spring nesting.

Taken each May, the census is used to obtain information on winter survival, spring pheasant densities and sex ratios. Game wardens, game managers and biologists assigned to the census, drive over pre-determined routes and record the birds they see along the road.

The routes are run early in the morning and under certain weather conditions so that findings are comparable from area to area and from year to year.

Two census routes are laid out in each county in the pheasant range. These same routes are also used in August to estimate nesting success and the number of birds likely to be on hand for the opening of the pheasant season.

In addition to the pheasant counts, observations are also made along the routes on the numbers of Hungarian partridges, cottontails and jack rabbits to obtain information on the abundance and distribution of these species.

Old Refrigerators Prove Dangerous For Youngsters

State Medical Society Urges Removal of Doors To Prevent Suffocation

Your discarded refrigerator is completely airtight and virtually soundproof, which makes it a wonderful place for children to hide, play and die.

The Minnesota State Medical association says that in spite of the large amount of publicity given to this problem, numerous children every year needlessly die because someone has been too careless or too irresponsible to take a few minutes of their time to make their old refrigerator safe. The National Safety council reports that the danger season for refrigerator suffocations reaches its peak in June, and continues through July, August and September. Three out of four victims are from three to six years old.

How can you make certain your old refrigerator won't become a death trap? The association says the job can be done most effectively by removing the door. A person with a screwdriver can do this job in a few minutes. Other methods include: Locking the door with a padlock; setting the door ajar with a toggle and plate device; installing a metal or wood block which will allow air to pass into the cabinet; and wrapping a metal strapping around the refrigerator to secure the door.

Also, says the association, make sure you know where your children are when defrosting a refrigerator. The emptied refrigerator is an irresistible place for a small child to explore.

If possible, keep your freezer locked. They can be a deadly hazard, especially when they are defrosting and empty. Be certain to store portable ice chests in locked areas. If you see a refrigerator which has been dangerously discarded, the association asks that you report it to the police.

Request Shooters Not to Use Road Signs as Targets

Replacement Expensive And Loss of Sign Causes Danger to Motorists

A state highway department bulletin points up the cost and the dangers involved when highway markers are destroyed by shooters who use them as targets. The bulletin refers to a news article which recently appeared in the Rochester Post-Bulletin which called attention to an order issued by the county sheriff and the county engineer that they are taking special measures to enforce the laws covering sign shooting.

Persons responsible for such acts can be prosecuted for malicious destruction of property, whether it be a county or state sign, the Minnesota highway department warns.

Let not the importance of a single sign be overlooked. Motorists these days are so sign-conscious in their driving that many of their reactions are semi-automatic as they reach a point on a road where a sign is to be expected. Should that sign be defaced or absent, any kind of tragedy could result. And for the less sign-conscious driver, the warning just is not there to serve as a caution.

Law enforcement agents may not be handy to catch the culprits. But the tricky rifle or pistol "expert" has no assurance he was not witnessed in his thoughtless act of depredation.

Camp Facilities At State Parks Open for Summer

All Minnesota state parks offering camping facilities are now open for the summer, although campers may have to carry their water in some of the parks on the northern part of the state.

The conservation department's division of state parks today announced that water has been turned on in all the park campgrounds in the southern half of the state and that facilities should be in operation in northern campgrounds by May 15.

Weather conditions will determine the exact date that water can be turned on in the northern state parks, but in the meantime campers can stay in any of these parks that have permanent caretakers and carry their water from the residence.

Warroad Area Is Optimistic About Season Opening

Cal Marvin Reports Ice Will Have Disappeared; South Shore Looks Best

Optimism about the opening of the 1964 fishing season at Warroad is running high, according to Cal Marvin, operator of Cal's Motel at Warroad. "Resorts are all very optimistic as the reservation books look better this year than any year to date," he wrote in a letter to the Times.

Ice was about all gone from Lake of the Woods last week and another good wind was all that was needed to clear the lake entirely. Don Hanson, veteran bush pilot, flew over the lake Thursday and noted ice piled up heavy along Sandy beach. There will apparently be no question about Lake of the Woods being free of ice for the fishermen.

The Bert Steele and Resolute that run regular passenger service from Warroad to Oak and Flag Islands were expected to make their first trips today. Anglers who care to make fly-in trips from Warroad will find two float planes based there, operated by Don Hanson and Maynard Carlson.

Most boat operators and resorters have had a difficult time getting their camps ready and painting done because of the steady rains, Marvin reports, but he expects that all will be ready when the season opens.

Cal predicts that veteran fishermen in the Warroad area will concentrate on the south shore and the mouth of the Warroad river where it empties into Lake of the Woods. Opening day prospects are good.

The first was in the First Baptist church May 3, and was won by Ivan Ose. On the following Monday, Eunice Wold was declared winner of the contest staged in the St. Pauli Lutheran church. Gold medals for the awards were given by Mr. and Mrs. Mons Engelstad as memorials to Mrs. Louisa Anderson.

Mrs. Koughan of the Salvation Army led devotions and spoke on woman's place and importance in the home and community. Geneva Overum reported on chapter four of the book, "Mind If I Smoke?"

Election of officers was the last item of business on the agenda, with all incumbent officers re-elected for another year.

Tweten-Skime Vows Spoken At Ev. Free Church May 2

Miss Bernice Tweten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Tweten of this city, became the bride of Roger Skime at Evangelical Free church in Thief River Falls on May 2 at an evening double-ring service read by Rev. Wesley Johnson. Candelabra and a pair of baskets with white gladioli and pink carnations enhanced the altar setting. There were 125 relatives and friends in attendance. Mr. Skime is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Skime of Skime.

The "Bridal Chorus" was played as the processional with Mrs. Rose Trontvedt of Thief River Falls at the organ. "O Perfect Love and "Wedding Prayer" were sung by soloist Lucille Melby and Gloria Melby sang "A Wedding Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of satin with lace-ornamented bodice and scoop neckline. Full-length sleeves terminated in points over her wrists. The lace-accented train was caught at the back waistline with a bow and her fingertip veil was secured by a pearl crown. The bridal bouquet was a cascade of white roses and deep pink sweetheart roses with accents of white satin ribbon.

Maid of honor was Gloria Melby of Thief River Falls, a friend of the bride. The birde's sister, Sharon Tweten of Thief River Falls, attended her as bridesmaid. The attendants' identical gowns were of light blue batiste and their cascade bouquets were of light pink carnations and deeper pink sweetheart roses.

The groom was attended by his brother Ronnie Skime of Skime, as best man, and Kenneth Peterson, a friend, as groomsman. Ronald Broten and Frank Nystrom ushered the guests. The groom's attire was a white dinner jacket, dark trousers and a rose boutonniere.

Mrs. Tweten chose a white dress with pink trim, and a corsage of pink carnations and roses. Mrs. Skime wore a gray printed dress and a similar corsage.

Approximately 100 guests were received at the reception given in the church parlors, with the parents of the bride as hosts. The wedding cake was three-tiered and topped with a miniature bride and groom under a wedding bell.

Guests attending were from St. Paul, Roseau, Skime, Goodridge, Gatzke, Moorhead, Crookston, Long Prairie and Finland, Minn., and Grafton, Petersburg, Forest River and Grand Froks, N. D.

The bride, a 1961 graduate of Lincoln high school, is a practical nurse employed at the Thief River clinic. The groom is a graduate of Roseau high school, also of the class of 1961, and is employed as a draftsman at Arctic Enterprises of this city. They are at home at 224 N. Knealo, Thief River Falls.

The Library Corner

By Virginia Gjernes

"A meeting with a message"... that sums up the district convention of the Minnesota Library association at Bemidji Tuesday. Memembers of the board and the staff attended en masse and absorbed much of the informative material dispensed.

The morning session consisted of a mock board meeting, in the form of a very cleverly written skit. Mrs. Hans Chommie, a most hard-working member of your library board, was a member of the cast. She turned in a most professional job of play-acting, and received applause from the audience which included real-life fellow board members—Mrs. L. B. Hartz and Mrs. Lloyd Bennes. A question and answer and idea-exchange period preceded luncheon.

Miss Emily Mayne and Hannis Smith, both from the St. Paul office of the state department of education, library division (Smith is the director) were on the afternoon's agenda. Miss Mayne spoke of the continued success of regional libraries and the formation of a new one (after the state-federal grant funds were refused recently by our own four-county area commissioners.)

Plans for the future were divulged and county and regional libraries certainly appear to have the inside track! Smith explained the new library service and construction act and what. . .and exactly how much. . .it will mean to undeveloped (or under-developed) areas such as our own. The Federal government is anxious that good library service be available to all. The government is so anxious, in fact, that $55 million of good old hard-earned tax money will be spent to deliver the goods!

H. Berkley Peabody, associate professor, Moorhead State college, addressed the group. He spoke of "controversial books" in public libraries. His final remark was . . . "there is no such thing as a controversial book". His reason for the statement might be this: the librarian orders books her readers want. . .and personal tastes in reading vary as greatly as personal tastes in salad dressings. . . so, every borrower reads the book or books he finds interesting, entertaining or educational. . .and he encourages other borrowers to do the same.

Those who consider murder-mysteries the best of bedtime tonics will let John Le Carre's "A Murder of Quality" or "The Highwire" by William Haggard or "The Sped Arrow" by Valerie Watkinson lull them to sleep with their breathtaking, difficult to unravel plots.

"Erase My Name" is a Jackson Donahue novel that has a twist so unusual you'll be unable to carry on every day tasks until you snap closed the back cover, as you read the final words.

Here's a new one. . ."The Silken Angels". . .sounds like a mystery or a novel! But, it isn't. Martin Caidin has written a history of parachuting that will thrill even the most air-traveled among us. This has the truth behind the words and you'll live through some very real "breathtaking moments" as you turn the pages of this one.

"How to Customize Cars and Rods" by George Barris and Wayne Thoms is a non-fiction book that speaks for itself. It is well done and well illustrated, and the reader will find out how to swap and build taillights, change grilles, reform fenders and countless other important rod information.

And, for you who wait, impatiently, for the annual editions of the hard-bound Better Homes & Gardens volumes dealing with improvement ideas. . .the '64 kitchen ideas, home improvement ideas, home-building ideas and remodeling guide are now on the shelves. Ask your librarian for these and others in these categories.

Sports fans will want to read "Stan Musial". The story the baseball man tells to Bob Broeg is every bit as exciting as the brand of ball he played. This is a good one for people who like people to read, too.

Travelers (especially those who stay-at-home) will want "Under a Lilac-Bleeding Star" by Lesley Blanch. The author has been everywhere and seen everything worthwhile wherever she has gone. . .and she tells you about some of it so vividly you'll feel as though you'v been there too. . . without even having to pack a bag!

"Portrait of the Midwest" is another new one, just in and one that every mid-westerner should read. Written by Douglas Waitley, the book begins in the ice age and ends in the industrial era. He tells of many interesting places, reveals many interesting facts and paints a vivid picture of the midwest.

HAPPY HOMEMAKING

PENNINGTON COUNTY HOME AGENT

Congratulations to the Deer Park 4-H club for the top play and Happy Acres, Lucky Four and Deer Park clubs for having top share-the-fun numbers. They were tremendous! I am sure they are now looking forward to further performances either at Crookston Club Week or the district share-the-fun festival.

Everyone at all eliminations can feel they did an excellent job. The evenings were enjoyable, and I am sure the participants enjoyed being a part of the program.

Everyone likes to share a good recipe. It is easy to prepare new recipes these days, even though they originated in another part of the country and call for ingredients produced thousands of miles from where you live. A wide variety of garden-fresh food is as near as your favorite store at any season of the year as a result of improved farming, transportation, processing, storage, marketing — and the wonderful abundance of food produced by the American farmer.

Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson hails from Texas, and her Pedernales River Chili is a typical southwestern dish.

1 large onion, chopped
2 cloves garlic
1 T. ground oregano
1 T. comino seed
6 T. chili powder, more if needed
1½ c. canned whole tomatoes
2-6 generous dashes of liquid hot pepper sauce
salt to taste
2 c. hot water

Place the meat, onions and garlic in a large heavy fry pan or dutch oven. Cook until light-colored. Add oregano, comino seed, chili powder, tomatoes, hot pepper sauce, salt and hot water. Bring to boil, lower the heat and let simmer about one hour. Skim off fat during cooking.

*Chili meat is coarsely ground round steak or well-trimmed chuck meat. If you are having it specially ground, than ask the meat man to use ¾ inch plate for coarse grind.

Side Line Observations

BY BILL DAHLQUIST

In their report on the United States and its economic future, the authors of the 20th Century Fund predict that by 1975 the average family wage will be $9,525. That is not necessarily a favorable forecast. A very important consideration will be the actual buying power of those dollars.

The report does admit casually that we may expect costs to go up. Taxes at all levels will increase. In other words we are headed for more inflation. And the authors predict that our unemployment problem may worsen. That seems to be a reasonable conclusion if we continue on our present course. We already have priced ourselves out of several important world markets, and too many of our industries are able to operate mainly because of government subsidies.

If instead of passing along the benefits of our increased productivity per man-hour in the form of higher wages and salaries we would distribute the benefits in the form of lower prices there would be no unemployment problem.

At one time our country was tops in the world in both shipbuilding and shipping. Now we are at the bottom of the list among advanced nations, and we lost the sale of surplus grain to Russia because the Russians wouldn't pay the higher cost of shipping the grain on American ships. This is just one example of our folly and it points up clearly why unemployment has become a problem—and why it will continue to be a problem until we are forced by necessity to face the facts of life realistically.

The 20th Century Fund may be right in its forecast of what the family wage will be in 1975. The estimate at best is just a guess. The important thing however is the buying power of the dollar and the need to keep that buying power stable. We will not give the dollar strength and stability by reckless public spending financed by a rapidly increasing public debt. That is the road to increasing poverty.

President Johnson has urged labor and management to hold the line on wage and price increases, and that is a reasonable request. But on the other hand he has urged Congress to make the usual campaign-year pay increase across the board to all federal employees, including a very substantial increase for the members of Congress themselves. That is typical Johnson double talk.

If the line should be held in private employment then it should also be held in public employment. Pay boosts for public employees have the same effect on the consuming public that pay increases in private employment have. The costs must eventually be passed along to the consumers and the taxpayers.

The President stated that federal salaries are so low that the administration is threatened with the loss of some of its key men. I would agree that there is some justification in both public and private operations for merit pay increases. But there is no justification at this time for another across-the-board pay increase for Federal employees. It would encourage another round of pay increases for public employees at the state and local levels, including the educators. The net result would be another round of the wage and price spiral, of which we already have had too many, and which would not be in the best interests of our economy—or the stability of the wavering dollar.

The New York Times wonders just why Senator Fulbright has been dispatched by the President to Greece and Turkey "where he is to express United States concern over the Cyprus crisis. "The Times points out that an Under Secretary of State visited Cyprus only a short time ago and that right now a United Nations mediator "is in the midst of his work and, evidently as handicapped and harassed as he can be." So the Times wonders:

"Senator Fulbright has orders not to attempt mediation or to submit suggestions on behalf of the United States to settle the Cyprus conflict. Surely it is realized at the White House that normally the knowledge that an envoy of the United States President is coming along paralyzes whatever negotiations are under way.

"Although it may seem surprising, our system of government officials is one not well understood abroad. Few people will realize that Mr. Fulbright, although one of our most experienced government officials and one of the most knowledgeable and intelligent in the field of foreign affairs, cannot speak for the Senate; and even if he could, the Senate does not make United States foreign policy. Mr. Fulbright is going as personal envoy to express the President's concern; but what he can to or say that has not already been done or said by American representatives remain a mystery."

The 8th district DFL convention at Duluth voted solidly in favor of the Taconite Amendment which heretofore has been a controversial issue in the state. Things already are looking brighter on the Iron Range and its future progress should now be assured. Common sense eventually prevails.

IFYE Program Is Opportunity for Youth to Travel

Application Available At Extension Office for Rurla Youths Interested

Five or six months abroad, living and working with foreign families and making enduring international friendships are being offered to Minnesota rural youths, according to Miss Carolyn Offerdahl, Pennington county home agent.

Rural youth between 20 and 30 years old are urged to make long-range plans and investigate possibilities of being an International Farm Youth Exchange (IFYE) delegate in 1965.

Purpose of the IFYE program is to increase international understanding at the grass roots level. Delegates from the United States learn about life in foreign lands by actually living the way their people do.

Candidates for the program must be mature young people with a farm background and at least a high school education. They must be in excellent mental and physical health. They should be ready to spend considerable time on language study and in intensive advance study of the geography, history, culture and agriculture of both the United States and the country they visit.

Upon return home, IFYE delegates speak to various groups about their experiences in their host counties.

Additional information on the IFYE program may be obtained from the county extension office. Application forms are available now, Miss Offerdahl said, and they are due in the state office in July. Last year Minnesota had three IFYE delegates—one to Switzerland, another to Wales and England and a third to Jamaica.

Information on Problems of Mental Health Available

A one-page briefing of important information about mental illness that everyone should know is available free, the Minnesota Association for Mental Health states, while reporting that it distributed 45,241 pieces of literature on mental health in the past year.

The new leaflet is receiving national attention during May, mental health month. It may be obtained from the Minnesota Association and from county mental health chapters where they exist.

It describes very briefly kinds of mental illness, how mental illness is treated, who members of the treatment team are and the categories of facilities for treating the mentally ill.

PUBLIC OPINION

Dear Editor:

I am writing to express my opinion on the Goodridge building program and hope you will place this letter in the public opinion column of your paper.

At the time of the bond election there was a general understanding in the district that if the bond was voted in, the school board would wait to be sure that Grygla was not going to build before they went ahead and sold the bonds.

In spite of the fact that Grygla received preliminary approval to build their own high school shortly after our bond election, the Goodridge school board has sold the bonds and would appear to be proceeding with building plans in haste rather than delaying to be sure of the Grygla students before building.

I feel that both an uninformed and misinformed public went to the polls and voted on the bond issue. I am sure many people voted for the bond because they were told that it would cost as much to operate our present school without Grygla students as to build a new school and keep the Grygla students. Many hoped, or believed that if Goodridge okayed the bond issue, the state would refuse to grant Grygla permission to build. This line of thought has proven to be only wishful thinking. In fact, while giving Grygla preliminary approval, the state has continued to advise Goodridge not to build.

We should realize that those at the state level are impartial in their decisions and are much better qualified to make these decisions than the local people who are swayed by personal feelings and desires. I believe that only a few years ago Strandquist was ad*vised by the state not to rebuild* when their school burned. They did rebuild but in only a few years taxes have risen to the point where they now find it better to close their school and send their students elsewhere. Could we not profit by their experience? Should we disregard the state's advice and build regardless of cost or consequence when we face the possible Highlanding students?

New schools and gyms are nice for those districts where a clear-cut need exists and they can afford them.

New tractors, combines and etc. are also nice for the farmer who needs them, but the farmer who is already in debt seldom borrows to the limit of his credit to replace machinery which is still adequate, especially if faced with a reduction in the size of his farm operations. To do so would mean that he very likely would be short of money for good seed and fertilizer, the two most essential items for a good crop.

I wonder how many know that only a few years ago Goodridge received a sizeable amount of distress aid from the state for furnishings and repair of the present buildings. If we can not afford the rates to operate, what we now have without distress aid, can we afford to borrow to the limit of our legal indebtedness to build when even Dr. Brown admits we will not need additional class rooms if we lose the Grygla students? Might we not find that we had spent so much for new buildings that we would be short of money for good teachers, books, and etc., which in reality are the things most essential to giving the students a good education? Shouldn't we be more concerned about maintaining or improving the present teaching staff and classroom facilities than new buildings?

I strongly urge the voters to go to the polls on May 19th for the annual election where they will find new candidates, who are opposed to building at this time, on the ballot. I also urge those in the district to contact the board members and urge them not to go ahead with the building at this time. The board is not legally required to go ahead at this time and I believe they have an obligation to the citizens of the district to use good judgement and not go forward with the building program, to the point where there can be no stopping or turning back, while there is any doubt of our continuing to receive both the Grygla and Highlanding students on a permanent basis.

Another thing that you might wish to discuss with the school board is the fact that no report is published of their meetings. I believe the law states that a report of the proceedings of the board meetings shall be published. Had they seen fit to keep the public informed or have more than one public meeting before the bond election, the results might have been quite different.

In fact before the bonds were sold two board members were asked to hold a meeting with the public to discuss the possibility of not selling the bonds at that time. The person asking for the public meeting was told that the board was going to meet with the citizens commitee for the same purpose but that the public would not be asked to the meeting. Was this true democracy, to ask a group known to be in favor of the building and not give those opposed a chance to be present at the same meeting?

I hope those concerned will view this letter as constructive criticism and will use whatever influence they may have to improve the situation.

Yours truly,
Elvon Hamilton

Dear Mr. Editor,

It was most heart-warming to see the large receptive group who attended the recent concert given by the Varsity Bards of the University of North Dakota. It was estimated that over 500 attended, and the comments and critiques were most favorable.

There has seemed to be a cultural void in our community for the last several years. Our schools are doing a most wonderful job of trying to close this void. They are introducing our young people to many of the finer, more beautiful things of life. We are indeed grateful to those people in charge. They surely deserve and need our support.

More and more it seems as though parents too, are caring about what their children are being exposed to. Perhaps our citizenry is becoming more aware of, and more interested in, these cultural activities and in bringing talented artist to our town.

We surely hope this is true. This would be a most healthy sign of our town's growth and prosperity.

In behalf of the Friends of the Library who were sponsors of the recent concert, I wish to thank those who attended and those who worked to make this event the success it was.

Mrs. Orin Green
Pres., Friends of the Library

Crookston Pirates Top Prowlers 6-5

Scoring three runs in the last half of the ninth inning, coach Linton Lehrer's Crookston Pirates capped a come-from-behind effort to edge out the Lincoln high school Prowlers, 6 to 5, in a district conference baseball game played at Crookston on Monday afternoon. The game required two extra innings to decide a winner.

The Prowlers will meet the Red Lake Falls Eagles here on Wednesday night (if weather conditions permit game time will be at 8 p.m.). And on Friday night, May 15, the Crookston Pirates will invade the Fairgrounds diamond for a return game against the Prowlers.

The two teams played remarkably well considering the inclement weather that prevailed, with a cold and blustery wind sweeping Crookston's Highland Park diamond.

In the game-deciding ninth inning, the Prowlers moved into a 5 to 3 lead in the top of the inning. Karl Poppenhagen drew a walk to lead off. Don Mathieu sacrificed Poppenhagen to second. Dave Erickson lined a single to left, scoring Poppenhagen, and on the throw to the plate, Erickson advanced to second. Wayne Smith was hit by a pitched ball. Mike Benke singled to left and Erickson came in with a run, giving the Prowlers a 5 to 3 lead. John Hellquist grounded out to first base, and after Jack Leedahl reached first base by being hit by a pitch Dave Ellingson struck out to end the Prowler rally.

The Pirates ripped back with three runs in their half of the ninth. Doug Sorenson, a southpaw hitter and who came on to pitch in relief for the Pirates in the eighth, beat out a slow roller to shortstop. Steve Erie sent a ground single past second, moving Sorenson around to third base. On a double steal, Erie pilfered second, and Sorenson scored. Jim Brolsma struck out. A wild pitch moved Erie to third base. Larry Barnes drew a walk, and then stole second. Curt Erickson topped a slow roller toward third base and when Hellquist, in his hurry to make the play at the plate, fumbled the ball, Erie scored. Hellquist recovered the ball and in attempting to get Erickson at first base, made a wide throw to Benke and Barnes came home with the game-winning tally.

The teams failed to capitalize on scoring opportunities in the earlier innings. In the last half of the seventh, with the score tied at 3-all, Erie opened the Crookston inning with a double, and was sacrificed to third base. A squeeze play attempt was made by Larry Barnes, but his try, on a third strike, was fouled and he was called out. Curt Erickson was retired, third to first, and the game went into extra innings.

In the Prowler eighth, Benke opened with a single to center field, and Hellquist was given a life when, on his roller to the mound, pitcher Roger Schmidt made a wide to throw to second trying to force Benke. Doug Sorenson, a left-handed pitcher, came on in relief. Leedahl lined out to first base, Ellingson struck out, and Howard Dalager lofted a pop fly to the pitcher to end the threat.

Albert Lea FFA Presented Award

Chapter Aided Program For Crippled Children.

A bronze plaque was awarded to the Albert Lea Future Farmers of America chapter Monday from the Minnesota Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc., for raising $1,249.15 in their "Corn Drive for Camp Courage."

The presentation was made by Joseph R. Klawitter, director of community organization with the Minnesota Society, at the FFA state convention, held May 4-6 on the St. Paul campus of the University of Minnesota.

Funds raised through "Corn Drives for Camp Courage" are obtained through the sale of corn which has been accumulated through scavenging expeditions in harvested corn fields.

Bronze plaques were awarded to four FFA chapters which each raised a total in corn drives of $2,500 or more, making it possible to send 50 crippled children to Camp Courage. Chapters receiving these awards were Albert Lea, Buffalo, LeSueur and Spring Valley.

Farm Groups Ask Investigation of Food Marketing

Appearing before the U. S. House of Representatives agricultural committee Wednesday, spokesmen for farm and small business groups supported President Lyndon Johnson's proposal for an investigation of food marketing from farm to consumer. Testimony was on bills introduced by Rep. Harold D. Cooley of North Carolina and Rep. Alec G. Olson of Minnesota to carry out the President's recommendations.

At Wednesday's hearing, representatives of the Farmers Union, the National Grange and the Farm Bureau reiterated their assertion that economic concentration in the food business is resulting in injury to small, independent businesses and widening the marketing margins on food products at the expense of both farmers and consumers.

The Minnesota testimony endorsed the idea of a food inquiry and suggested that one phase of the investigation ought to be the study of changes in marketing patterns on livestock which tend to lessen competition and offer opportunities for price manipulation.

Truck Firm Announces Improved Services

Improved long-distance moving service will be provided to families and industry moving into and out of the Thief River Falls area this year, an official of a leading local moving-and-storage company announced today.

Frank J. Goeson, owner of Hiler Transfer & Storage, agent for Aero Mayflower Transit company, Indianapolis, Ind. in the Thief River Falls area, revealed the transit company is increasing its hauling capacity by 20 per cent in 1964 through the purchase of 200 new air-ride moving vans.

"The fleet expansion will enable us to provide better service and maintain tighter schedules during the busy spring and summer moving season," Goeson said. "Transit company officials estimate they will be able to move an additional 800 families nationally on a given day."

The new 35-foot, high-cube vans purchased by the transit company feature an air suspension system which provides a new measure of protection for fragile household goods. The vans were purchased at a cost in excess of $1.5 million, Goeson said. All of these new vans were expected to be in operation by May 1.

Goeson said that comparative tests made on air-ride vans and those with standard leaf-spring suspensions show that road vibration is 300 per cent greater in vans equipped with steel springs. In air-ride vans, pneumatic bellows are used to absorb road shock and road vibrations.

The transit company has the largest company-owned fleet and the most air-ride vans in the industry, with more than 75 per cent of its hauling capacity in this type of equipment.

Urge National Organization of Sheep Growers

Fifteen sheep industry representatives took another step toward greater unity by naming a committee to seek the advice of sheep producers themselves on what should be done to help solve the problems of the industry.

The representatives came from every sheep producing section of the country at the request of the American Sheep Producers Council, headquartered in Denver. The meeting was called by the council as a final effort to seek industry action on problems outlined two years ago in a study of the sheep business by McKinsey & Company.

The committee held out for an industry-wide organization by naming a committee of five to institute a series of regional meetings of producers and industry leaders. This committee, called the Sheep Industry Study and Action Committee, will organize a series of regional meetings to determine from the producers just what can be done to help solve some of the industry's major problems, and to determine the need for an industry-wide sheep organization.

This regional approach was decided upon by the committee because of the wide differences in sheep production and marketing in various regions of the country, particularly in the West with its large range operations in contrast to the smaller farm flock operations in the Midwest, South and East.

Langen Blasts Government's Beef Program

"The Federal fuzzy-thinkers are at it again," according to Congressman Odin Langen. "Incredible as it seems, the Administration wants to spend $22-million next year and additional millions in future years to put new grazing land into cattle production at the very moment when our own cattle raisers are losing money due to a surplus of beef and unwarranted imports from foreign nations."

Langen referred to the Appalachian Regional Development Act of 1964, now being considered by the Committee on Public Works, which calls for pasture improvement on 9.5-million acres over a five-year period, with the Federal government paying up to 80 per cent of the cost. "It's ridiculous to think we can help Appalachia by developing grazing land to raise cattle when the cattle industry is already suffering from the glut of imports."

Congressman Langen said this latest proposal is one more example of the inconsistent policies being followed by the government in dealing with livestock problems. "Our government is engaged in an unsuccessful beef buying program to raise falling prices, and now recommends we increase production on new acres. They tell us that our own cattlemen are the cause of falling prices due to overproduction and now they tell us there's room for expansion on almost 10-million acres, at government expense.

"The Department of Agriculture and the Administration has refused to endorse legislation to curb imports, which are the real cause of falling prices. The only agreements we've seen with the principal sources of these imports, Australia, New Zealand and Ireland, merely guarantee the continuance of excessively high levels of foreign meats coming to our shores.

"Let's solve the current problems facing our cattle producers," said Langen, "and quit thinking up ideas to make the situation worse."

Heart Fund memorials in the name of the late Irwin Russell, former resident of Thief River Falls, were recently received by the Minnesota Heart association, according to David Drotts, Pennington county memorial chairman.

"Because the full amount of these gifts will be used for heart research," Drotts said, "they are likely to lead to further advances in the conquest of heart disease."

Coach Frank Kohoutek's Newfolden Nordics baseball team collected one win and absorbed a pair of losses in sub-district 32 competition last week. The Middle River Skippers, rated as one of the favorites in sub-district play, had to make a come-from-behind rally, scoring a pair of runs in the seventh inning to edge out the Nordics 4 to 3. Greenbush gained a slim 6-5 victory.

The lone victory posted by the Nordics was at the expense of the Badger Rockets, and on the Badger field, with Newfolden scoring a 4 to 2 win. Coach Kohoutek expressed satisfaction with the pitching of the Nordics, with Verne Hagenbeck, John Dill, Keith Mhyrer and John Rokke turning in creditable performances on the mound.

NOW YOU SEE HER . . . . Cautiously watching for possible intruders, this female Canada goose was photographed by Jim Thompson as she incubated eggs on a small island in one of the goose pens near the fire tower on Agassiz National Wildlife refuge. The incubation period lasts approximately 30 days, according to Ralph Town, acting refuge manager, and this goose will be due to hatch her brood about May 20.

. . . . NOW YOU DON'T. The isolated nesting site for "mother goose" is this rock pile where she is almost totally obscured from sight of the casual observer. Average brood size for Canada geese is five but broods up to eight are not uncommon. Broods larger than eight are usually the result of an older pair of geese stealing goslings from a younger pair. Last year Agassiz refuge produced about 460 goslings with even more expected this year.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

It Was Inspiring

That victory by the Prowler track squad on Tuesday afternoon at Crookston, when they scored 72 points to win their fourth successive Northwest conference title, was an inspiring effort. The Prowlers were forced to their utmost to hold off the threatening Bemidji Lumberjacks, and it was not until the final event was under way, the broad jump, that a victory for the blue-and-gold was assured.

At the conclusion of the preliminary heats in the morning it was evident that the tournament would develop into a nip-and-tuck duel between the Prowlers and the Lumberjacks. And the finals, in the afternoon, supported this conclusion as the two squads moved away from Roseau, Crookston, and East Grand Forks in the point totals.

The Jacks scored heavily in the shot put with Dick and Bob Fortier winning first and second, respectively. John Warford, as expected, won the high hurdles and the low hurdles, but the Prowlers piled up points in these events, too, with Jerry Forsberg, Mark Stomberg, and Peter Isaaceson finishing second, third, and fourth in the high, and with Forsberg and Isaaceson finishing second and third in the low hurdles.

With but four events remaining on the program—Bemidji held a five-point lead, but Orrin Joppru won the 880-yard run; Rich Nelson won the 220-yard dash, with Bob Olson coming in third; and then the Prowler mile relay team won first in the fine time of 3:40.5. The final event on the fourteen-event program was the broad jump. Nelson made a leap of 19 feet 10½ inches during the preliminaries, and that jump, against a brisk wind, held up against the competitors from Crookston, Roseau, Bemidji, and East Grand Forks. Bemidji had two entries in the finals, but the Jacks were able to garner but two points on the fourth place by Joe Hougen.

One of the highlights of the tournament was the record-breaking pole vault of Bemidji's Mickey James. James, who was busy all afternoon participating in 880-yard relay and the 440-yard dash, made a jump of 12 feet 1½ inches to better by more than a foot the previous record of 11 feet ½ inch set by Bemidji's Batchelder in 1957. James made a couple of attempts at the 12 feet 6 inches mark, but he just missed clearing the cross bar.

The Northwest Conference meet, with teams from Thief River Falls, Crookston, Bemidji, Roseau, and East Grand Forks, is one of better track and field tournaments in this area, and it is exciting and interesting activity.

Incidentally, a junior high school and B squad track meet, with athletes from the Northwest conference member schools, will be held here on Tuesday at 4:30 p.m.

I'm Willing to Trade

I admit to being the vice president of the local Harmon Killebrew club (Ardell Liden is the president), but I'm willing to propose a trade with the New York Yankees. My proposal is to trade Killebrew for catcher John Blanchard and pitcher Jim Bouton. The Yankee fans around here, and they are starting to show up in goodly numbers now that the New York club is starting to move up in the standings, have greeted this trade prospect with great scorn. Why, they won't even consider trading Blanchard for Killebrew, even up.

But something has to be done with regard to Killebrew. He is too valuable to remain on the bench, and it's difficult to see how he can break into the Bob Allison, Tony Oliva and Jimmie Hall outfield. Killebrew is a gate attraction, and he will surely begin to hit home runs, but whether or not the Twins can afford to wait so long is a question. And, too, there is a question about Killebrew's knee, and how successful last winter's operation will prove to be.

The Old Reliable

The approach of every new fishing season brings attention to a great number of lures, and these lures are usually reported as being the successor to the shiner minnow. These lures, introduced with much fanfare, and with certificates and affidavits attesting to their fish-catching abilities, are given heavy play by the ever-hopeful angler.

But when it comes to bringing the fish to gaff, or the landing net, it's a cinch that the spinner-and-minnow combination will rate as number one. And this is true for the fishermen who will be out after the walleyes this weekend. The walleye is a minnow feeder, and a shiner (a lake shiner, or black shiner as they are called) used with a spinner, or on a plain hook and a four-foot monofilament leader, is a deadly lure.

The minnow and spinner fishermen will be in the vast majority at Waskish and Lake of the Woods this weekend. Sure there will be lures cast, but these lures will be used for northerns, and for walleyes after the supply of minnows has ben exhausted. Fact is the walleyes at Waskish, when they are on a feeding rampage, will hit anything, pork rind, pike tongue, and even angle worms.

I hope the weekend will be happy and fish-filled for the local anglers and that the fishermen will consider and obey all traffic and safety laws, and come home alive.

NW Bell Plans Many Service Improvements

Northwestern Bell Telephone company plans to spend a record-breaking $54 million in 1964 for construction to accelerate customer service improvement projects in Minnesota, according to J. M. Wilson, local company manager.

The 1964 expenditure is an increase of $6 million over the company's 1963 program, and 1965 expenditures will be increased to $55 million.

"Pumping an additional $6 million into the state's economy this year will stimulate construction, increase the purchase of materials and supplies from Minnesota dealers and give support to employment, not only for telephone people, but also for the firms that manufacutre, sell and do construction work for the telephone company," Huffman said.

The $54,000,000 earmarked for Minnesota this year will be the largest construction program ever undertaken by Northwestern Bell.

A portion of the added money will be used to accelerate the company's program for changing its few remaining manual excanges to dial. Present plans call for converting five exchanges in 1964 and four more in 1965. At present 99 per cent of Bell-served phones in Minnesota are dial. Dial conversion at Warroad is scheduled for fall of 1964 and at Roseau for spring of 1965. New buildings will be built at both places.

The company plans to add 11 more Minnesota communities to the nation-wide Direct Distance Dialing network this year, and is reviewing its plans to see how many more can be added in 1965.

Storm-proofing long distance lines by placing them in underground cable will be stepped-up this year with the replacement of 250 miles of open wire lines with buried cable. A new policy of burying distribution cable in large housing projects will be implemented to the point where in most cases telephone wire will be buried right up to the customer's home.

A substantial acceleration of the company's building program will provide new buildings in 10 communities, with building additions planned for 13 more towns, including a $7,000,000 addition to the downtown telephone building in Minneapolis, and a $4 ; 5,000,000 addition to the Market Street building in St. Paul.

Northwestern Bell is engaged in preliminary engineering required for the introduction of electronic switching in Minnesota. This ultra modern electronic telephone system will permit a host of new services including the following: abbreviated dialing which lets the user dial a two or three digit code for frequently called numbers, rather than seven to 10 digits; calls may be automatically transferred to another number for a temporary period by simply dialing a code number which will cause his phone to ring at the desired location; a "message waiting" service would inform a person already talking on one call that someone is trying to reach him. He could pick up the second call, and then return to the original call later without breaking the connection.

Chalberg, dean, said that students are currently pre-registering for the fall 1964 quarter and these are running approximately 20 per cent more than in the past.

The division of technical-vocational education offers tuition fee programs for people 21 years of age and younger in the areas of retail florist, dental assistant, practical nursing, legal secretary, junior accounting and general secretarial subjects. Adults may enroll in these programs on a tuition basis.

Dean Chalberg emphasized the need for early admittance in order to be placed in most programs. Any interested student may apply by using the standard Minnesota college application blank which is available from any high school counselor or principal, or from the Brainerd Community college.

PRINCESS KAY'S GENTLE TOUCH proved more effective than the iron hand of Minnesota's 1964 FFA State Star Dairy Farmer in the annual cow-milking contest held in St. Paul May 5. Pretty Audrey Meyer of Clarks Grove hoists her pail to signify victory after squeezing four pounds from her cow in the two-minute contest. Clelian Weldy, 18, Fairfax, Minn., the FFA Star Dairy Farmer, managed to tug three and one-half pounds from his animal. Audrey's victory was the first for the state dairy princesses in five years and brought the overall score in the nine-year series up to four victories for the girls against five for the FFA boys. The event is held each year on the University of Minnesota's St. Paul campus as a feature of the state FFA convention.

Pig Program Is 4-H Tradition

Raising pigs is traditional in 4-H. Pig clubs were the second project for club members more than a half century ago. Reason for the pig clubs was to utilize products of the original 4-H corn clubs.

Today boys and girls enrolled in the national 4-H swine awards program raise pigs for other reasons. And they produce a much different animal than did their 1910 counterparts, according to the Cooperative Extension Service.

The 1964 meat-type hog is tailor-made for packer and consumer. Modern pig clubs have the advantage of information and practices resulting from years of experiment and research by both the Extension Service and private sources such as the program sponsor, Moorman Mfg. Co.

Federal Aid for Ag Service Now in Fiftieth Year

Federal support of the cooperative agricultural extension service of the University of Minnesota is marking its 50th year, according to Roland H. Abraham, acting agricultural extension director at the university.

The agricultural extension service is the major unit for continuing education in the University's Institute of Agriculture, and is staffed by a total of about 300 county extension agents and state specialists.

Each county extension agent—including agricultural, associate, home and 4-H agents—is a faculty member of the University.

The 50th year anniversary recognizes the passage of the original Smith-Lever Act of May 8, 1914, which provided for arrangments concerning extension education between the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the land-grant colleges and universities of all states.

Bemidji State Gets NSF Grant For Institute

Bemidji State college has received a National Science Foundation grant of $14,350 to support an in-service institute in mathematics, physical science and earth science for secondary school teachers in these subjects, according to Dr. A. C. Clark, BSC president. The institute will be directed by Raymond W. Knodel, assistant professor of mathematics at BSC.

Purpose of the institute, according to Knodel, will be to provide 64 participating teachers with an opportunity to strengthen their subject matter competence and to investigate some of the recent developments in the teaching of mathematics and science.

Participating teachers may earn six quarter hours of undergraduate or graduate credit and receive free tuition plus allowance for travel and books. Classes will be held Mondays from 7 to 9:30 p. m. September 21 through December 7 and March 1 through May 17.

Teachers interested in the program should contact Knodel at BSC.

"A thoroughly capable employee hardly ever harbors jealousness. Almost always the supremely able are eager to help others. Thus they win good will. Jealous individuals are rarely picked for promotions. Many a man has been chosen as chief executive because he has won the warm loyalty of all his co-workers." —B. C. Forbes

A Lot of Watts

United States production of electricity during the month of January totaled 90,641,604,000 kilowatt-hours — establishing a new record and topping the previous mark of more than 90 billion kwh the previous month. It would appear that the Soviet Union has a long way to go if it hopes to overtake our nation in generation of electricity.

To generate this record number of kilowatt-hours, the electricity-producing utilities burned 20.5 million tons of coal, 10.1 million barrels of oil and 143.5 billion cubic feet of natural gas. There seems to be no question that power production and consumption will continue to rise.

Now being developed is a vast system of interconnection of far-apart power systems, making possible the instant transferral of energy from one part of the country to another. Transmission lines capable of carrying extremely high voltages with a minimum of loss enroute are being built. It will take lots watts for the Soviets to be on a par with our electric production.

Hungary Has Problems

The economy of Hungary is apparently not in good condition, according to a release from Radio Free Europe. The organization which broadcasts messages of freedom behind the iron curtain had this to say:

"The Czechoslovak and Hungarian governments have teamed up to curb a spending spree by Hungarians visiting Czechoslovakia. Since January, citizens of each country have been allowed to visit the other for up to thirty days without visas or passports. But the Czech customs authorities began complaining that the Hungarians were spending all their money on consumer goods that are scarce in Czechoslovakia, and even scarcer in Hungary.

"Late last month the Czechoslovak government decreed that Hungarian visitors would be allowed to take home only about $21 worth of goods without making a special customs declaration. The Hungarian authorities also cracked down; they announced that Hungarians going to Czechoslovakia would be permitted to spend only up to $6.50 a day. Unspent Czech currency must be returned to the issuing Hungarian bank and redeemed for Hungarian currency.

"This blow to Hungarian tourism was soon followed by another: Hungarian officialdom announced that tourist traffic to the West would be curtailed. There is simply not enough foreign currency in the Hungarian coffers to cover the flood of applicants who want to see what's West of the Iron Curtain."

Combatting Alcoholism

Among the many alphabetical organizations in the world today is one with the uncomplicated title of "AA". This is the abbreviation for Alcoholics Anonymous, a movement started in 1935 when two alcoholics first shared their experience, strength and hope with each other—and then went out to help yet another alcoholic who still suffered.

The American Medical association states that "Alcoholism can be classified into primary alcoholism, which includes those patients who from the very first drink of an alcoholic beverage are unable to control their desire for it and those who through use over a number of years have developed an inability to take a drink or leave it alone.

"Secondary alcoholism includes those who use alcohol for its sedative action as a means of escape from reality and, in particular, from their personal problems. Regardless of which group an individual belongs to when under the influence of alcohol," the AMA states, "he is ill.".

To give an indication of the seriousness of alcoholism in our nation today, Dr. Karl Menninger states, "There are five times as many people suffering from alcoholism as from cancer; more than three times as many as those with tuberculosis; and there are 10 times as many alcoholics as there are polio victims. If alcoholism were contagious, a national epidemic would be declared." Alcoholism is considered Minnesota's first major social problem.

With this as a background, it can be seen that AA offers assistance that should be of benefit not only to individuals but to all of our society. The benefits that it offers to individuals have resulted in the growth of the organization to more than 9,000 groups in 82 countries throughout the world.

Strictly speaking, it would have to be said that AA is a group of selfish people. They want to quit drinking for personal reasons. But the structure of AA is such that a member must help others in order to help himself. This is because AA members help themselves and others by joining together in group therapy, discussing their problems and experiences with others who have had problems and experiences much the same as their own.

There is an AA group in Thief River Falls. Membership in the organization is on an anonymous basis, just as the name implies. Any persons interested in solving a drinking problem are encouraged to write Alcoholics Anonymous, P. O. Box 583, Thief River Falls, Minn. It might be the most important first step they ever made.

Read The Label

"STOP! Before Using Any Pesticide—Read The Label". That is the slogan of the pesticide safe-use project for 1964. The motivating force behind this project is the National Agricultural Chemicals association. A distinguished list of other organizations, such as the National Safety council and the Department of Agriculture, is cooperating.

The campaign is a big one, involving brochures, program aids, television spots and newsfilms and radio features. It is directed to all rural young people, all parents in rural and suburban areas, farmers and others who have to do with the use of pesticides. And it is predicated on the sound basis that pesticides are absolutely essential to modern agriculture, and that what is needed is a wider knowledge of basic safety precautions.

Reading the label, of course, is the first step. Then comes storage—pesticides must be kept out of the reach of children, irresponsible or uninformed people. Then they must be applied precisely as directed. Finally, adequate provision must be made for disposal of used containers. It is suggested that the best means of doing this is to bury them at least 18 inches deep in an isolated area away from water supplies.

This is an education project of the highest importance. Over 350,000 tons of pesticides are used each year to control destructive insects. The accidents they cause are totally unnecessary and usually are the result of carelessness. When you use a pesticide, it will pay to read that label and take the other simple and essential precautions.

A Lesson in Socialism

The following article was published in a recent eidition of a publication of the Minnesota Education association. It graphically illustrates a point and bears repeating:

"As a teacher in the public schools, I find that the socialist-communist idea of taking "from each according to his ability and giving to each accoring to his need" is now generally accepted without question by most of our pupils. In an effort to explain the fallacy in this theory, I sometimes try this approach with my pupils:

"When one of the brighter or harder-working pupils makes a grade of 95 on a test, I suggest that I take away 20 points and give them to a student who has made only 55 points on his test. Thus each would contribute according to his ability and — since both would have a passing mark —each would receive according to his need. After I have juggled the grades of all the other pupils in this fashion, the result is usually a "common ownership" grade between 75 and 80 — the minimum needed for passing, or for survival. Then I speculate with the pupils as to the probable results if I actually used the socialistic theory for grading papers.

"First, the highly productive pupils —and they are always a minority in school as well as in life—would soon lose all incentive for producing. Why strive to make a high grade if part of it is taken from you by "authority" and given to someone else?

"Second, the less productive pupils —a majority in school as elsewhere— would, for a time, be relieved of the necessity to study or to produce. This socialist-communist system would continue until the high producers had sunk — or had been driven down — to the level of the low producers. At that point, in order for anyone to survive, the "authority" would have no alternative but to begin a system of compulsory labor and punishments against even the low producers. They, of course, would then complain bitterly, but without understanding.

"Finally I return the discussion to the ideas of freedom and enterprise —the market economy — where each person has freedom of choice, and is responsible for his own decisions and welfare.

"Gratifyingly enough, most of my pupils then understand what I mean when I explain that socialism — even in a democracy — will eventually result in a living-death for all except the "authorities" and a few of their favorite lackeys."

1964 Mobil Economy Run
Los Angeles
New York City

We drove 3,243 miles to make a point about our Super Turbine transmission

You can do it on the way to the grocery store

Would we drive a Buick with a Super Turbine transmission* all the way from Pasadena to New York City just to win Class C in the Mobil Economy Run?

Of course. And just in case anyone failed to get the message, we did it twice again. And won Class D and Class G. In all, Buick entered 4 classes, and won 3—more than any other make of car. (Remember when people used to think Buicks used a lot of gas?) Did we make our point about the Super Turbine transmission? You bet.

Obviously you aren't planning to drive 3,243 miles to prove your new Buick is economical. And you can't expect to get as many miles per gallon as the experts in the Economy Run. Still, it is nice to know you can win the economy run around town. And the good looks prize at the same time. See your Buick dealer about it. No doubt he'll think of a number of other reasons to drive a Buick.

What's the best investment we can make in Minnesota's future? Northwestern Bell believes it's the kind of planned outlay that will produce immediate jobs while helping to bring you more and better telephone service. That's why Northwestern Bell is accelerating its plans for service improvement and expansion and will spend a record $54,000,000 this year on a variety of projects, among them: ■ Erecting new telephone buildings in ten Minnesota communities and making substantial additions to thirteen other buildings. ■ Installing miles of stormproof underground cable, both intercity and residential. ■ Establishing Direct Distance Dialing service in eleven more towns. ■ Expanding toll-free calling between many communities. ■ Further extending dial service (already 99.4% complete). We will also be able to speed up development work on such advanced projects as the new Touch-Tone telephones; person-to-person Direct Distance Dialing; the new Electronic Switching System that will eventually permit two-digit dialing, automatic referral of calls when you're out, dialing of extensions in your home. Every dollar invested in modern communications for Minnesota will do double duty: first, in making your telephone service more convenient and useful to you; second, in helping to create a progressive economic climate for our state.
